

Preliminary Jeff High Boundary Proposals

By WILL THOMAS

The University of California researchers, surveying Jefferson High School District boundaries, Monday recommended that Westmoor High School become a campus for ninth and tenth grades and Jefferson High serve grades 11 and 12.

The report in preliminary draft form, and prepared by the Field Service Center of UC-Berkeley's Department of Education, was presented to district trustees by Dr. Robert Stout, who has been conducting the survey field work.

Stout summed in the first two chapters of his report the introduction and recommendations, with background to be presented in three subsequent chapters.

He told trustees he did not expect further chapter findings would materially affect the recommendations filed this week.

The study, he pointed out, primarily was concerned with — but not limited to: — Determining attendance boundaries of Serramonte High School, scheduled to open in 1969.

—Studying ways and means of adjusting boundaries of Jefferson, Westmoor, Oceana, and Terra Nova High Schools.

—Studying ways and means of preventing Jefferson High School from becoming a school largely populated with minority groups.

The first chapters also included two possible alternatives for Serramonte High boundaries, with the researchers recommending selection of "A."

Serramonte Boundary "A": West of Skyline Boulevard, all the areas south, but not including Westmoor Avenue and north of the present Oceana-Westmoor boundary. East of Skyline, the boundary (would be) beginning with the intersection of Buena Vista and Junipero Serra Boulevard; west in the middle of Buena Vista to St. Francis Boulevard; south on, and including, St. Francis to Mariposa Avenue; west on, and including, Mariposa to Lincoln; west on, and including, Lincoln to Skyline. The south boundary would be the present Oceana-Westmoor boundary from the Pacific Ocean to Junipero Serra; the east boundary being Junipero Serra.

The area would include all of the area now served by Christopher Columbus School, all of Lincoln School, all of Webster School, 40 per cent of Roosevelt School and 60 per cent of Edison School, producing in 1969 a student body at Serramonte of about 886 students in grades nine, 10 and 11.

The report explained that if this boundary were adopted, Westmoor could be considerably relieved of overcrowding and could stand ready to receive further students from Jefferson if the population growth at Jefferson materializes.

The projected boundary between Jefferson and Westmoor could be extended eastward as demands become apparent.

The proposed Boundary "A" would affect racial balance somewhat.

Serramonte Boundary "B": This alternative boundary is similar to "A," except that the area served by Webster School would be excluded.

This boundary does not allow overcrowding at Jefferson to be relieved by the transfer of further students to Westmoor, Stout pointed out.

Both boundaries were drawn to make an implicit recognition of elementary school boundaries, he said.

"We believe the board should choose boundary "A" in order to give itself flexibility at Westmoor," the report stated.

Three alternatives concerning the Westmoor-Jefferson boundary and ethnic aspects were outlined in Stout's report.

They included Jefferson (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

D.C. Street Work Begins

Daly City started its most ambitious street resurfacing program this week.

L. C. Smith of San Mateo was named prime contractor for the $100,000 project, paid for with gas tax funds.

City manager Edward Frank requested the co-operation of residents along the affected streets and said the city would endeavor to keep "inconvenience to an absolute minimum."

Residents will receive notices in advance of the work and no parking signs will be placed on the streets to be resurfaced on the afternoon before each of the two construction phases.

From June 26 to July 5, operations will be confined to the burning and removal of a five-foot wide strip of existing asphalt material adjacent to the gutters.

Actual placement of new asphalt will begin about July 6 with scheduled completion on July 20. After resurfacing is complete, thermo-plastic center-line striping with reflectorized buttons will be installed.

Streets included in the program are: Southgate Avenue between Lake Merced Boulevard and Westmoor Avenue; Eastmoor and Westmoor Avenues between Sullivan and Skyline Boulevard; Skyline Drive between John Glenn Drive and Belcrest Avenue; East Vista Avenue and the portion of South Mayfair Avenue fronting the Westlake Shopping Center.

Meeting In Memory Of Congressman

The Monday meeting of the Daly City Council was cut short and adjourned to a special meeting scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in respect to the late J. Arthur Younger.

Councilman Edward Dennis in requesting the adjournment said that Younger "always had the best interests of our city at heart . . . and most recently was instrumental in getting us a federal grant of more than $70,000."

"The grant will be used for a comprehensive study of the city and formulation of a General Plan."

"He (Younger) was a real friend and in due respect we adjourn this meeting until Thursday," Dennis said.

Driver Hits CHP Car

A California Highway Patrol officer and a San Francisco restaurant worker were injured Sunday night when their cars collided on Bayshore Freeway in San Bruno.

The officer, Jimmy E. Rhoades, 24, said he was going northbound in the slow lane about 55 miles an hour when his patrol car was struck from behind.

The investigating officer, James Hughes, said it appeared that the driver of the other car, Walter R. Smith, 19, had fallen asleep at the wheel. Smith told Hughes that he had felt sleepy and the last he remembered was driving in the slow lane.

Smith's sedan sustained major damage. The patrol car was only slightly damaged.

$500,000 Dump Seawall?

Garbage Fees May Be Hiked

Daly City's long-smoldering disagreement with the Regional Water Quality Control Board over dump site pollution of ocean side waters has flared anew with the Board demanding from the city a positive schedule for construction of a seawall at the dump.

"At a special meeting on June 13, the board passed a resolution, over the protests of Daly City Engineer A. W. Reschke, requiring the city submit a detailed timetable for construction of the seawall by July 15.

Reschke estimated cost of the 1,500-foot-long seawall might exceed $500,000 "and we don't know where the money will come from."

One suggestion where the money might be raised was advanced by a city official several months ago when the problem first arose.

"Collection fees for garbage might have to be hiked on a temporary basis until the seawall is paid for. Once the improvements are made at the dump site, the fees would be lowered," the official said.

The Mussel Rock garbage dump is operated by scavenger boss Al Sereni and supervised by the city. Part of the land is owned by the city, Sereni and Henry Doelger.

The Water Control Board claims wave action is continually undermining "old" garbage fill which washes out to sea and drifts back in, polluting beaches along the coast.

Daly City denies this and says their dump is one of the best policed and maintained areas "anywhere in the state."

"For the past two years the city has strictly policed the operations at the dump site and there have not been any appreciable slides or slumps which have deposited garbage upon the beach area," Reschke said in a letter to the Board on June 13.

"Further, the water that leaves the drain box on the beach (rain runoff from higher elevations above the dump) has been tested many times for limits of dissolved oxygen, dissolved sulphide and PH value, as has the ocean water adjacent to the site. These tests have proven (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Youth Opportunity Center's Program

The youthful staff at Daly City's new Youth Opportunity Center on Mission Street began a 12-week summer program designed to bring young job seekers and prospective employers together this week.

Described as "a clearing house for young people seeking jobs," the center is an outgrowth of the recent Daly City Job Fair, which attracted 700 applications from young persons seeking work.

The center is sponsored and financed by the San Mateo Human Resources Commission, and 20-year-old Daniel Shelton Jr. of Daly City is executive director.

Shelton is assisted by Belinda Fore, 18, and other young persons from the Neighborhood Youth Corps who are serving in clerical positions. Additional help is provided by volunteers from the community.

The staff of young persons is serving under the direction of a steering committee of adults. Members of the committee are Rudi Tretten, Betsy Blom, Toni Palladino, Dr. Werner Berg, Lawrence Hall, Molly Weintraub, the Rev. Howard Bryant and Katherine Smallwood.

"The Center will attempt to establish contact with Bay Area employers, and provide them with information about the important source of manpower which unemployed young persons represent," Shelton said.

"We will attempt to persuade them to fill existing job vacancies with YOC applicants, and also urge them to create new positions to take advantage of the skills and talents of young people."

"This program is an attempt to meet a need which is peculiarly relevant to our times," the young director said. "Youth unemployment has become a serious problem in San Mateo County during the past few years."

Success of the program depends greatly upon community cooperation and support, Shelton said.

"We already have applications for almost every type job, from management trainee to babysitter, permanent or temporary."

"If employers in the area will contact us, I am certain we can meet their needs with competent personnel."

"We will also welcome inquiries from housewives seeking babysitters and homeowners who need someone to clean up a back yard or assist in moving," he said.

Desks, file cabinets and other office equipment at the center were provided by the Daly City Council.

The YOC is located at 6634 Mission Street. The telephone number is 992-9414 or 992-9415.

CAUTION URGED

Police Seek Safe Fourth

A "Safe and Sane" Fourth of July is what the Daly City police department is striving for this year, sergeant Edward Guzman said today.

"What we are especially worried about is those 'unexploded' fireworks getting into the hands of some child too young to realize what he's got — and ending up being seriously injured," Guzman explained.

The question every person should ask before buying fireworks is:

Can the items purchased cause injury?

"If the answer is 'yes', don't buy them," Guzman said.

Each year many persons are hurt because they didn't take the time to insure the fireworks they bought were safe and the person setting them off was familiar with their use.

"Have an exciting, happy Fourth of July holiday," Guzman said, "but make it a Safe and Sane one!"

Bruno Delays Hauling Law

Adoption of San Bruno's long-awaited trucking ordinance amendments was postponed another 60 days Monday because of a new state law which requires public hearing on ordinances affecting streets improved with gas tax funds.

City Attorney Joseph Galligan said state law requires that the hearing be announced and advertised 60 days in advance, and the ordinance cannot be introduced for adoption at an earlier date.

The hearing was scheduled for the first council meeting in September.

Galligan reported on new revisions in the ordinance ordered by the council two weeks ago.

In its present form, the ordinance will allow the city manager to issue temporary hauling permits for periods up to 90 days.

The new revisions prohibit a contractor from applying for a second permit from the manager within 30 days after a permit expires.

The council will have powers to grant hauling permits for periods up to six months.

council authorized a study by the city staff on improvement of Sneath Lane between Portola Avenue and Skyline Boulevard.

City Manager Gerard Vergeer said repairs to the street would be completed by the city's staff, and would involve some widening and realignment.

On another street project, the council authorized Vergeer to file authorized for gas tax funds for improvements on the portion of Sharp Park Road within the city.

If approved, this project would consist primarily of widening, the city manager said, and would cost approximately $16,000.

General Plan Study Will Be Started

The first comprehensive general plan study was expected to get under way in Daly City within 30 days, city planner Edward Lawson said Monday.

Total cost of the study, expected to take about a year to complete, is $105,000.

Recently the city was awarded a federal grant of some $70,000 to be used for the general plan study.

The balance will come from a cash contribution from the city ($28,000) plus staff services ($7,000).

Livingston and Blaney of San Francisco, City and Regional Planners, have been contracted to make the study.

The General Plan will have as its end product a comprehensive program of where the city is going up to the year 1980 and how to get there.

Included in the long-range program will be an eight-point study covering:

Westmoor boundary changes, Westmoor-Jefferson structural changes, and Serramonte structural changes.

Jefferson-Westmoor boundary change proposal:

Proceeding from the intersection of Junipero Serra Boulevard and the Daly City-San Francisco city border, east along the Daly City-San Francisco border to the center of Templeton Street to the Daly City border.

Then, proceed south and east in the center of Templeton Street to the Daly City border. Proceed west along the Daly City border to the alley just north of East Vista Avenue (the present Vista Grande School boundary) and north and west along this boundary to Mission Street.

From there, proceed south in the middle of Mission Street to the intersection of Mission and Parkway; west in the middle of Parkway to Marchbank Park, and west through the center of Marchbank Park to Junipero Serra Boulevard.

From there, proceed north to the original point of departure. This boundary includes all of the area now served by Crocker Elementary School and approximately one-half of the area served by Woodrow Wilson School.

The result would be the addition of about 100 students per grade to the Westmoor High population, the report indicated.

Alternative 2, structural change, Serramonte:

"We propose the board... seriously consider the establishment of a ninth grade center at Serramonte School," the report recommended.

This center could serve all ninth graders who live within the attendance areas of West-moor and Jefferson High Schools.

Jefferson and Westmoor would then become three-year high schools, grades 10 through 12.

The problem of racial imbalance would not be solved, however, the report indicated.

Serramonte would be racially balanced, though Westmoor and Jefferson would remain imbalanced.

"If the board of trustees decides that this proposal is to be accepted, we strongly recommend that techniques for fostering integration of Jefferson and Westmoor be instituted," the report author stated.

Alternative 3, structural change, Westmoor and Jefferson:

"We propose Westmoor and Jefferson High Schools be combined to form two campuses of the same high school... that Westmoor becomes a campus for students in grades nine and ten and that Jefferson becomes a campus for students in grades 11 and 12.

"Large high schools can generally make more efficient use of more specialized facilities than can small high schools," it was declared.

Concerning the existence of minority students, Stout noted that of the 19 elementary schools in the Jefferson Elementary School District, only five enroll the major proportion of Negro students.

What this means, he said, is that the elementary school boundaries reflect housing patterns, "and housing patterns tend to reflect racial separation."

Because of the present high school boundaries, he added, the four high schools are imbalanced in much the same manner as the elementary schools.

Although Jefferson High School enrolls only 26.6 per cent of all the high school students in the district, it enrolls 71.3 per cent of the Negro students, 50.3 per cent of the students with Spanish surnames, 54.2 per cent of "other" non-white students and only 20.4 per cent of the Caucasian students.

Fifteen per cent of the Negroes attending school in the district go to Westmoor; 13.6 to Oceana High in Pacifica and none to Terra Nova, also in Pacifica.

Stout asserted that trustees began their exploration of racial imbalance at an early point in the development of "such a phenomenon."

"Your experience has prepared you to deal with change and has demonstrated to you that change is not to be feared, but something which occurs as communities develop and as the expectations of its citizens rise.

"The members of the study agree with those persons who have argued that racial imbalance exists within the district and that it will probably become more severe if action is taken which dismisses the issue from consideration."

Daly City-Colma Lions Install

The Daly City-Colma Lions Club installed its new officers for the coming year at ceremonies held in the Fort Scott Officers Club at the Presidio Friday.

BOB BERNICCHI

More than 80 persons — Lions, their wives and local dignitaries... attended the function.

Among the honored guests were Judges Frank Blum and Paul Hupf, Daly City Councilmen Frank Pacelli, and Anthony Giammona and Albert Polonsky, city attorney for Daly City.

Dr. Rafe C. Martin, district governor representing district Four C-4, installed incoming President Robert Bernicchi after congratulating outgoing president Joseph Mottola on the work he had accomplished in the past year for the club.

John Putkey acted as installation officer for Jimmy Galindo (first vice president), Mike Brubaker (second vice president), and William Scanlon (third vice president).

Guest speaker Bernard (Bud) Lyett, mayor of Daly City, praised the Lions for the work they have done in helping others over the years.

The new president has been a member of the Daly City Lions Club for the past four years and resides with his wife, Toni, and four children at 14 Monte Verde Avenue, San Bruno.

Bernicchi is chief engineer and manager of the North County Sanitation District and is a registered civil engineer.

In a brief acceptance speech, Bernicchi traced the club's performance during the past few years and defined "Lionism" as "a sense of achievement... in helping people—especially children who look to us for help."

One of the major continuing projects of the Lions Club is providing eye care for needy children.

Other officers installed during the Friday ceremony included: Ira C. Neville (secretary); Richard Campi (treasurer); George Alphin (tailor); McRobert Stewart (lion tamer); Ted Weibel (club greeter); and Directors Melford Battye, Ray Logan, Gordon Cartwright and Ray Charette.

Book Deadline Is Extended

Secretary-Manager Bernard Lake disclosed today that he has extended until July 7 the deadline for placement of advertisements in the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce's Blue Book, the directory of community businesses.

Letter Tells Of Mother's Suicide Plan

Before she drove to Devil's Slide last Monday to take her life and those of her two children, Mrs. Constance Corcoran, 37, stopped at Belmont and mailed a letter to her husband, George, a San Francisco television executive.

"I cannot live without you," the letter stated, and went on to say that she planned to commit suicide and "take the children with me."

Her body and those of her son, Craig, 10, and daughter Carol, 9, were found floating in the water at the base of a 200-foot-high cliff Tuesday morning. Only the boy's body was not recovered.

Until that time cause of the deaths was a mystery, although investigators believed that it was a case of double murder and suicide. The husband came into the sheriff's office yesterday, however, and handed the letter, which he had just received in the mail, to Capt. Eugene E. Stewart. Stewart has said the case is closed.

conclusively that there is no pollution from this source," Reschke said.

On June 13, Reschke and Serini attended the special meeting of the board to present their protests.

After waiting seven hours, the board brought the matter up, listened briefly to the city engineer and passed the resolution giving Daly City until July 15 to present positive plans on the seawall, Reschke charged.

The tentative motion made by the board also directs the Water Quality Control staff to present recommendations for a Cease and Desist order if Daly City does not submit "a satisfactory detailed time schedule" on the matter.

D.C. Pair Convicted

A Daly City couple who were arrested last Friday on dope charges were convicted yesterday of charges, also alleging narcotics violations, filed a year ago.

Superior Judge Frank W. Rose found Charles Lee Grant, 42, and his wife, Willie Pearl, 27, of 1331 Geneva Avenue, guilty and scheduled sentencing for July 21.

Their trial, on heroin charges, started last Friday and was recessed until yesterday. Within hours after leaving court last week, they were arrested in front of their home by police, who said they found heroin and marijuana in their possession.

Younger Saw Created Two Cabinet Positions

Congressman J. Arthur Younger, who died last week, had during his 15 years of service to San Mateo County and the nation as a member of the House of Representatives compiled a record of achievement greater than many men in an entire lifetime.

Younger, a staunch defender of free enterprise, fought throughout his public career against creeping socialism which he felt is rapidly leading the country into complete dependence on the federal government and a deterioration of the moral fiber that made the nation great.

Through his foresight, two of the present cabinet positions in the government were created during the last decade, including the Department of Housing and Urban Development (which he called "Urbiculture"), to balance the Department of Agriculture.

Younger, however, disappeared in the manner in which the administration set up the present department.

The other idea of which he was the principal author, was the Department of Transportation created last year.

Younger felt that the latter department should have included communications, a conclusion based on his work as a 15-year member of the powerful Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Younger was also a member of the sub-committees on Communication and Transportation. Rep. Chet Hollifield (Dem.-Calif.), chairman of the committee creating the bill, said of Younger: "You were a statesman with vision far before your colleagues."

Won Breakwater

One of Younger's major achievements was the $7,500,000 Pillar Point Breakwater, for which he secured approval and appropriations.

Frank B. Ingersoll Jr., chairman of the Younger Congressional Committee for the past 11 years, and George A. McQueen, Younger's field secretary, today proposed to Army Engineers that consideration be given to naming the Breakwater in honor of Congressman Younger.

He was responsible for much of the development and expansion of the world Port of Redwood City, and had just completed a strong effort to secure an Army Engineer study for further deepening of the channel, so that larger ships can be handled. Federal appropriations have totaled more than $2 million for the port.

Younger was instrumental in securing millions in federal funds for the San Francisco International Airport, which he considered the major economic factor in the prosperity of San Mateo County, because of its 20,000 employees, and tremendous freight and passenger volume.

He secured 14 new post offices and many postal stations for San Mateo County, the latest being Belmont, which was dedicated last Saturday. Only Redwood City remains to be provided with new facilities.

He aided in bringing the $126 million linear accelerator to Stanford University and brought the Coast and Geodetic Survey headquarters to Menlo Park.

Recently he had secured federal grants for Daly City's planning, San Bruno's parks; a recreation building in East San Mateo, a park in Los Prados, San Mateo and a park in East Palo Alto.

Younger was beloved by Coastside farmers for bringing artichokes into the national spotlight, and both he and Mrs. Younger went on television in Washington to popularize the product which, in the beginning, most people there did not know how to eat.

He assisted flower growers on air freight problems — flowers are the county's largest agricultural crop. He was also successful in getting the armed services to put San Mateo County vegetables on the menu for the service men.

He secured low-cost federal loans for College of Notre Dame and other schools and colleges in San Mateo County.

The long-awaited Colma Creek Army Engineers survey to prevent South San Francisco flooding is now under way as a result of his efforts.

He was looking forward to development of the huge $30 million Pescadero flood control and water supply plan with a 50-acre lake for recreation purposes as his next big project, in co-operation with state and county officials.

He was noted for his strict adherence to grades in the appointment of boys to the U.S. service academies and all of his appointments have been successful graduates.

Over 600 At Younger Rites

More than 600 people, from janitors to Senators, said their last farewells to Congressman Jesse Arthur Younger Sunday at the Congregational Church of San Mateo.

Most of them also filed past Mrs. Norma Younger to offer friendship and condolences.

She appeared pale when the ceremonies ended at about 2 p.m. and she was led from the 104-year-old chapel to a church reception room, where she stood and shook hands and exchanged greetings for an hour. Then the line of well-wishers ended and she was able to sit down, briefly, for a cup of coffee.

It had been a pleasant day, sunny but not too warm, for a ceremony which had drawn Senator George Murphy and 23 Congressmen from Washington in a special flight of Air Force Two, the stand-by presidential plane.

San Mateo County Supervisors, mayors of several cities, an honor guard from the Presidio, plus friends of the family, stood at attention as William Crosby Jr., carried a wooden box containing the silver urn which held Congressman Younger's ashes from the plane to a waiting hearse. Then the family followed in a limousine, and the congressional party boarded two army buses for the trip to San Mateo.

Arriving at the tree-shaded church, they waited for nearly an hour as the ceremonial arrangements were being completed, and as the 800 chairs set out for the funeral began to fill. There were 450 seats in the chapel, 175 in Kloss Hall, 125 on a shady lawn.

The Congressman's ashes, still encased in the white pine box, had been placed in front of the chapel, on a short pedestal and covered with a purple cloth emblazoned with a golden cross. The draped urn was almost hidden behind a bouquet of red roses which had been sent by the family. Today at 2:30, the urn was placed at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

While the crowd gathered, Younger's family, including his wife, Norma, and their daughter, Mary Wells Robinson of Redwood City, and her husband, Walter, rested in the church's Fireside Room where a new portrait of the congressman had been mounted on the wall.

Outside, groups of political leaders formed and reformed. Senator Murphy chatted with George McQueen, field secretary to the late congressman, with Congressman Charles Guber of Santa Clara County, and with Don Clausen of Marin County, State Senator Richard Dolwig and Assemblyman Carl

Mallet Is Recipient Of a Lions Reward

Bill Mallet was the recipient of the coveted San Bruno Lions Club award for scholarship which is given each year to the top student at Engvall Intermediate School.

The presentation was made by William Worthing of the San Bruno Lions Club at the Engvall School's graduation which was held at Crestmoor High School.

Mallet is a product of the San Bruno schools, having attended them since his kindergarten days. Prior to his enrollment at Engvall, he attended Rollingwood School.

The local Lions Club also honored Nancy Ray and Tim Jackson as the best girl and boy athlete, respectively.

This award is given not only for athletic ability but also for sportsmanship.

Christine Homan and Mike Furnanz were selected as the outstanding girl and boy students with their awards coming from the Crestmoor Park Improvement Association, presentation by Clifford Silverstein.

These awards are given for all-round activities — both scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

Tax Levies Upheld For S.S.F. Firms

Levies for escaped assessments charged against two South San Francisco firms were upheld last week by the County Board of Supervisors following hearings in Redwood City.

Bills for additional taxes were sent to the companies — W. P. Fuller Paint Co. and Scatena-Galli Fruit Co. — after a special audit established a higher value of personal property than that declared by the companies.

Fuller was billed for $42,000 in additional taxes and Scatena-Galli for $1,327. The special auditing program, in which the books of 50 firms were checked, was demanded by the County Grand Jury and authorized by the Board of Supervisors. Auditing fees approximated $40,000.

Several companies who were billed for escaped assessments have filed appeals with the board. The South San Francisco firms are the first to be heard.

Forde Athearn, attorney for Fuller, told the board that when Fuller was purchased in 1962 by Hunt Foods and Industries, the company was in financial trouble. The purchase price, he said, was $23 million, or 70 percent of the company's "book" value. The assessor, Athearn said, failed to take the discounted purchase price into consideration in establishing the true value of Fuller assets.

Deputy District Attorney Jerome Coleman argued that the book values assigned by Hunt were arbitrary and said no evidence had been introduced to support them.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair, who made the motion to support the assessor, commented that it appeared that the assessor had used the same method in assessing the Fuller property that he had used in other similar cases. Later, however, in discussing the Scatena-Galli case, St. Clair said he felt the former practice of the assessor's office of not making allowances for depreciation was wrong. He said he was "glad" that the county's new assessor, Jack Estes, has introduced a new system that allows for depreciation.

Involved in the Scatena-Galli matter were three fork-lift trucks which had been unreported on the company's declaration and which were turned up by the special audit. Attorney Hugh F. Mullin Jr. said the failure to declare the trucks was an oversight because prior to the company moving from San Francisco in 1962 they had been licensed and taxes were paid under a different method. They were not licensed after the company moved to South San Francisco.

The assessor's office assessed the trucks at their original cost — a total of $10,719. Mullin argued that in 1962, at the time of the move to San Mateo County, the trucks had an actual value of $6,500. He said the additional tax should be $805 rather than $1,327.

Seven County Performers Visit Expo

They're proving to the world the U.S. has plenty of good kids and they're loaded with talent!

The singing, dancing and instrumental music talents of 85 Bay Area youths, including seven Peninsula teens, have won them an invitation to represent the United States in the performing arts at Expo '67 in Montreal, Canada. They are leaving Monday.

The youthful performers, banded together under the name of Young America, have among their membership Sue Davis, 17, 4030 Bayview Avenue, San Mateo; Jill Brennan, 17, Millbrae; Ann Crowley, 16, 110 North Mayfair; Pam Sousa, 14, 361 Bel-Mar Avenue, and John Walsh, 14, and Susan Walsh, 18, both of 50 Northgate Court, all Daly City; and Cici Malone, 17, 740 San Felipe, San Bruno.

All are members of the Young America dance corps.

Miss Davis is a student at Hillsdale High, Miss Crowley attends Mercy High, Miss Brennan is a Mills High co-ed, and Miss Malone attends Capuchino High, while John and Susan Walsh and Miss Sousa are students at Westmoor.

Young America members, ranging in age from 13 to 22 and representing seven Bay Area junior high schools, 25 high schools and seven colleges, currently are conducting a fund drive for $50,000 to pay their expenses. They have been advanced the required sum, which they plan to pay back by giving benefit performances. Meanwhile they will appear at the Rockefeller Plaza July 2 and in Washington, D.C., on July 4 or 5 at a formal affair at the Smithsonian Institute.

Firm Given Clean Bill By County

The Merck Company of South San Francisco, accused previously of dumping "foreign matter" into the Bay, was given a clean bill of health by County Public Health Engineer Eugene M. Howell at last week's board of supervisors meeting.

Howell was asked to investigate the company because of a complaint by St. Clair at a previous meeting that the bay around the company's plant is filled with a "white milky fluid."

Howell told supervisors that tests by the Regional Water Quality Control Board have shown that fluids pumped by the firm into the bay have not had an appreciable ill effect on the water and have created no health hazard.

Howell reported that the firm pumps more than 3 million gallons of Bay water per day into the plant, takes out "certain materials" and then pumps the water back into the Bay.

Correction of the problem has been given "a low priority" by the water quality control board, he said.

"It is unfortunate that such a light position has been taken," St. Clair retorted. He noted that "a white milky fluid" covers the Bay for some several hundred yards out into the bay and that the "whole area is discolored."

"It certainly looks bad," St. Clair asserted. "I think something should be done."

Howell reported that the regional water control board for the first time has begun to consider such matters on grounds of aesthetics. But as the water pumped out is not poisonous to fish and not hazardous to humans, Howell said no action has as yet been taken. He predicted measures will be taken in the future, however.

Salesman's Car on Fire

A salesman visiting the San Carlos Elementary School District warehouse at 520 Industrial Road came out to find his new car afire late last week and suffered second-degree burns on his right hand attempting to fight it.

San Carlos firemen said Ronald Green, 31, 3 Grandview Avenue, Daly City, took a hand extinguisher to fight the fire, which apparently started in the wiring under the dashboard and damaged the interior of the car. He was taken immediately to a physician for treatment.

DC Educator Backgrounds 'Equal Opportunity'

With Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District hearing Monday first preliminary drafts of a University of California Field Service study of Jeff boundaries, the assistant principal-instruction at Jefferson High in Daly City has back-grounded the "equal opportunity" aspect with his own thoughts.

Jefferson's Rudie Tretten has cited two "contradictory" trends along these lines — one an "open road to the top for those who meet educational qualifications," the other "indications the children from higher status families are likely to receive more and better education than those from lower status families."

The Jefferson District board hired UC to conduct the boundary survey after the efforts of two citizen advisory committees failed to win acceptance.

Purpose of the survey, according to District Supt. Edward Morgan, is three-fold, including a need to reduce overcrowding at Jefferson and Westmoor High in Daly City, determination of the new Serramonte High School's boundaries and suggestions on how to prevent de facto segregation.

Tretten's comments relate primarily to de facto segregation. In 1955 Tretten headed a local committee that studied this.

Nothing that "equality of opportunity" to be a "complex concept," Tretten noted the concept to involve the notion "that all men must be free to achieve to the maximum of their potential."

Pointing to the Binet measure of intelligence, Tretten said, "We know that IQ and school achievement are products of a variety of factors and that two of the most important are motivation and life experiences."

However, he said, creativity is "completely ignored by the IQ test, but is one which cannot be ignored by a society intent on creative expression and invention."

Tretten said difficulties in defining learning ability and motivation plague today's schools.

Quoting the so-called Coleman Equality of Educational Opportunity Report Tretten offers this finding:

"... It appears that variation in the facilities and curriculum of the schools account for relatively little variation in pupil achievement insofar as this is measured by standard tests."

Tretten admitted this is "not to say that facilities had no bearing on achievement," but their impact was felt primarily by minority group students in schools without adequate laboratory facilities.

"The achievement of minority pupils depends more on the schools they attend than does the achievement of majority pupils," the report advocated.

Contrasting the situation of majority and minority group students, Coleman stated, "If a white pupil from a home that is strongly and effectively supportive of education is put in a school where most pupils do not come from such homes, his achievement will be little different than if he were in a school composed of others like himself."

"But if a minority pupil from a home without much educational strength is put with school-mates with strong educational backgrounds, his achievement is

Coleman also wrote, "A pupil attitude factor which appears to have a stronger relationship to achievement than do all the 'school' factors together, is the extent to which an individual feels that he has some control over his own destiny. . . ."

"The responses of pupils to questions in the survey show that minority pupils, except for Orientals, have far less conviction than whites that they can affect their own environments and futures. When they do, however, their achievement is higher than that of whites who lack that conviction."

In attempting to implement the findings the Coleman Report, Tretten said, school boards run into problems caused by conditions in the general society.

"How, for example," he asked, "can the school authorities in Chicago de-segregate their schools when 6,000 Negroes live in one section of the city?"

Tretten said such situations have prompted calls for vast expenditures, to make ghetto schools better.

The Coleman Report, he said, indicates that while this will help in limited degree, it "will not solve the problem."

It is possible through redrawing of boundary lines and/or restructuring of school organization to achieve a good degree of integrated schooling, Tretten declared.

Perhaps the "outstanding example" of this is Berkeley, he said, where all ninth grade students attend one integrated high school, instead of three segregated junior highs.

There are other instances across the nation where various combinations of boundary drawing, busline and structural changes have worked to increase the efficiency of the schools, he pointed out.

"While it is often argued that integration helps only the minority group student, this is not the case," said Tretten. "One of the difficulties in recent American history has been the increasingly rigid segmentalization of our society."

"Since the schools have been the classic means of bringing our citizens into full democratic participation, it would seem advisable that we do as much as possible to make all our schools both academically strong and socially comprehensive," Tretten suggested.

He added, "Only through maximum academic strength can the schools produce the educated and competent citizenry required by our expanding and increasingly complex economy."

There is continuing emphasis on education and a departure from giving a man a job on the basis of what he can do in favor of degrees, certificates or credentials, Tretten said.

Pay Hike Urged In Daly City

A recommendation for a 4 per cent pay hike, the board has asked for single range individual class increases for certain positions, including General Supervisor of Recreation, Assistant Electrical Inspector, Account Machine Operator, Librarian I and II, Building Inspector, and City Electrician Inspector.

Although the recommendation was included on tonight's regular council agenda, the matter was not expected to be taken up until Thursday's adjourned meeting.

In addition to the over-all 4 per cent pay hike, the board has asked for single range individual class increases for certain positions, including General Supervisor of Recreation, Assistant Electrical Inspector, Account Machine Operator, Librarian I and II, Building Inspector, and City Electrician Inspector.

Church-School Hearing Put Off

A scheduled public hearing on a use permit request for the proposed Roman Catholic church-parochial school complex in South San Francisco's Westborough Community has been postponed until August 14, City Planner Daniel Pass announced today.

The hearing was scheduled for Monday night's meeting of the city's planning commission, but it was taken off the agenda after planning officials and representatives of the San Francisco Roman Catholic Church Archdiocese requested more time to prepare plans, Pass said.

Earlier last week, Pass revealed a compromise proposal which would allow the church to construct an elementary school, rectory, and church building, with the provision that the high school facilities in the original plans be omitted.

"The proposed church and elementary school are neighborhood and community oriented institutions, and would serve a substantial need of the residents of West Park and Westborough," the planner said.

"If properly designed and coupled with a fluent traffic plan, they would not constitute a material detriment," he said.

Pass suggested that the church submit new plans in accordance with his recommendation to omit the high school.

"These plans should be mindful of the needs of the freeholders of West Park," he said.

When plans for the $2 million complex were first submitted several months ago, Pass opposed the project on grounds it would remove land from the tax rolls in an area which is already overtaxed, and consume some of the last land available for residential development in the city.

He and Public Works Director Louis Goss also maintained the facility would worsen the traffic situation in the residential community.

"The high school would be subregional in character," Pass said, "and would attract students from Pacifica, Daly City, Brisbane, San Bruno and Millbrae, as well as South San Francisco."

"Being a major subregional institution, it should be located in an area planned to accommodate such facilities," he said.

"There are ample vacant and agricultural lands in South San Francisco and adjacent cities to accommodate the high school," Pass said.

"West Park is a planned community which has been synthesized after long months of hard work, and its delicate balance would be upset by this facility."

Members of the West Park Homeowners Improvement Association have opposed construction of the high school on the grounds similar to those put forward by the planner.

S.S.F. Driver Arrested On Drug Count

San Bruno police arrested a 27-year-old South San Francisco salesman for possession of marijuana after they found him beside his parked car in a service station Saturday morning.

Officer Tom Mathers said he spotted Phillip Hennessy, 27, of 20 Parkridge Drive, San Francisco, on the ground next to his car shortly after 3 a.m. while he was on patrol along the El Camino Real.

Closer inspection of Hennessy's car allegedly revealed marijuana stored in the glove compartment, a small amount of "white substance believed to be heroin," syringes and other "suspicious paraphernalia normally associated with drugs," a police spokesman said.

The spokesman said Hennessy was apparently under the influence of drugs at the time of his arrest.

Hennessy was booked into San Mateo County jail in Redwood City.

Mother Dies of Gunshot

A young South San Francisco housewife—mother of two small children—died from a gunshot wound Sunday after quarreling with her husband.

Police said Wilma Lee Antonini, 27, was found lying in a pool of blood with a .38-caliber pistol beside her in the couple's home at 610 Fourth Lane, by her husband Gelsio.

The victim was rushed to Peninsula Hospital where she died from a gunshot wound of the head at 10:10 p.m.—some five hours after admittance.

According to the 25-year-old husband, the couple had argued over a dress the wife was going to wear to a wedding reception and he stormed from the house.

Upon returning 15 minutes later he heard a gunshot, ran into the bedroom and found his wife beside her in the couple's home lying on the floor with his .38-caliber pistol beside her.

He picked up the gun and placed it on a nearby nightstand before calling authorities, according to the report.

Antonini said the victim's children, from a previous marriage, ages two and four-years-old, were locked in an adjoining bedroom, apparently by the wife.

The San Mateo County coroner's office is continuing their investigation of the incident.

Pacifica Youth Breaks Arm

A seven-year-old Pacifica boy fell from a tree near his home Friday and broke a bone in his left arm.

Michael Nunes, 1071 Valencia Way, was reported to be in satisfactory condition this morning at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame, a hospital spokesman said.

Nunes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darold L. Nunes, was reportedly playing in the tree when the accident occurred.

No 'Cropdusting' Bruno's Brown Spot Mystery

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The cause of brownish-colored spots appearing on parked cars in San Bruno remained a mystery with the denial of International Airport officials that none of their planes have been "crop dusting," either on takeoff or landing.

A Pacific Telephone employee working in a company maintenance office at 1101 San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno charged aircraft with spraying the city with "human waste chemically treated and apparently being dumped from high flying planes 'over the Farrallon Islands.'"

"The way I understand it, aircraft discharge this waste, either on landing or takeoff, over the Farralons and the stuff drifts back on the wind and settles over cities between Pacifica and Redwood City," Jack Frisella told The Times.

But airport officials flatly denied the allegations.

According to the officials no "modern" aircraft since the DC-4 has discharged their waste tanks while in flight.

"All tanks—on prop planes and jets—are emptied on the ground using specially designed equipment," an engineer who asked not to be identified said.

Another official said the spots "were probably caused by bugs, but everyone blames the jets for everything."

Frisella, a central office equipment man for the Pacific Telephone Company, said he had taken his spot-covered car to a Burlingame service station where some of the matter was scraped off and a sample sent to the University of California, Berkeley.

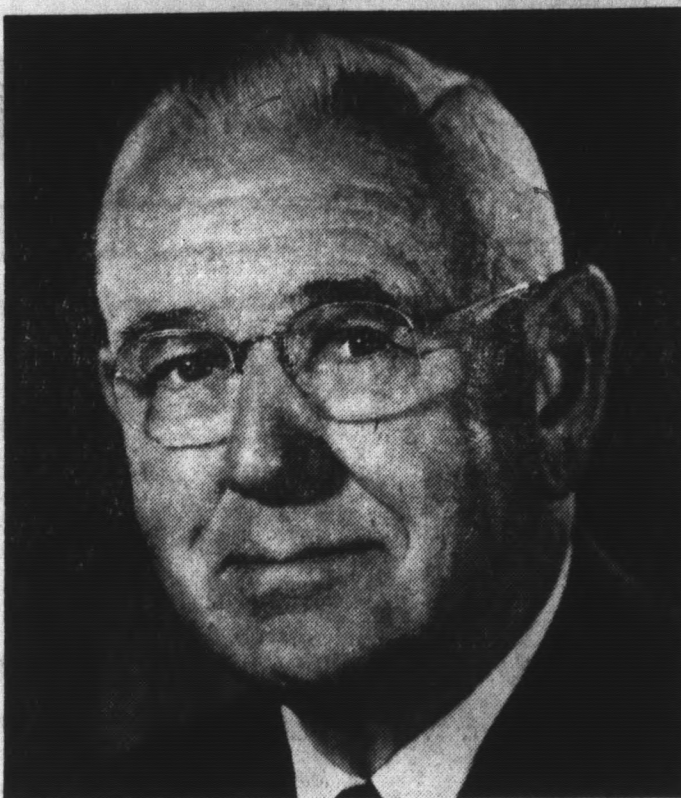

"The UC laboratory told the service station owner it was definitely humane waste mixed with a chemical," Frisella said.

Neither the university laboratory nor the service station in question could be located by The Times.

However, a representative of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board surveyed the scene Thursday and took several samples for testing.

His Memory Will Live

REP. J. ARTHUR YOUNGER

Many Younger Achievements

All San Mateo County mourned the death of Congressman J. Arthur Younger who had so ably served both the nation and the county through a momentous decade and a half. His death in Washington, D.C., last Tuesday came suddenly, just when it was hoped that he was winning his courageous battle with dread Leukemia.

His fight to live and to continue his work in the House of Representatives was characteristic of the vigor and dedication of his long and distinguished career in Congress where his steady and sensible attention to the affairs of the nation, and of his constituency, won him the highest regard of his colleagues at all levels of the Federal government.

Mr. Younger, the first representative of the whole county of San Mateo in Congress, served the people of the county with devotion, with efficacy, and with a warm friendship that endeared him to the thousands of local visitors who unfailingly called upon him whenever they were in Washington. At home he was active and welcome participant in civic and community activities.

In Washington, his long experience, ability to master the complexities of government, and willingness to work hard in the committees to which he was named, won him universal respect.

For his own county and its citizens he worked equally hard and successfully.

Many achievements will stand as his monument in the county he loved and served so well. They include the completion of the big Pillar Point breakwater project, outstanding aid to the Port of Redwood City, much of the Federal assistance given to the International Airport, and numerous other federally assisted projects of local importance. He gave expert and close attention to small bills, as well as large issues, as many of his constituents will gratefully testify.

His passing is an occasion for sadness and regret. His memory will live long among us.

Resignation Rumor

LET THE RUMORS FLY — Jefferson Elementary School District trustee Peter Galiano sold his Westlake home (for an undisclosed amount), packed up his bags and went off to Mexico on vacation. Rumors are flying that the Galianos have been looking for another home over Marin way, have found one they especially like and the trustee is on the verge of handing in his resignation.

FURTHER RUMORS have it that if and when Galiano steps off into the sunset, local businessman (and member of the Grand Jury) Frank Monte is "more than slightly interested" in the vacant chair left behind. That's nuf rumors for this week.

WE'RE GIVING ODDS that the Brisbane-San Francisco scavenger battle over who'll dump what and where will rage for AT LEAST ANOTHER YEAR, maybe more.

PACIFICA FIREMEN DO MORE than just put out fires! For instance: they continually risk their necks climbing over Devil's Slide to assist careless (and often unfortunate) victims who have either tumbled off or climbed over the steep cliffs. Last month they dismantled a furnace to rescue a cat (they put it back together, too!). And this week they were called out to yank a bone out of the mouth of a dog. Stuck in the canine's greedy jaws the bone was removed with a pair of pliers.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS — Daly City Mgr. Edward Frank was once an educator — and a good one, too! Frank's philosophy on elementary education: "It's like building a house — you've got to have a solid foundation or the whole thing won't be any good."

DALY CITY MAYOR Bernard (Bud) Lyceff is undoubtedly one of the most polished and interesting speakers we have had the pleasure of listening to in many years — and we've listened to quite a few over the years (sorry about that Frank).

WHICH BRINGS TO MIND Councilman Frank Pacelli, who just returned to Daly City after chatting with the nation's mayors in Hawaii. (L.A.'s Yorty didn't make it — N.Y.'s Lindsey kept to himself). One of the most interesting finds of Pacelli's trip was the fact that Honolulu dumped raw sewerage directly into the bay.

Pacelli, also a director of the North County Sanitation Board, thought such a system (Can you IMAGINE a modern city like Honolulu) of polluting the waters around the island was appalling.

WHAT'S GOING ON over in Brisbane? Do you care? First they pass a resolution banning easements over or under public rights-of-way and next meeting they move to rescind it. Don't utility lines, such as gas, water, sewerage, et al, pass under Brisbane's roads??? Interesting, interesting, indeed.

CHINA DIDN'T EXPLODE the biggest bomb last week — the Daly City Rotarian Club did! They had topless mama Gaye Spiegelman present a talk on ways and means to build a boys' club here. Only, according to those present, the speaker was totally unprepared for the session and fiddled out. Certainly she should be qualified for the talk — she has five young boys.

DIDJA KNOW EXAMINER Publisher Charles Gould is a "militant dove-like hawk" who is "consistently inconsistent" and loves peace "enough to fight for it?" Speaking to a joint meeting of the Peninsula Press Club and Public Relations Society of America last week at the Villa Chartier, Gould said he was sick and tired of trying to fight an enemy (the Viet Cong) using the Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Short of nuclear weapons, Publisher Gould thought the U.S. should unleash everything we've got in an effort to win THAT WAR.

PREMIER KOSYGIN'S visit to the U.S. apparently caused considerable consternation in some circles last week, especially after reports of those nuts with guns slipping past the UN security guards. The big bombers loaded with "that mysterious stuff nobody ever gets to see" at Travis Air Force Base and other military installations were reportedly on frequent alert during the week.

It's interesting to speculate on what would happen if some deranged zealot did manage to carry out the assassination of such a figure. A good guess is that we would all be smoking within 15 or 20 minutes.

A Bond Yawn...

My bated breath of anticipation turned quickly to a yawn last night over the fifth of the James Bond extravaganzas, "You Only Live Twice." Our man in the spy racket, Sean Connery, has let us down. Its playing all over but don't break a leg rushing to see it. To really get your money's worth, pick a good double bill.

The film doesn't lack action, there's enough bombing, strafing, fires, explosives and shooting to cover a small war. But the polish, the wit, the rather eyebrow raising sex play is missing, as is the marvelous Aston Martin which so distinguished Double-O-Seven from run of the mill under-cover agents. He does have a nifty helicopter named Little Nellie with a control panel that looks like an IBM computer. It discharges all manner of artillery from rockets to missiles to gas filled balloons. But it just isn't the same old super spy stuff and that's where we've all become spoiled.

The trick is not to remember the other four Bond films. This one then isn't so bad as a routine science-fiction treatment on a possible World War III. The idea is that SPECTRE is trying to goad Russia and The United States into war by sending out their own gigantic space craft to swallow up those in orbit from the respective countries.

THE SEEMINGLY IMPREGNABLE ENEMY is based in Japan, within an extinct volcano with a force of scientists and soldiers numbering in the thousands. The fortress within the earth also features lavish living quarters for Blofeld, the master-mind who we've only seen previously as a figure in a chair stroking a cat. This time we see that it's English actor Donald Pleasance with a nasty scar down the side of his face and a disposition to match. He dismisses incompetents within his organization by dropping them into an indoor pond filled with piranha fish (remember back in the forties when they pushed people into cobra pits or vats of sharks). He's evil enough but no match for Bond. In fact he doesn't even put up a challenging fight.

No Bond film would be complete without a bevy of beauties. This time they're orientals who bathe and attend him. He even marries one but it's in the line of duty (her duty) and she's hardly the image of an attentive, obedient, calm female as she accompanies him on his dangerous mission to destroy SPECTRE. It's more fun watching the sumurai trainees than the girl's waistline.

As for this being Connery's final Bond role, don't grieve. He looks bored to death with the whole thing and there's no doubt that another actor couldn't do it just as well. After all, it is only an image and imitators are a dime a dozen.

Gone is the sharp, sarcastic dialogue. Even Miss Moneybags doesn't shine. The film features a cast of thousands and a cost of millions. Too bad the old boy is over the hill. He was a gas while he lasted. The producers will need to pump some new blood into Bond to get him back in the race.

Presidential Homes

Theodore Roosevelt had a passion for books. Even during his busiest years he would devour them at a rate of three a day.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find a library in a prominent spot in the beautiful home that he built and named Sagamore Hill after the Indian chief who once owned the land where it stood.

The foundations of Sagamore were built twenty inches thick so the house could withstand full gales and hurricane winds. out, the house was filled with trophies of Roosevelt's rugged life. Someone described it as a house that is halfway between a baronial hall and a natural history museum.

Much different is the duplex at 21 Massass Street in Northampton, Mass., where Calvin Coolidge lived for twenty-four years until the crowds of curious people forced the landlord to ask his famous tenants to move.

The Coolidges had no desire to build a big home as some Presidents have done. "We draw our Presidents from the people," Coolidge wrote, "It is a wholesome thing for them to return to the people."

AS THE Herbert Hoovers moved around the world seeking their fortune in engineering projects, they dreamed of building a home in Palo Alto.

"It is a primary right of every American family," Hoover said, "to build a new house of its heart's desire at least once."

The Hoovers built their home with flat roofs like those of primitive Hopi Indian dwellings, but except for a few months they never lived in it.

In 1934, within two years after leaving the White House, the Hoovers moved to the Waldorf Towers in New York. Their house in Palo Alto became the official residence of the President of Stanford University.

When President Millard Fillmore came home to Buffalo, New York after his term in the White House, he purchased the "Gothick Manse" on Niagara Square.

THERE in his house of many turrets and gables he entertained the great men and women of the world. His house became a mecca for people who sought his help in humanitarian causes. Nevertheless, shortly after his death, President Fillmore's house was turned into an inn. Buffalo's Hotel Stratler now stands on the site.

Most of the homes of our Presidents are still standing and have become the property of the federal government and are open to tourists.

By and large they are typical homes, each displaying the stamp of their era. They were homes built by people who were fortunate enough to build or remodel until they had homes that pleased them.

THE STORIES of the homes of the American Presidents, together with many photos, has been published by Cranston Jones in a 1962 book that is noted for its beauty and for the information it contains.

The Art of Art Fakery

A burgeoning fake art industry is presently causing an uproar upon two continents.

The masters and contemporary painters are being so cleverly copied as to deceive the top experts of the art world.

In New York, con artists passed off 41 phony works of art on dealers to the tune of $165,000. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, an art connoisseur for years, has admitted to having been victimized through the years.

Human greed is greatly responsible for the con artist's success. A sucker very seldom actually pays the asking listed price and so, as a result, a phony painting, listed for $5 million is hawked for possibly half a million. "It is hard for a gullible art lover who has the money, if not the sense, to resist a bargain like that," said Urban S. Aarnham, adjuster for Hartford Insurance.

A LUCRATIVE field was created for the swindler when industrialists started collecting "art for the sake of business as well as art." Authorities are now investigating the case of Algor Meadows, chairman of General American Oil, who is said to have been bilked out of a fortune in forged pictures. The Art Dealers Association of America advised Meadows that 44 of the 58 oil paintings, sketches and water colors, purchased during the past four years are fakes — and not good ones.

A Paris-based ring of art fakers cleaned up approximately $1.1 million, including about $19,000 from a French government department.

This could mean that possibly hundreds of paintings in galleries and private collections in Europe, U.S. and South America may be forgeries. A bank of phony masterpieces with an asking price of $38 million is said to be somewhere in the San Francisco area.

HOW CAN one be protected against the art faker? One well-known authority advised the art collector to buy only from the Tiffanys and Cartiers of the art market.

Be wary of vague appraisals. Be sure to read every word of the picture's papers. See that the dealer notes on the bill of sale the name of artist, title, medium and if picture has been shown, the date and place. Keep all papers for future use.

An auction gallery does not guarantee but does print a catalogue which gives complete details concerning every picture offered for sale. Ask an outside art expert to guide you as to authenticity and top price to bid. Once a bid is made, it is too late to change your mind.

Newlyweds Will Live in S.S.F.

White gladioli and carnations decorated the Hillsborough home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Varni Saturday for the wedding of their daughter, Jo Ann Marie, to Jack M. McKee.

In a gown of white silk organza detailed with white daisy appliques, Jo Ann was given in marriage by her father. A cluster of Stephanotis caught her illusion veil, and she carried white orchids and Stephanotis.

Jo Ann's honor attendant was Eugenia Houland of South San Francisco in a cage dress of ice blue lace over ice blue peau de soie. She carried a matching blue carnations. Diane Varni, the bride's niece, and Lynette Meloni, godchild of the benedict, were the flower girls in pale yellow dotted Swiss frocks. They carried daisies.

Dino Petrella of San Francisco stood with Jack as best man, and the bride's brother, Harold M. Varni, seated the guests.

Greeting guests in the garden of her home after the ceremony, Mrs. Varni wore a turquoise ensemble of lace over crepe with matching accessories. She pinned on a white orchid.

Jo Ann attended Mercy High School and the College of San Mateo. Her husband is a graduate of Boys Town in Omaha, Neb.

For travelling, the bride chose a yellow linen coat and dress with brown accessories. After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will live in South San Francisco.

A Grave Eye Toward Future

Louanne Heath

June graduates should be prepared to accept some serious obligations, to themselves and to their communities, according to Muriel Friedman, a 17-year-old Westmoor graduate who has doffed her cap and gown and is casting a grave eye toward the future.

Muriel explained that she does not feel there are specific roles which this month's graduates should automatically accept, any more than there are definite niches into which each person should be expected to fit.

HOWEVER, she does feel that the community has a right to expect its young adults to have a sense of responsibility. As men and women they should accept the responsibilities of family living, of congenial neighborhood relations and the acceptance of the responsibilities that are an intangible part of friendships.

More important, even than one's relationships with others, Muriel feels, is the sense of fulfillment of oneself which is everyone's personal obligation.

Edgar A. Guest once wrote:
"I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know, I want to be able as days go by, Always to look myself straight in the eye;
I don't want to stand, with the setting sun,
And hate myself for things I have done.

I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know, I never can fool myself, and so, Whatever happens, I want to be Self-respecting and conscience free."

Muriel sums up her concept of this idea by saying, "The first obligations can only serve to benefit the community; the second gives meaning to life on a personal level. If a person fulfills both obligations he or she will possess genuine happiness and peace of mind, and a person may then help others find their way toward this goal."

Muriel was born in San Francisco but she has attended north Peninsula schools all her life, beginning at Westlake School and continuing on at Benjamin Franklin and finally at Westmoor where she was an outstanding student, scholastically and socially. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman of Westlake and the sister of Carol, 16, and Howard, who is 10.

GRADUATION meant the end of daily contact with the many friendly faces at Westmoor and Muriel admits that she will miss them all, especially her favorite teacher, Hugh Wells, who taught her intermediate algebra and trigonometry.

Denise Larrieu, Alan M. Willimont Are Married

Fred Martin, Jr., was best man, and guests were seated by Dr. Frank Edgar and Rene Larrieu, brother of the bride. Mrs. Willimont came from the Philippines to attend her son's wedding, and the bridegroom's Dr. and Mrs. Jere Wolfer of Montrose, were on hand with their children.

The bridegroom is also the brother of Mrs. Allen Risley and Mrs. Don Gribel. He was graduated from the American School in Manila and from the University of Denver in Colorado where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi.

Denise was graduated from Capuchino High School.

The couple, who received felicitations at the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco, plan to live in Millbrae.

Honolulu was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Willimont who were married recently at the Community Methodist Church of Millbrae.

The bride is the former Denise Marie Larrieu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Larrieu of San Bruno. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Willimont of Baguio, Philippines.

Denise recited her vows in an Empire creation with a lace bodice with a softly scalloped neckline with small clusters of pearls and long, lace sleeves. The skirt of lace over organza fell into a short train.

The bride's elbow length illusion veil was caught by small loops of organza trimmed with three petals of lace and pearls.

Wendy M. Statton was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Carolyn DeLemos and Helen Larrieu, sister-in-law of the bride. They wore hot pink silk dresses with Empire waistlines trimmed with matching daisies.

The Donald Robert Koenigs To Live in South City

White chrysanthemums, gypsophylla and pink gladioli decorated the interior of St. Gregory's Catholic Church for the recent wedding of Catherine Lavinia Di Genio and Donald Robert Koenig.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Di Genio of San Mateo; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Koenig of Burlingame are the parents of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, Catherine wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie with heirloom Alencon lace appliques on the bodice, sleeves and at the hemline. A crystal tiara held her illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Barbara Lynn Di Genio was the honor attendant for her sister in a floor-length gown of peau de soie and crepe in shades of pink. Similarly attired bridesmaids were Annette Di Genio, sister of the bride, Terri Traube, Claudia Corzonkoff, cousin of the bride, and Patricia Bentley. They all carried Rubin lilies and sweetheart roses.

Mrs. L. E. John of Redwood City, the bride's grandmother, made the bridal gown and the gowns for Catherine's attendants.

George Shaffer served as best man for Donald. James Koenig, brother of the bride, Keith Gentner, Chuck Marsh and Lee Hall seated the guests.

Greeting guests at the American Legion Hall in San Mateo after the ceremony, Mrs. Di Genio wore aqua blue Chianti crepe. Mrs. Koenig chose beige and white chiffon. Both pinned on phalaenopsis orchids.

Catherine is a graduate of Hillsdale High School. Her husband graduated from Mills High School and now attends Heald's Business College. He is employed by a bank in San Francisco.

HOW TO BREATHE LIFE INTO A DEAD ROOM

Perhaps the greatest single reason for a nicely furnished room looking "dead" is the lack of contrasting colors. So many people are afraid to use vibrant colors that they "play it safe" and use too many neutral shades.

Many such rooms can be transformed with a chair or pair of chairs in bright yellow, red or blue or any completely contrasting colors.

These contrasting colors can also be picked up in draperies, pictures, lampshades or in many other ways.

Very often a complete change of arrangement makes an old room look new. Placing the sofa and chairs on another wall will often do the trick.

Another good way to bring life into a drab room is colorful carpeting — if properly used — in solid colors, textures or patterns. The use of contrasting colors on a wall will very often make the great difference you are looking for.

The effect you are looking for is often brought about by the use of one piece of furniture in an opposite period such as a colonial desk in a modern room or an abstract painting in a traditional room.

Visit us for ideas which will bring your rooms back to life.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience or call PL 6-7500.

Pacifica Is Home For Newlyweds

Diana Faith Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen of Pacifica, was married recently at the Broadmoor Nazarene Church in Daly City to Daniel Alan Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Pratt.

The Rev. Ronald Grabke officiated at the ceremony.

Diana wore a dress of white lace over linen with long lace sleeves. A crown of rosebuds caught her veil.

Earleen Allen, her sister's maid of honor, and Lynn Rash, the bridesmaid, wore blue cotton dresses trimmed with white lace.

Joanne Rash, the flower girl, wore a pink flowered frock with a green sash.

David Pratt of San Bruno was his brother's best man, and guests were seated by David Allen of San Francisco, brother of the bride, William Rash of Daly City, and Emery Good of South San Francisco.

The couple honeymooned in Santa Cruz before returning to live in Pacifica.

Diana attended Jefferson High School. A member of San Francisco Bethel 107, Job's Daughters, she is a volunteer at Fort Miley Hospital. She also has a brother, Eugene Allen.

Daniel attended Washougal High School in Washington. He has a sister, Mrs. Allan Karnath.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of teeth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth. Dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Couple Is Feted On Anniversary

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vasco DeLuca Sr. of San Bruno and their wives honored them this month at a champagne buffet marking their fortieth wedding anniversary. Setting for the party was Scout Hall in San Bruno.

The DeLuccas have been living in the Bel Aire section of San Bruno for more than 50 years and have two sons, Vasco Jr. and Mike. They have five granddaughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasco DeLuca Jr. and their daughters, Elizabeth, Joan, and Bonnie, live in San Bruno. Mr. and Mrs. Mike DeLuca and their daughters, Lisa and Kelly, live in Belmont.

More than 50 friends and relatives were on hand for the festivities. The Rev. Louis Facchino of All Souls Church in South San Francisco, gave the DeLuccas a special blessing.

They renewed their marriage vows at that time.

William Vallerger, Mrs. DeLuca's brother, flew in from Las Vegas to surprise the couple. Mrs. DeLuca is the daughter of Mrs. A. A. Vallerger of San Bruno.

Music Society Names Officers

Other officers are Linda Tucker, Mylene Thibodeaux, Gerry Hought, Kathy O'Shaughnessy and David Goldberg.

TEENS

The Westside Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, held its first dance of the summer last night. The dance, held at Westmoor High School Gymnasium, featured a battle of the bands between the Flower Road and Our Indian.

Special summer memberships are available at the Recreation Department for those who were not regular members during the school year. Those wishing to join must bring a small picture and 50 cents prior to June 27 if possible.

The Westside Teen Club summer program features five dances, all with live bands, and two excursions.

For further information call the Recreation Department at 992-5356.

A summer program of activities has been planned by the Daly City Recreation Department for the Know Names Junior Teen Club.

Dances with "live" bands, a beach party and other surprise events will be conducted throughout the summer months. Announcements of these activities will be mailed to all of the club members.

The council members and their guests saw "The Dave Clark Five" at the Circle Star Theatre Monday.

Coming events: A spectacular Band Battle and dancing at the Westlake Clubhouse on July 6, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Two new groups called the Vertical Holds and The Contrasts will be among the competing bands.

Fellowship Established By Women

Fellowships chairman Mrs. Hugh B. Mitzner recently announced that the San Bruno Branch of the American Association of University Women has granted a $500 fellowship in the name of Mrs. Frank J. Jones, a former president of the branch.

In recognition of Sue's active participation in the International Hospitality Center, the fellowship will be awarded to an international student.

Sue will continue as Chairman of Foreign Student Hospitality for AAUW and is initiating a similar program at Temple Baptist Church in San Francisco where she is Superintendent of the Junior Department and President of the Women's Society.

An active participant in P-TA, Sue is an honorary life member of Rollingwood P-TA and will be Corresponding Secretary at Crestmoor High next year. She has been a Girl Scout leader for the past seven years.

Membership in AAUW is open to all women who have received a bachelor's degree from an accredited four-year college. Sue can be contacted at 992-4812, for further information regarding the group's summer activities which include bridge and book sections as well as foreign student hospitality.

Patricia Friedman Becomes New Mrs. William Nelson

The San Mateo home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Friedman was the setting for the marriage of their daughter, Patricia, to William M. Nelson. Judge Joseph Karish conducted the ceremony which was followed by a reception.

The couple is honeymooning in northern California and will live in San Francisco.

For the small, family wedding, Patricia chose a short A-line dress of flower-embossed organdy. A spray of lilies of the valley caught her shoulder length veil.

Katherine Ament, the sole attendant, wore a white cotton pique dress with an Empire bodice outlined with aqua satin ribbon.

Edward S. Nelson stood with his brother as best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Nelson.

Both Patricia and William attended San Mateo High School and will complete studies next year at San Francisco State College. Patricia will receive her elementary school credential and William is in the design department.

The bride has a brother, Donald.

Writing Between Kidney Stones

Le Pacini

Not since our first column on August 1, 1962 (about Ed Cerrino) have we missed our weekly 12-1500 words. But to prepare you for the worst — or better — this one may pull up short for the same reason last week's almost did.

We're writing between kidney stone attacks.

What worries us is not the physical pain, so much as the fact that several readers have told us how much they enjoyed our column last week, which, as mentioned was written under similar duress.

IF IT takes writing between attacks to produce good columns, we may go back to keeping our typewriter shut.

Speaking of pain, we see where there's a new establishment in Pacifica called the "Pacifica Self Defense Institute," which teaches the most offensive "sport" in the world — Karate. Only head man Joe Halbuna calls it Kenpo-Karate, a combination of Judo, Karate, Jujitsu, Kenpo, and Oriental Boxing, the latter of which must mean you apologize profusely after you gouge out a guy's eye.

But let's not be facetious. We're becoming a little weary of being one of the world's only crusaders against a "sport" which claims to teach self-defense, self discipline and conditioning, but whose ironical historic aim is to kill or maim with every strike.

Besides, we've neither met Halbuna nor visited his studio, and perhaps his combination Kenpo-Karate method is somewhat more restrained than pure Karate.

The studio certainly seems to be making an effort to follow some of the safeguards which we outlined a couple of years ago.

HALBUNA himself is apparently a thoroughly qualified instructor — rather than just an ex-body builder — having studied under Professor Adriano Emperado in Honolulu. His chief instructors also seem to have legitimate Karate backgrounds.

Halbuna allegedly is making efforts to disqualify anyone from instruction who has a police record.

But he will teach the stuff to kids as young as seven years old — and that's wrong. Kids at that age shouldn't even be playing Little League baseball. That, however, is another crusade.

In the meantime, good luck, Halbuna, and all the cops and teachers in Pacifica and the surrounding area. You all might need it.

PACIFICA musclemen did it again recently at the Quaker Oats-Pacific A.A.U. sponsored Northern California Junior Olympic Weightlifting Meet, placing six high ranking competitors in a field of 27.

Local first-placers at the Oceana gym were: Chuck Notmeyer, 103; Mike Walitsch, 82; and a San Bruno lad, Rich Nakashima, 131.

Placers were: Jim Walitsch, 102 and Rich Notmeyer, 127. Thirds went to Mike Fabiano, 103, and Mike Notmeyer, 131.

The Pacifica Bar Bell club won the team trophy, compiling more total points than any of the other competing clubs.

WE WERE all set, this week, to do a piece on how Rick Barry wouldn't leave the Warriors because all great athletes have great prides that often transcend monetary considerations, and about how Barry had too much "class" to hook on with a rag-tag Oakland team which may sink with the rest of the league, Rick Barry or no.

We were going to write about how no man in his right mind — such as Barry — would ever voluntarily work for his father-in-law.

Thanks, Rick Barry, for spoiling a column, and very possibly the next several professional basketball seasons, for us.

And all good luck and no hard feelings. Even, maybe, a little sympathy. In Oakland, you'll find YOU virile young men haven't already discovered that beauty isn't fragile (the prettiest ones always slap the hardest), consider Candy Troy and Teddi Higgins, the latest two Miss Pacificas.

Candy (Miss Pacifica, '66) is a former riding instructor and Teddie (current titleholder) an ex-swimming instructor. Sort of kills the image of the delicate beauty with the polished riding boots or the dry bathing suit, doesn't it?

BASEBALL NOTES: Remember our item about ex-major league pitcher-oil magnate Joey Jay being relegated to the Tidewater Tides? Well, last week the good old Tides released them. So Joey went back to his oil wells, which we hope are pumping oil, because they're certainly no longer effective levers.

We're getting pretty impatient with Pee Wee Reese, Sandy Koufax, etc., and their continual references, when they televise at Candlestick, to the park's wind and Jesus Alou's neck twinge. We sometimes get the idea that either that's all that's significant or interesting about the Giants, or that the telecasting crews just don't know anything more.

True, the wind at Candlestick does exist, but it also exists in Chicago. And in Kansas City they get tornado warnings at the ball park. In Houston they play on a carpet. In St. Louis it gets hot enough to fry Reese's breakfast on home plate. Most Eastern games are rained out more in one season than the Giants have had canceled since they've been here.

As for Alou's neck twinge, the only guy in America who could be happy over the detailed reporting of that unfortunate affliction, is Rocky Colovito, whose shoulder twinge was the darling of the broadcasters before Jesus came along. Now the spotlight's off Rocky, whose twinge doesn't compare with Alou's.

What Ted Williams would have done if Houston had put a smart-aleck comment on their scoreboard during his time, was shoot out every light on the board with his trusty 30-30.

MAX PATKIN, the baseball clown, claims that one of the least rated but most important reasons for dwindling minor league attendance is lighted Little League fields. What mother and father are going to go to the local minor league park for a night of baseball when they can watch their son perform.

Giant pitchers lead the majors in completed games and fewest walks allowed. Contrary to the expert opinion of Sandy Koufax, the Candlestick wind doesn't seem to bother the control of Giant pitchers. And as Sandy should remember, it certainly didn't bother him. But maybe you say things like that when you Go Network.

All-Star Day Set In D. C.

Sixth Grade All-Star game: American Division vs. National Division, 11 a.m., Westmoor Park.

Seventh Grade All-Star game: Western Division vs. PAL Mustangs, 11 a.m., Colma School; Eastern Division vs. Hunts Bombers, 11 a.m., No. Westlake.

Eighth Grade All-Star game: Daly City Roadrunners vs. Eighth Grade All-Stars 3 p.m., Marchbanks Park I. Awards presentations, 2:30 p.m., Marchbanks Park I.

Our Gang Wins In Volleyball

Finishing the season with a remarkable 15 and 1 record, the Our Gang Club walked off with championship trophies in the Daly City Recreation Department sponsored Adult Co-Ed Volleyball League. Runner-up trophies went to the Lame Ducks who had 12 and 4 credentials. Third place plaques were presented to the Rascals who had 11 wins in 16 starts.

A special gift was presented to Henry Michon and his team of teen-age volunteer officials in appreciation for their outstanding work as referees this past 16 weeks. The gift, tickets to the San Francisco Giants - Chicago Cubs doubleheader on July 16th, was given to Michon, Kris and Kay Hansen, Jane Presta, Mary Connolly and Vickie DeMartini.

Plans for a Summer League are now being formulated. Anyone interested in entering a team or joining a team may contact the Daly City Recreation Department for details.

Winners in the curtain closer last week were Our Gang, Lame

Ducks, Rascals and Raiders. Our Gang destroyed the Warriors in two straight games by identical scores of 15-2. The Warriors, only team to hang a loss on the champs, couldn't quite get started this time. The our Gang roster included Mickey and Sharon Corso, Ray and Barbara Parkin, Dean and Marisol Prince, Ray Letsinger and Ginny Anderson, Tom Davis and Dorothy Boettger.

Two 15-12 wins went to the Rascals over the Stinkers in final action of the night. The Rascal team was comprised of Bill and Eleanor Murphy, Jim and Gretchen Wolfe, Gene and Alice Neidefer, Bill and Diane Greene and Pat and Connie Murphy.

The Westlake Auto Service picked up its second win in a row in the 24 and under division of the Adult Slow Pitch Softball League last week as they defeated the Saints, 12-5, behind the heavy hitting of Bob Miller and Bill Massey.

The Daly City Recreation Department Playboys won their first game of the season as they romped to an 18-0 win over the Golden Eagles Rod and Gun Club.

Leading the Playboy attack were Mike Elston, Bob Mannini and Ed Larios as each collected timely hits. Dave Barry pitched marvelous ball for the winners as he did not allow run or a walk.

In other action, the Huck Doon Puds rallied to a 10-5 over the Works of Art.

The OLM Dads won their third game in a row in the Eastern Division Adult Softball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department as they rolled passed the Popeye's, 12-1.

The Church of Nazarene also made it three in a row as they nipped the Servomation Venders, 11-9. Dave Fineman contributed a key blast for the winners.

Westlake Bowl

By JAMES GREALISH

This was a big week for Blue Chip Winners. Betty Cleo won 5,350 stamps; Dot Mize 2,850; Bertha Garcia 1,610; Donna Folb 1,510; Pat Baker 1,580; Shirley Beale 1,250; Diane McClintock 1,190; Bernice Bundesen 1,180; Ethel Arjo 1,100; Bernice Mahoney 1,040; Rita Goodwin 1,010; Dody Sanguinetti 980; Harriet McIntosh 860; Linda Swanson 860; Lois Swanson 860; Louise Preto 810; Jean Lunghi 770; Sue Apice 630; Diane Canley 620; Alice Schneider 410; Cele Murray 320; and Jo Omanski 330.

KATHY FELICIANO had high series of 460 in the Wiglet League while high game was rolled by Kay Keeneally — a 175. Ruth Keefe led the Summer Fun League with a 178 game and a 480 series. Mae Gladwin paced the Wednesday Trio on a 160 game good for 439 series. Two fine series popped up in the Wednesday Doubles as Marie Passucci bowled a 508 on a 191 game. Elena Mould rolled a 193 game good for a 503 series.

IN the Country Club Trio Ken Balzar bowled 213-165-183-234 for an 824 series. One pin behind at 823 was Steve Pistone. Steve reached his total on games of 203-177-236 and 207. Even with these scores Ken and Steve weren't leaders. Amiable Art Michael returned to his former style as he shot 164 then 208 and 247, finishing with a 211 for 830. Nearby in the Ladies Invitational Trio Odessa Zumwalt bowled a 215 for her 754 series. The 510 Scratch Trio produced a nice 796 series by Jim Porter with a high game of 220.

JOHN CARR bowled the high game of 224 for a 588 series in the 805 Scratch League. Dick Knight posted a 201 game for a 533 series in the Lake Merced League and immediately following in the Southwest Handicap Tom McCue rolled 204 for a 579 total. Finishing up in Twilight 201-184 and 226 for 611.

Mixed Fives Action Barbara Horrigan took advantage of her private tutoring with a 223 game and a 551 series while Ed Duncan was high for the men with 200 and 578.

MORE FOUR GAME Sets as Ginny Van Heekeren led the Ladies' Summer Startlers with a 200 game and a 689 series.

In his final appearance for the West Portal Merchants League, Bob Hood made it worth watching as he bowled 258-255 and 213 for a 726 series. Betty Chapman led the ladies with 196 for a 458. In the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives Jean Kornfeld and Joan Brummel tied for high series at 479. Jean had a 188 game and Joan a 167. Tops for the men was Louie Perna with 202 for a 570.

THE TRIO Leagues which usually bowl four games, produced some more leading scores this past week. In the 560 Pro Trio, Ray Moore, Jr., bailed out a 914 series on games of 214-216-232 and 242.

Right behind him is our leader — Steve "L.L.L." Hargrove with an 845 series. Steve rolled games of 215-208-225 and 196. Everyone is asking him what all those L's mean. Jim (Yogi Bear) McGuirk rolled his high series of the league with an 834 series. Jim rolled games of 221-224-197 and 192.

BOB ARING from Crocker Bank led the Westlake Merchants on games of 200-226 and 175 for a 601 series. Leading lady was Bonnie Walsh with a 474 series on a fine 196 game. Series of 600 or more are appearing more frequently this summer.

Bill Beili rolled 646 in the Northgate Mixed Fives on games of 244-201-201. Another Northgate Bowler to hit 600 was Paul Barkley on his games of 201-184 and 226 for 611.

Minister Views Worship As Delinquency Deterrent

Dale Dani of Broadmoor advocates family worship as a deterrent against juvenile delinquency. Dani, his wife, Sandra, and their two children will be delegates to a four-day district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in San Jose, July 13-16.

Dani is one minister concerned about juvenile delinquency and recommends such meetings as a means of combatting the increase in crime among youngsters.

He also stresses family worship as the strongest weapon against indifference among juveniles toward God and their responsibilities to their fellow man.

In urging parents to set a good example for children to follow, Dani quoted Dr. Angelo Patri from the book, "How to Help Your Child Grow Up": "Parents have to discipline themselves, make good models, set good patterns for children. 'You cannot teach religion to a child unless you possess it in your mind and soul and practice it while you live out your days beside him... if you have not kept faith with your religion, it is idle for you to send him for religious instruction.'"

Dani said family worship is more than "taking your children to church, or worse, sending them." He says it is a matter of each member of the family understanding and appreciating a proper relationship with God and how it can be maintained.

"Good discipline is teaching a child what is expected of him," Dani said.

"It means setting down rules and regulations he will follow. Children need a clear-cut, unconfused picture of the rules you expect them to keep. It is necessary that these rules have a strong foundation such as the Bible," he said.

Dani suggested stronger laws and tougher enforcement are not the answer to juvenile delinquency. He said such delinquency is the result of the breakdown in morals among adults. He also pointed to the changing views the world has adopted on moral values.

"I recently read an article by Dr. Benjamin Spock," he said. "On the subject of punishment he said, 'Punishment is the substitute, emergency method when the regular system of discipline breaks down. Even then punishment doesn't do much good unless there is sound character underneath and a loving relationship, as all the cases of habitual criminals prove. Good discipline is mainly based on mutual love and respect. In childhood it has to be reinforced with teaching, firmness and reminders.'"

Dani said conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses are a regular part of their educational program and are designed for all members of the family.

Broadmoor Guest Pastor

The Rev. Hansel Stenbridge will be the guest speaker this Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 — 87th Street, Daly City.

He will preach at the 10 a.m. service on the subject, "If I Lose My Life."

Dr. Stenbridge will return to speak at his own church the neighboring Westlake Community Baptist Church, for the 11 a.m. service.

Special music at the local church will be a solo by Barbara Greeno, "Once to every man a nation." This solo is appropriate for the Independence Day weekend. Jack Harber, director-organist will play at the service.

Infant care is provided during the service as is Sunday School during the summer for ages through the sixth grade.

Last Meeting At Olivet

Peninsula Church of Christ held its last service in Olivet Chapel, Colma, June 25.

Plans are being made to buy a building in San Bruno, at West Angus and Masson, but occupancy date is yet uncertain.

Phone Pastor Walter Stram (355-4437) for information, until exact announcements can be published.

Honeymooning in the Hawaiian Islands before returning to live in Daly City are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lyle Podesta. The couple was married recently at Holy Angels Church in Colma and received felicitations at the Peninsula Social Club in San Mateo. The bride is the former Sharon Anne Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Freeman of Daly City. Wayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Podesta of (Fireside Studio)

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas and Carmel, the Thomas Creighton Meusers (Jane O'Dea Cook) will be at home in Daly City. They were married recently at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Sacramento. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Longshore Cook of Sacramento; her husband is the son of Mrs. William E. Meuser Jr. and the late Mr. Meuser.

Communion Set At Westside Baptist Church

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at Westside Baptist Church, San Bruno, July 2.

Pastor A. David Donnelly will deliver communion devotional, "A Big Little Word."

Special music will be provided by the adult choir under the direction of Alton K. Swedberg.

At this service, the right hand of church fellowship will be extended to Mrs. Carl Fogelstrom, Michael McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. Per Hillerstrom, Marian and Roger.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers, and Primary Church service for kindergarten through second grade children will be conducted during the last half of the adult worship hour.

At 9:45 a.m., 13 age-graded, Bible-centered classes will meet in the Sunday church school hour. During this class period, Pastor Donnelly will conduct a church membership orientation class for youth and adults.

Echoes from Girls' Camp at the Western Camp of Mission Springs will be heard at the 7 p.m. Sunday Family Fellowship Gospel Hour.

Four Junior girls will tell of their camp experiences. Pastor Donnelly will speak at this service on the topic, "Famous Last Words." Following this service, the adult choir will practice.

There will not be any Girls' Missionary Guild meeting in July and August.

At 7:45 p.m., today Pray and Bible Study Hour will meet at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno.

Pastor Donnelly will lead a verse-by-verse study of the Book of I Thessalonians.

Westside Baptist Church holds their Sunday services at 2322 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno. The church is affiliated with the Baptist General Conference.

Heat Lightning Drink's a Cooler

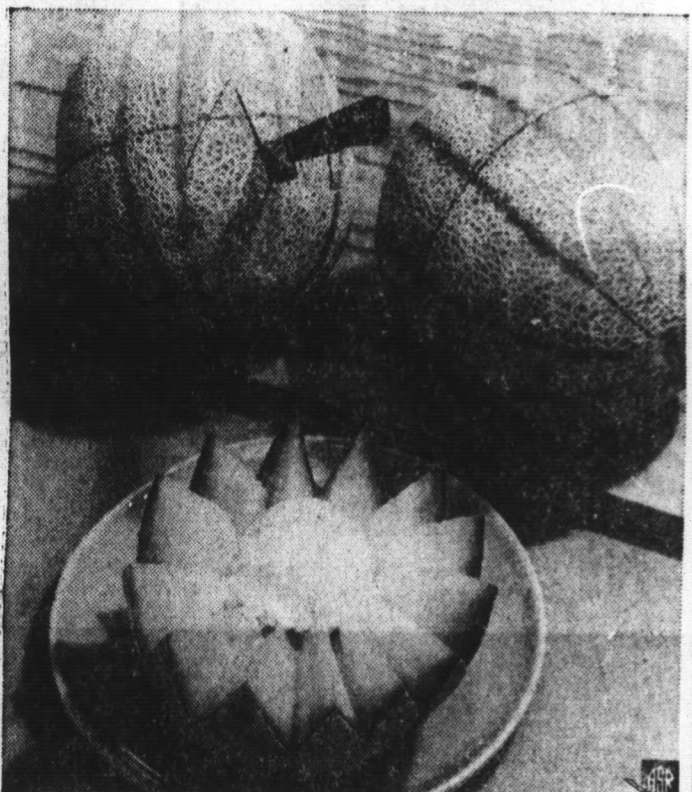

Streak into favor with friends this summer when you serve "Heat Lightning", refreshers, a dramatic combination of ice cream, quick chocolate-flavored mix and milk. First aid for the hot and thirsty was never achieved in such simple fashion as with drinks made with quick chocolate-flavored mix and milk. The mix stirs into milk and blends instantly. No beaters are necessary. Keep a box of quick chocolate-flavored mix on the shelf for a shortcut to nourishing coolers for summer.

"Heat Lightning"

For each serving, put scoop of vanilla ice cream in 12-ounce glass. Sprinkle with 1 heaping teaspoon quick chocolate-flavored mix. Repeat until glass is $\frac{3}{4}$ full. To serve, add milk to fill glass. Stir gently. Add whipped topping if desired. Eat with spoon.

Cut Your Melon With a Difference

It's how you cut a melon that makes the difference. The attractive serrated half-of-a-cantaloupe is easy to do. Sketch a light pencil line around the center of the melon. With a sharp knife make triangle cuts which fall just above and below this line. Then pull the halves apart.

If you are to enjoy a delicious western cantaloupe, here is what you look for at the market. California vine ripened, sweet cantaloupes have a smooth indentation at the stem end with a heavy, cork-like net covering a beige background surface.

Western cantaloupes are in the markets from June through September.

The melon half is also supplying you with vitamins A and C and adding only 40 calories.

This delicious fruit-of-the-vine can be enjoyed morning, noon, night, and snack time, too. The seed cavity can be filled with ice cream, sherbet, berries, pudding, cereal, yogurt, or cottage cheese.

Summer Snowballs, Caribbean Sauce

When summer comes, can snowballs be far behind? This cool classic—Snowballs with Caribbean Sauce—makes a spectacular dessert for teen parties, bridal showers, or Saturday night company dinners.

They're simple to make, and they'll simply melt in your mouth! Just roll balls of vanilla, coffee, chocolate, or any of your favorite ice cream flavors in crisp flaked coconut, and freeze. At serving time, spoon over delectable Caribbean Sauce made with rich, unsulphured molasses. This fine mellow molasses has been produced since Colonial days from the pure, concentrated juice of sugar cane grown in the sunny islands of the West Indies, giving it exotic, tropical flavor.

Go native—escape with this dessert all summer long!

Snowballs With Caribbean Sauce

1 can (3 $\frac{1}{2}$ ounces) flaked coconut
1 quart vanilla, coffee or chocolate ice cream
Spread coconut in small shallow pan. Scoop ice cream into 8 balls and roll in coconut. Transfer to foil-lined shallow pan; freeze.

Caribbean Sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup unsulphured molasses optional
Melt butter in saucepan; add sugar and molasses. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in evaporated milk and rum flavoring. Serve warm or cold over snowballs.
YIELD: 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sauce.

Popular cube steaks cut from tender California beef take on an international flavor in this delicious main dish. Cube steaks usually weigh about 5 ounces — just the right size for an individual serving. Brown the steaks quickly, then wrap around a tasty corn filling accented with green chili and cheese. A spicy tomato sauce goes on over all and the whole thing goes into the oven for a quick bake. Serve with crisp tortillas and a mixed garden salad.

Minute Steak Rolls Mexican

6 beef cube steaks 2 tablespoons chopped green chili
Salt
Pepper 1 cup grated American cheese
1 tablespoon cooking oil 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
1 (12-ounce) can whole kernel corn 1 teaspoon chili powder

Season steaks with salt and pepper; brown both sides quickly in hot oil. Combine corn with green chili, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 cup cheese. Spoon 1/6 of mixture on center of each steak; roll to enclose filling and place in shallow baking dish. Cover with tomato sauce mixed with chili powder and remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Refreshingly Good Salad Is Molded

This salad beauty is refreshingly good — and a breeze to prepare. Apricots provide gay color contrast and a tempting flavor accent for the lime gelatin base, made creamy smooth and a delicate seafoam green with double-rich evaporated milk. Creamed cottage cheese, celery and pecans are stirred in for total good eating.

Apricot Lime Salad

1 can (1 lb.) whole peeled apricots 2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime flavored cheese 1 cup creamed cottage cheese gelatin 1/2 cup diced celery
1 cup evaporated milk 1/2 cup chopped pecans

Drain apricots, saving syrup. Cut apricots in half, discarding pits. Place 6 halves on bottom of a lightly oiled 5-cup ring mold. Cut up remaining halves and set aside. Measure apricot syrup, then add water to make 1 cup liquid. Heat over low heat to boiling. Pour over lime gelatin in a medium size mixing bowl; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool. Gradually stir evaporated milk into cooled gelatin, then stir in lemon juice. (Mixture may look curdled, but this does not affect finished salad.) Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, stirring occasionally to keep smooth. Fold in cottage cheese, celery, pecans and apricot pieces. Spoon mixture carefully over apricots in ring mold. Chill until set, 3 to 4 hours. Makes 8 servings.

Crunchy Muncher For the Roadside

Crisp to the bite, refreshing Roadside Relish Sticks have a haunting flavor that make them especially good accompaniments to picnic fare like bunwiches, hamburgers and hot dogs. It's the subtle seasonings of bottled Italian-style dressing that makes them such interesting, crunchy treats. To prepare Roadside Relish Sticks, peel fresh cucumbers. Cut in lengthwise sticks. Place in a quart jar; cover with Italian-style dressing; close jar. Marinate in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Carry in jar to picnic spot to add an extra-special touch to the outing.

PLANT OF THE WEEK is a new lily, displayed at the June meeting of the California Horticultural Society. Shown is a Nepalese seedling not yet ready for distribution. This lily was part of a large collection shipped to San Francisco for this meeting.

New Lilies Are Plant of the Week

Two new lilies, part of a collection of 30 or more from the Jan De Graaff Oregon Bulb Farms displayed at last Monday evening's California Horticultural Society meeting, is The Post Plant of the Week. De Graaff, speaker of the evening, also used slides and a movie to bring Horticultural Society members up-to-date on lily culture and breeding.

Stardust is a large flower, fully six inches across, and of a lovely pure white color, with an orange-yellow star and small green center. The buds are pink. The light pink stamens turn to light orange and are thrust well forward of the flowers. Strong stems support the well-formed flower head, made up of an abundance of these flowers. Height ranges from 3 1/2 to five feet, depending upon soil, location and culture. Flowering time is July-August.

The second lily is a Nepalese seedling which De Graaff has not yet released. It is marked improvement over existing Nepalese varieties now available in both size of the flower and length of stem. In the breeding process De Graaff has managed to keep the emerald-green coloring of the recurved, pendant flowers with their eggplant-purple center blotch. This is truly a spectacular and unusual lily. It created a great deal of interest at the meeting.

Stardust is a hybrid of L. Henry and a member of the group of hybrids with flat-opening, flaring, Sunburst-type flowers. The flowers in this group are of unusual texture and substance and are suitable for either garden or cut flower work.

Lilium nepalense, from which our second lily was bred, is a species native to Northern India. It emerges late and seems to prefer a very well-drained, yet moist location with deep porous soil that permits the stems to wander. This lily has been known to throw out a stem that wanders as much as two feet under the surface before it comes up. This makes this lily a problem to grow in the modern row-crop system and this feature is one of the reasons De Graaff is trying for a hybrid that will stay in one place.

De Graaff told of the experiments in planting that his firm had done. One was to plant a number of test plots the last week of March with various varieties of lilies covering practically all the varieties grown by his firm. These lilies flowered at the normal flowering season and the flowers were of good quality and when the bulbs were lifted late in the fall, the bulbs were of fine size, well-filled and plump.

Another trial his firm made was to pot a number of popular varieties successively on March 1, April 1, May 1, June 1, and July 1. The bulbs for this experiment had been held all that time in damp peat moss, in plastic bags, stored in an air-conditioned warehouse at 34 degrees. A good soil mixture was used and the bulbs were planted in all types of pots, aluminum, clay, metal and fibre in all shapes and sizes. The lilies flowered well and uniformly. The quality of the flowers were satisfactory and much of the material was used in flower shows with great success. Even the smallest containers, little pots hardly big enough to hold a bulb, gave good results.

The secret of this test was that the plants were watered and fed at regular intervals, with a fish emulsion of good analysis.

Church Sponsors Booth

The young people of Bethlehem Lutheran Church will sponsor a fireworks sale this week at Reina Del Mar and Coast Highway 1 in the Vallejo district of Pacifica. The stand will be opened from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., June 28-July 4.

Profits from the fireworks sale will be used to pay for various youth projects and to send representatives to district and national youth conventions of the Lutheran Church.

Sugar 'n Spice July 4th Cookies

Nell Norton

Greetings good cooks. What are your plans to celebrate the Fourth of July?

Going out of town for a picnic?

Staying in town for a picnic?

Whatever your plans, I'm sure that some homemade cakes or cookies would add to the party.

EACH of these recipes has raisins as a main ingredient, which doesn't hurt many feelings, since raisins are a great favorite.

I've done a little research about this delicious and most convenient fruit.

RAISIN: dried fruit of certain varieties of grapes bearing grapes with a high content of sugar and solid flesh. Grapes have been dried for out-of-season consumption from ancient times and were early important in Mediterranean trade.

Spain, Asia Minor, and Greece were long the centers of cultivation, but in the 20th century Australia also became an important producer and California became the leading producer. Raisin production was introduced in California by Spanish missionaries in the late 18th Century.

Raisins are valuable nutritionally because of their sugar, mineral (especially iron) and vitamin (B and A) content.

And — though it didn't mention this in the encyclopedia — because they taste so good.

THIS first recipe is one that I had in the column a few years ago and will get requests for copies. So here, for all you good cooks who lost it, is the recipe for Mrs. Jack Marinkovich's Raisin Cake.

- RAISIN CAKE
- 1 cup raisins
 - 1 1/4 cups water
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 tablespoon butter
 - 1 tablespoon cocoa

Combine the one cup raisins with the one and one-fourth cup water, one cup sugar, one tablespoon butter and one tablespoon cocoa — in saucepan. Bring to a boil (until butter melts) then remove from heat and set aside to cool.

- 2 cups flour
- Pinch of salt
 - 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 3/4 teaspoon baking soda

Sift together the two cups flour, salt, three-fourths teas. baking powder, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon nutmeg and three-fourths teaspoon soda. Combine with the cooled raisin mixture and pour into greased and floured loaf pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes.

- FROSTING
- 1 cup powdered sugar
 - 1/4 cube butter, melted
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine the one-fourth cube of butter, melted with the one cup powdered sugar and half teaspoon vanilla. Add enough milk or cream to spread well. This makes enough to frost the top of one loaf cake.

- RAISIN SQUARES
- 1 cup raisins
 - One-third cup shortening
 - Two-thirds cup brown sugar (packed)
 - 2 tablespoons molasses
 - 1 egg
 - 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon soda
 - 3/4 cup quick-cooking oats

Rinse the one cup raisins and drain. Melt the one-third cup shortening in small saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in the two-thirds cup sugar and two tablespoons molasses. Add the unbeaten egg and blend thoroughly. Sift together the one-half cup flour, one-fourth teaspoons each salt and soda. Add flour mixture, three-fourths cup oats and drained raisins to the first mixture and mix well.

Turn into greased eight-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350-degrees) about 25 minutes. Cool and cut into squares. Makes 16 two-inch squares.

My family loved these raisin squares. I sprinkled powdered sugar over the cookies before cutting them in smaller squares. They are very rich.

THIS last recipe is a favorite from way back with me. My friend Mrs. Louise Ledwick who lives at 341 Monroe Dr., Palo Alto, gave it to me years ago.

These cupcakes are easy to mix and fix. The result of your mixing and fixing are cupcakes that need no frosting and are most delicious.

- LOUISE'S CUP CAKES
- One-third cup shortening
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 egg, well beaten
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 cup raisins
- Cream the one-third cup shortening, and one cup of sugar together. Add the well beaten egg. Sift the one and one-half cups flour with the three teaspoons baking powder and add to the creamed mixture alternately with the one-half cup milk. Add the one-half teaspoon vanilla and the one cup of raisins. (The raisins should be rinsed, dried and floured).
- Bake in cup cake pans greased and floured — or lined with papers, in 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

Club Staff Seated For Second Term

Installation ceremonies for the 1967-68 officers of the Rake Hoe and Spade Garden Club, a member of Bay Ocean District of California Garden Clubs, Inc. were held at a luncheon at the Villa Chartier on Friday, June 16.

Installed for second terms of office were: Mrs. Dominic Dagan, president and Mrs. Howard Wenrich, vice president. New officers installed were Mrs. Viggo J. Knudsen, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary Hutchinson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Bartholomew, treasurer.

Mrs. Philo Leonard of Hillsborough, assistant Director of Bay Ocean District Garden Clubs served as installing officer. Mrs. Leonard gave each of the new officers, except the president, a half dozen blooms to place in an arrangement as part of the installing ceremony. The president, installed last, was presented with the completed bouquet.

Mrs. Melvin Moore and Mrs. Wenrich were chairmen of the luncheon. Guests were: Mrs. J. J. Gallagher, past president of California Garden Clubs; Mrs. Vera Gough of San Mateo; Mrs. Erick J. Silva of Palo Alto and Iva Newman, garden editor of The Times. The newly installed president announced that the Rake Hoe and Spade Club had just bought a 'Penny Pines Plantation', the eleventh Plantation for this club.

Course For Nurserymen At Cal Poly

Four members of the Peninsula Chapter, California Association of Nurserymen attended the nineteenth annual Nurserymen's Refresher Course held at Cal Poly College, San Luis Obispo. Attending were: John Chiapellone, Burlingame Garden Center, president of the Peninsula Chapter; Jack Christensen, Christensen Nursery Company, vice president of the chapter; Bob McKeand and Henry Zepe-da, Neil A. MacLean Company, Belmont.

Theme of the two-day program, "Freshen Up" was selected by the 1967 host Inland Empire chapter of the Ontario-San Bernardino-Riverside area. Each year one of the CAN's 15 statewide chapters serves as host for the back-to-school event.

The nurserymen participated in workshops on landscape installation and maintenance, the uses and effectiveness of systemic-type insecticides, and advertising. Speakers and workshops were designed to provide ideas for the individual nurseryman to utilize in freshening-up all aspects of his particular nursery operation.

The nurserymen-students visited a Trade Fair which is held in conjunction with the Refresher Course, and discussed with exhibitors the improvements made in products and investigated newly introduced products and merchandise.

Dr. Robert Kennedy, recently appointed president of the college, welcomed the nurserymen to Cal Poly at the opening session of the program. The college bestows a "bachelor of garden science" diploma to those who have attended four previous Cal Poly programs. Recognition is also given to 10- and 15-year enrollees.

The Newest Trend in Area Is a Mobile Plant Garden

By IVA NEWMAN

"If the sun is in your eyes, I'll move the tree a bit." Oh yes, it is possible, especially if this gracious hostess has her patio plants growing in large containers, a "mobile" garden that can be re-arranged at will. This is the latest in patio living from the landscape experts of the American Association of Nurserymen.

Every patio or large paved area can be given new life and beauty by the addition of several small trees or shrubs growing in containers. When these containers are equipped with casters or plant caddies, a completely new garden setting can be arranged in minutes before the dinner guests arrive. And, if the youngsters are so inclined, they can roll back the shrubs for dancing.

Containers for the mobile garden pots and those made of artificial stone which are readily available from retail nurseries and garden supply stores. Special containers can be created out of cement, brick facing or any number of materials to comply with the design of the patio and house or for the specific plants that they are to hold.

Wooden containers should be treated on the inside and bottom with a wood preservative that will not harm the roots of the plants. All containers must have several drainage holes in the bottom. Also, if the pots are not on casters, they should be raised off the ground or patio surface by placing the edge of the pots on bricks or blocks or wood to assure good drainage and allow for air circulation.

There are many plants that grow exceptionally well in containers and these are ideal for the mobile garden. Over the years, nurserymen have developed a complete selection of woody plants for container growing. These include small trees, evergreen and flowering shrubs, and even some plants that are rarely seen in the outdoor garden. In addition the bonsai enthusiasts have shown us how to grow a number of plants, long thought impossible to keep alive in a container.

Soil Important

Since the roots of container plants will be restricted to a small area, the soil should be given much consideration. When professionals plant trees and shrubs in a container, they first put in a layer of drainage material (gravel, broken flower pot pieces or cinders). I have found pieces of broken flower pots serve me best. We use pieces larger than the holes in the bottom of the container and lay them on top of the holes. The first bit of soil or growing medium is put in very carefully so as to not dislodge these hole covers. We have also found that it pays to place an aluminum screen (the kind that is used on screen doors) over the holes before the pot pieces are placed. The bits of screen prevent such pests as ants, earwigs and slugs from crawling in the holes to nest in the pots.

Most nurserymen, growers and experienced homeowners have ceased to use garden soil in containers as the humus material in the mix gets used up decreasing air circulation around the roots and making watering a more difficult job. Since the advent of the U.C. Mix, a scientific mixture using sawdust as a base with nutrients added, for a planting medium for container plants. Some of the large pot plant growers make this up on a large scale, bag it and sell it. The Pacific Nurseries, Colma, a wholesale nursery, makes this mix up in such large quantities that the pile resembles a small hill.

Plants grown in U.C. Mix will need more frequent fertilizing, unless you use one of the plastic-coated, slow-release fertilizers. These new fertilizers will keep the plant well fed for close to three or four months, a little less than stated on the package, while ordinary liquid fertilizers such as fish emulsion must be given at weekly intervals. However, some of the Country Farm Advisors who have tested a variety of fertilizers on container plants, state that most plants give their finest performance when given the weekly liquid plant food.

Insurance Man Wins Recognition

Michael Beazian of Daly City has earned recognition by selling and serving more than $1 million of insurance during 1966. Beazian, special agent for the Hammond & Associates agency of the Prudential Insurance Co., at Stonestown was honored for his sales achievements at the company's national business conference.

According to Sutton Hammond, agency manager, selling more than a million dollars of insurance within a 12-month period is one of the industry's outstanding achievements. Beazian was among the top one percent in sales among all company agents in the 13 western states, Hammond said.

Beazian has been associated with Prudential here for the past seven years. Beazian also is a member of the coveted The Million-Dollar Round Table, a world-wide group than less than 2 per cent of all insurance men in all companies can qualify for.

This is fourth consecutive year of membership in The Round Table for Beazian. He and his wife Sue and their daughter Lee Ann reside at 274 Verano Drive.

COOKING SCHOOL

FT. ORD, Calif. — Army Private Dennis L. Main, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Main, 1195 Vermont Way, San Bruno, completed a cooking course at Ft. Ord, June 2.

During the eight-week course, he was trained in cake and pastry baking, meat cutting, and learned to prepare and serve food in Army mess halls and in the field.

MICHAEL BEAZIAN

Glue Blaze In Pacifica

Three Pacifica youngsters learned something about airplane glue Sunday — it burns.

And this lesson amounted, according to firemen, to about $1,000 the estimated price of replacing a counter-top range, kitchen cabinet, range-hood and to repaint much of the apartment.

Firemen said that two sons, age 13 and 12, and a daughter, 7, of James Schomeri of No. 4 Acacia Court were playing a game while the babysitting father worked on a project downstairs.

The plastic base of the game was broken, so the youngsters decided to repair it, using the airplane glue.

In an effort to speed the job, they decided to dry it by turning the electric range burner onto high.

While the drying process was taking place the children apparently went downstairs and the glue ignited the fire.

Pre-School Expansion Is Approved

Expansion of the Jefferson Elementary School District's pre-kindergarten program for deprived children was approved last week by district trustees in Daly City.

In addition to the three classes initiated this past year at the M. Pauline Brown School, two more classes are planned, probably at the same school, although trustees took no action on a location.

The program is financed out of state and federal funds.

The board also approved continuation of Colma School's pilot judo program, which was launched this year, as well as the district's remedial reading program.

No action on the district's budget was taken. District Supt. Frank Greenwood had recommended approval of the previously submitted budget, except for teacher salaries.

SOUTH S.F. GROUP

Hikers Ready Again

South San Francisco's William Osten and his Peninsula Youth Hiking and Bicycling Club are ready to swing into action again this summer.

Osten, an advocate of the outdoor life, says that anyone interested in his group can write to him at P.O. Box 2024, South San Francisco, for information about youth hostels and general outdoor activities.

Osten further explains: When writing to the Peninsula Youth H&B Club — merely advise the age of the person interested to join — taking into consideration that no one under 16, on an individual membership basis, can be accepted.

This minimum age had to be established, as all participants of outings, whether for one day, a weekend or an extended holiday weekend must be able to "stand on their own feet" and be able to actively participate in any of the planned activities, based on their own decisions.

Some of the planned activities for the near future are:

- (1) One day hikes into the Huddart Park area;
- (2) One-day outings, hiking up Mt. Diablo or Mt. Tamalpais;
- (3) A Labor-Day weekend, climbing Mt. Lassen in Lassen Volcanic National Park

(starting elevation approx. 8,200 feet—top 10,457 feet).

Plans are also under way to conduct a swimming trip combined with overnight camping at the Big Sur campground, on State 1, South of Monterey; as well as a July 4th weekend (leaving this area on Friday evening and returning Tuesday late afternoon) into the Mineral Spring area and a back-pack camping trip over Timber Gap into Sequoia National Park or from Kings Canyon Natl. Park's Zumwalt Meadows into the Bubbs Creek area.

Membership is minimal — trip costs include round-trip transportation, food and park admission (as may be required); those who drive will receive reimbursement for every passenger they take along at the rate of 2¢ per mile.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent Boston heart specialist, who has been Honorary President of the AYH since 1961, although nearing 80 years of age, still participates every summer in 3-week bicycle trips through New England — and Dr. White states — that "every American — whether man, woman or child — should bicycle at least four miles every day or hike about six miles every day. Leg exercise is what pumps the blood into your heart and that type of exercise will prevent thromboses or other heart ailments."

Judge Rejects Delay In Garbage Ruling

Brisbane won another battle last week in its war against the garbage dumpers, but the final outcome is still in doubt.

Superior Judge C. Harold Underwood said the injunction he will issue within the next few days against use of the Sierra Point dump site will take effect within 30 days of its issuance.

Charles E. Hanger, lawyer for Sanitary Fill Co., said, however, that he will file an appeal as soon as the injunction is issued and will ask that his clients be allowed to continue using the dump while the appeal is being processed.

Caspar Weinberger, special counsel for Brisbane who successfully fought against Hanger's attempt to get the extension from Judge Underwood, said he will continue to oppose any delay in closing the dump when the case is taken up on appeal.

At a hearing, Weinberger told Judge Underwood it could take as long as two years for the appeal to be processed. In the meantime, he pointed out, the bay dump site is being filled with 1,500 tons of garbage daily.

If dumping is allowed to continue during appeal, the lawyer said, after two years "a large portion of the site will be filled and the entire matter will have been rendered moot."

Allowing the scavengers to continue to use the site, Weinberger said, "would be securing to a losing litigant the fruits of a victory he did not earn."

The purpose of the hearing was to settle some differences of opinion among opposing counsel as to the language of the judgment as it reflects the evidence in the case. The wording is especially important because of the certainty that there will be a review by a higher court or courts.

Weinberger, as the winning lawyer, submitted proposed "findings of fact and conclusions of law." Hanger filed objections and, after arguments yesterday, Judge Underwood took the matter under submission and said he will issue the judgment and conclude the case as soon as possible.

Hanger suggested that the judgment not be effective until a "final determination of the rights of the parties by appellate courts or otherwise." Weinberger argued, however, that law does not permit a delay beyond 30 days, and Judge Underwood agreed.

Weinberger pointed out that it has been 21 months since the residents of Brisbane passed an initiative ordinance banning garbage dumping in the town, seven months since "San Francisco literally forced its way into Sierra Point," five months since trial was held and 10 weeks since Judge Underwood announced that he would issue an injunction against further use of the dump.

Thaw Urged In License Shifts

County Supervisor Robert St. Clair, who is an expert on the ownership of a San Francisco liquor business by virtue of his bottle shop, has persuaded his fellow supervisors to support legislation that would remove the freeze on inter-county transfer of package store licenses.

St. Clair explained his purpose was to "help the business climate of San Mateo County." If the bill goes through, he said, the county will get 25 new off-sale licenses in the first year.

St. Clair told the board that San Francisco has too many licenses, more than the market can support, while San Mateo County has too few. He said, licenses go begging in San Francisco for $6,000 but are sold for as much as $35,000 in San Mateo County.

State Senator Richard J. Dowig is one of the sponsors of the legislation, Senate Bill 767. It carries an urgency clause which would put its provisions into effect immediately.

The bill deletes the prohibition against transfer of off-sale licenses from one county to another but specifies conditions under which transfers may be made. It also limits the purchase price to $10,000.

Wild Chase D.C. Police Arrest Pair

A police chase that went round-and-round the Vista Grande section of Daly City early Monday morning ended with the arrest of two men on charges ranging from speeding to assault with a deadly weapon. The chase started shortly after 5 a.m. when Officer James

Board Concur In D.C. Request

County Supervisors have concurred in a request from Daly City that the state division of highways be asked to review traffic conditions at the intersection of Skyline and Alemany Boulevards and Thornton Beach Road, although Commission Chairman Jean Fassler commented, "Of all the areas I have traveled, this is one of the least congested."

Barron tried to pull over a car which had allegedly violated the vehicle code.

Instead of stopping, the vehicle sped up and began whipping around corners and up darkened streets of the Vista Grande tract with the patrol car following close behind.

Before the chase ended, five police cars were called to the scene to assist in the capture.

Officer Dennis Pennatore swerved his patrol car across an intersection ahead of the car pursued, but the driver attempted to run through the blockade. He didn't make it and crashed into an obstruction on the side of the road.

Arrested was Monica Romero, 22, of 859 Niantic Street, Daly City, and Thomas Rivera, 23, of 26 Bosworth Street, San Francisco.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO QUITCLAIM INTEREST IN CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY
TO THE CITY OF SAN MATEO

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at its meeting of JUNE 20, 1967, the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, No. 23995, entitled "RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO QUITCLAIM INTEREST IN CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY TO THE CITY OF SAN MATEO AND FURTHER PROVIDING FOR GIVING NOTICE OF SAID INTENDED ACTION."

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that a public meeting shall be held by said Board on the 11th day of JULY, 1967, at the hour of 10:00 A.M., at the Chambers of said Board at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, at which public meeting the Board shall consider the intended action, and hear all persons interested in said conveyance of real property.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that upon the Board's approval of the intended action the Board will authorize the execution of a Quitclaim Deed of real property to the CITY OF SAN MATEO and will direct the Chairman of said Board to execute said Quitclaim Deed and deliver the same to the County Engineer for transmittal to the CITY OF SAN MATEO.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, that said interest in real property is situated in the CITY OF SAN MATEO, COUNTY OF SAN MATEO, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, and is more particularly described as follows:
ALL that portion of that certain easement for street purposes conveyed to the County of San Mateo by the California Jockey Club, a Corporation, by Deed dated July 9, 1951, and recorded October 31, 1951, in Volume 2132 of Official Records at Page 213, Records of San Mateo County (Serial No. 68814-1) lying within the bounds of that certain parcel conveyed to Ray T. N. County Deaths

MABEL A. WILLIAMS

Mabel Atsa Williams, a longtime San Mateo County resident, died June 19 at the age of 73.

A native of Quincy, Mass., she had lived in the county for 24 years. She resided at 720 Third Avenue, San Bruno.

She was a member of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars Auxiliary of San Bruno and the San Bruno Women's Club.

Survivors include three sons, Duane of San Bruno, Cliff of Los Altos and M. Keith of Poway, Calif.; two brothers, Bob Greenwood of Milwaukee, Wis., and Ernest Greenwood of Bismark, N.D.; and five grandchildren.

Services were last Thursday from the El Camino Funeral Chapel, with interment at Greenlawn Memorial Park.

ALMA I. CONTI

Alma Ines Conti, a resident of South San Francisco for 57 years, died June 19 at the age of 60.

A native of Italy she lived at 166 Hazelwood Drive in South San Francisco.

Survivors include her husband, Guido; a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Brown of Sunnyvale; her father, Marco Bezzeca of South San Francisco; two sisters, Mary Sutter of South San Francisco and Mrs. Lena Stone of South San Francisco; and two grandchildren.

A requiem mass was offered at St. Veronica's Catholic Church, South San Francisco, with entombment at Holy Cross Cemetery.

TIMOTHY J. DUNNE

Timothy J. Dunne of Pacifica died June 20 in Alameda at the age of 54.

He lived at 122 Hilton Lane, Pacifica.

A native Californian, he was a member of Teamsters Local 85.

A requiem mass was offered Friday at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica, with interment following at Holy Cross Cemetery.

FLOYD G. MICHAEL

Floyd Goddard Michael of Daly City died June 19 at the age of 46.

A native of Kansas, he lived at 342 Miriam Street.

Employed by the Otis Elevator Company for 20 years, he lived in San Mateo County for six years.

Survivors include his widow, Carolyn; four sons, James, Daniel, Raymond and Richard; three daughters, Sharon and Patricia Michael and Mrs. Marjorie Cayssais; his mother, Mrs. Lucy Michael.

He was a veteran of World War II and was a member of the International Union of Elevator Constructors, Local No. 8. Funeral services were held at the W.C. Lasswell & Co. Mortuary, with interment at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

MINNIE M. HODECK

Minnie Marie Hodeck, a Daly City resident for 53 years, died June 20 at the age of 80.

A native of Texas, she lived at 50 Woodrow Street, Daly City.

Survivors include a son, Lawrence E. Newby; four sisters, da O'Brien, an Madeline McCurdy.

Funeral services were held Friday at 9:45 a.m. at the W.C. Lasswell Mortuary. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Plaque For Westmoor's 'Mr. Pan'

Officers of the 1966-67 graduating class at Westmoor High School presented a special plaque for outstanding service to the student body to promoted Assistant Principal Thaas Panagoulas last week.

Panagoulas was a member of the original administrative staff at Westmoor, taking over the post of attendance supervisor and director of student activities when the school opened in 1956.

He was appointed assistant principal in 1960, and took over duties as head of the instructional division in 1964.

Go-Ahead For Shop Center

South San Francisco planning commissioners cleared the way for development of the long-delayed Westborough Square Shopping Center Monday after representatives of the Ted Connolly firm agreed to abandon plans for a service station in the ten-acre facility.

James Thompson, an agent for Connolly, agreed to delete the service station from plans at the commission's request. The Caesar-Callan firm, developer of Westborough, has applied for a use permit to construct a service station adjacent to the shopping center.

In addition to the requested use permit, planners granted a parking variance for the shopping center.

Developers said terrain at the Westborough site would make it difficult "and economically infeasible" to meet the city's C-1 (commercial) parking requirements.

Parking space indicated in the shopping center plans is adequate, city Planner Daniel Pass said, and would meet the city's requirements in any district except C-1.

The resolution approving the shopping center use permit contains a stipulation requiring improvements of public property in the area and completion of a proposed extension of Gellert Boulevard as a condition of compliance.

However, the Caesar-Callan firm, and not the shopping center developers, will be required to assure the improvements, according to City Attorney John Noonan.

The center, to be located at the northwest corner of Westborough Boulevard and Junipero Serra Freeway, is one of several developments in the subdivision held up by negotiations between the city and Caesar-Callan over city property in the planned community.

Councilmen approved a security arrangement worked out by the developers and Noonan last month, clearing the way for development of the shopping center and other projects in Westborough.

Scholarship Honors For 22 Students

Gold cords signifying life membership in the California Scholarship Federation were worn by 22 seniors in the Westmoor High School 1967 graduation class.

Recipients of the high honor received a special gold seal on their diplomas.

Life membership in the federation is accomplished by achieving membership at least four semesters during the last six semesters of high school.

Membership each semester is awarded to students who earn ten points under a system which awards three points for each "A" and one point for each "B" at semester's end.

development of the shopping center and other projects in Westborough.

Pistol Range Bids Refused

The Daly City council Monday night tossed out all bids for pistol range equipment at the new police department and ordered the staff to begin advertising for new bids on the project.

City Manager Edward Frank told the council only two bids had been received for the pistol range equipment "and this office has learned that equipment specified in the bid documents cannot be delivered within the time period allowed."

Both the city manager and attorney Albert Polonsky recommended the bids submitted by Weber Electric and Loyal Ingersall & Sons be rejected.

In other action Monday, the council:

... Tabled a request from Tronoff Engineers and Planners for a 50-day time extension for completion of work on the multi-million dollar Lakeview Park Subdivision in Daly City.

Uncommonly wet weather last spring was blamed for the delay in completing the scheduled work at the site and the city staff had recommended approval. However, the council voted to table the matter for further study.

... Approved a sue permit for construction of a car wash on a G-1 lot at the corner of Bayshore an MacDonald Avenue requested by the Standard Oil Company.

... Held over until a special adjourned meeting schedule for Thursday, Personnel Board recommendations for salary and fringe benefits during the coming year.

... Passed a resolution accepting improvements on Washington Street between Junipero Serra Boulevard and San Pedro Road.

The $26,977.55 project, paid for with gas tax funds, included installation of new watermain, storm drain facilities, curbs and gutters, sidewalks and full-depth asphalt concrete pavement for four travel lanes and two parking lanes.

... Accepted completion of improvement project on Southgate Avenue extension between Junipero Serra Boulevard and Cerro Drive by contractor Arthur "Buzz" Haskins.

The total contract amount for the project, which included grading of areas adjacent to Southgate Avenue, was $99,545.50. Suburban Realty developer of Serramonte Homes adjacent to the street — shared the costs ($30,850.11) with San Mateo County ($34,343.20) and Daly City ($34,343.19).

and because it is easier to read, your message gets more readers! Now The Times and Post Classified Pages are printed in an extremely legible type known as TRADE GOTHIC. You have probably noticed the change in The Times this week but we want you to know that TRADE GOTHIC is different and why it is better for your reading pleasure and comfort.

TRADE GOTHIC was scientifically designed by typographical experts. It is a type face styled specifically for use in modern classified pages. Because we believe our readers share our pride in producing truly fine newspapers, we know you are going to be as pleased with the new type look as we are.

Although The New Type Face is "easier to read," it will take the same number of lines to set an average ad.

Advertisers using large display type will note that there are more letters to the column width. Note below.

LINDA GARCIA, a Westmoor High School senior, will reign as queen of the annual Broadmoor Home-owners Association and Veterans of Foreign Wars Fourth of July Parade. The parade this year will begin at the intersection of 87th Street and Larchmont Drive, and proceed to Washington street and Bryant Street. Marching bands from throughout Northern California will participate, according to parade director A. L. Ickler.

Housewives Plead Guilty to Fraud

Three Pacifica housewives charged that she failed to report that her daughter, for whom she was receiving aid, was not living in the home for one month. Mrs. Lupe L. Fregoso, 44, of 1064 Skyline Drive, Daly City, was placed on probation for two years Tuesday and all but one day of a 91-day jail sentence was suspended. She had been found guilty of failure to report that she was living with a man, George Salcido, who was also arrested for failure to support his own child, who was receiving welfare aid in San Francisco. Mrs. Fregoso made restitution of $104 prior to sentencing. Mrs. Margaret Rose Baer, 23, of 1 East Fortlith Avenue, San Mateo, is scheduled to be sentenced July 17 on her plea of guilty to a charge that she failed to notify the welfare department that she was sharing her home with a man. An overpayment of $335 was alleged. Mrs. Gladys Gray, 35, of 2745 Illinois Street, East Palo Alto, is scheduled to appear Monday on charges that she failed to disclose that she was living with a man, resulting in an overpayment of $406.

Broadmoor Scout Awards

Members of Broadmoor Boy Scout Troop 84 held their final Court of Honor of the current school year last week, and mapped plans for the summer's activities. Highlighting the year-end ceremonies was the presentation of pins and awards to boys who have participated in Scouting activities during the past nine months. Receiving awards were Sam Garcia, Neal Prichard, Dave Sausjard, Richard Adams, Ed Silicani, Craig Price, Mike McBride, Mark Powers, Kevin Brake, Paul Cantwell, Mike Griffin, Rickey Sebben, Ron Swain, and Ted Valoria. Merit badges were presented to Jeff Harris, Rickey Sebben, Steve Rhefeld, Pat Griffin, Steve Harris and Craig Price. Making the presentations were Scouters Robert McBride, Dick Hadsall and Karl Ostberg.

Bruno Store Is Held Up

A pair of neatly-dressed gunmen held up the Tanforan Liquor Store, 992 El Camino Real, San Bruno shortly after midnight Saturday morning and escaped with an undetermined amount of money after accidentally triggering the burglar alarm. Police said the pair approached the liquor store employees Chester H. Dziedzic, of Millbrae, and Rico J. Torillo, of San Bruno, as they were getting into their cars in the parking lot after locking up the store. "Let's have your wallets and the store keys. We want you to turn off the (burglar) alarm and open the door," one of the gunman said. After forcing the two employees back inside the store, the gunmen grabbed the money from the cash register, accidentally tripping the burglar alarm in the process. The pair fled on foot before police arrived. Police described the men as 24 years old, about 6 feet tall, weighing 150 pounds and both neatly dressed — one with grey sports coat and grey trousers.

County Plans Stand

County supervisors agreed last week morning that because of "so many conflicting and opposing comments" the county should as soon as possible take a definite stand on the proposal of Westbay Community Associates to develop a giant area of tidelands between the San Francisco International airport and south of Coyote Point. The county board referred to its planning commission a letter from the Local Bayfront Task Group of the Regional Planning Committee asking for a "position statement" from the county board. "There has been so many conflicting and opposing comments on this project, I would like to know where we stand," Supervisor T. Louis Chess asserted. "Possibly we should refer it to the manager to pull everything together." County Planning Director Reino Liukkonen told supervisors that the county planning commission had taken no stand on the giant development because it has had no chance to review plans. "Let's face it," Chess asserted, "there are certain interests in this county that want no part of any bay fill. They have gone so far as to suggest double-decking of the Bayshore freeway, and the engineers will have no part of this. We should find the feeling of our planning commission." Supervisor Robert St. Clair said that the request from the Bay front group "goes hand in hand" with a proposal from the League of Women Voters that the county's master development plan be updated. Liukkonen noted, however, that study of the bay development would be only "one small part" of any revision of the master plan. In a letter to supervisors, Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City, chairman of the Local Bayfront Task Group, reported his group has held five meetings on the bay development and is now preparing "position statements" on the proposal. He said the city councils of Millbrae, Burlingame and San Mateo have also been asked for statements, and asked for a reaction from the county by Thursday, a task which supervisors agreed would be impossible. A great factor in the county's position, St. Clair indicated, will be on what future plans are for the San Francisco International Airport are.

Have the Neighbors Over for a Barbecue

Having the neighbors over for a barbecue and wish you could give them steak?

"Go ahead," urges Miss Martha Weber, home consultant for one of the country's leading makers of covered barbecue kettles and equipment, the Weber-Stephen Products Company. "It is simple, delicious and can be very economical."

Miss Weber maintains that the all-American favorite of tossed salad, baked potato and charcoal steak need not be a major investment, and, in fact, can be a regular feature for backyard guests.

"The proper barbecue equipment and a little planning can turn the average cookout into a smashing success," says Miss Weber. She recommends a covered barbecue kettle for it allows novice and gourmet chefs alike to prepare even economy steaks to perfection.

"All the props necessary for a lively barbecue party are a few lawn lights, outdoor tables and chairs, and music," Miss Weber states. "Then, let the guests make their own fun."

The food, she points out, is the most important ingredient in preparing for an all-American party.

Make a simple tossed salad of fresh lettuce and tomatoes to hold kitchen time to a minimum. Potatoes are even simple with aluminum foil and place in covered kettle one hour before serving.

"Select an economy steak," emphasizes Miss Weber. "It is not only less expensive than the traditional sirloin, T-bone or porterhouse, but can be flavorful, juicy, and tender if properly prepared."

Recommended is a modern covered kettle, which cooks with reflected heat. "The covered kettle enables you to prepare barbecued steak with juices and flavor sealed in," says Miss Weber. "Even well done steak stays tender and moist."

Select a dull red steak with streaks of fat running through the main portion and a good layer of firm white border. Ask for a steak two inches thick and plan on 3/4 pound per guest. Score border at two inch intervals but do not cut meat. This will keep steak from curling while it is cooking.

To tenderize sprinkle a name brand meat tenderizer evenly on all sides of meat, using one teaspoon per pound. Do not use salt. With long tined fork, pierce all sides at half-inch intervals and let stand while preparing you plan to serve your guests.

remove the cover of your barbecue kettle, open all dampers, and start fire. An even layer of charcoal briquettes on the lower grill will take one-half hour to reach the cooking stage.

When briquettes are grey, place foil wrapped potatoes around edge of upper grill, put cover on, and leave dampers wide open. At the time prescribed for beginning your steak, place steak on top of grill and leave dampers open. Remember, always cook with the cover on.

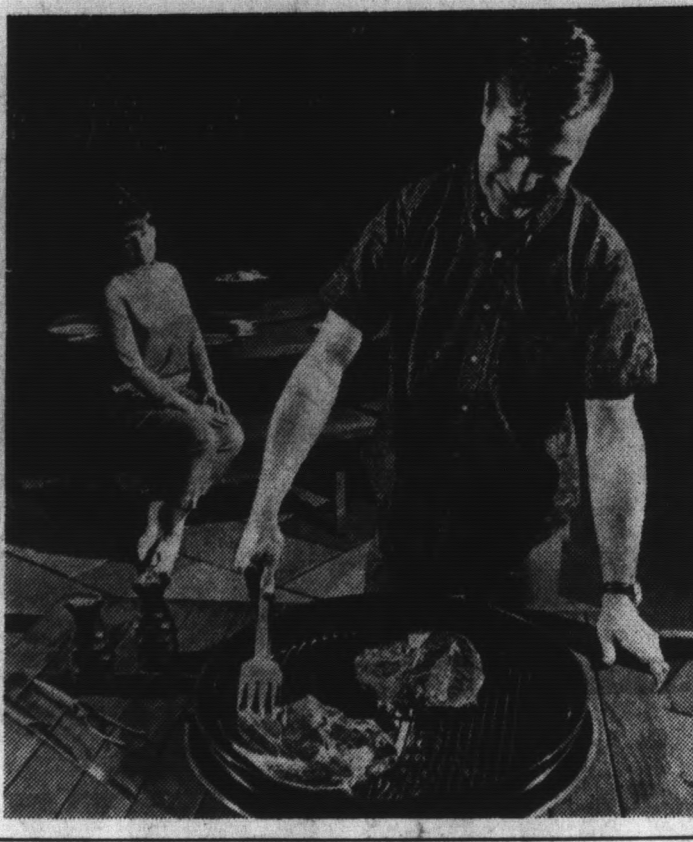

When turning steak, use a pair of tongs as this will avoid piercing the meat and letting juices escape. When finished cooking, replace cover and close all dampers. Your charcoal will go out and be ready for the next barbecue.

MARINADE

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup salad oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon celery salt

Milk, Cheese Vs. Gelatin

The proposition that all protein is just not so according to nutrition authorities. For example the protein found in gelatin is not as good a protein as for instance milk protein since it does not contain all the essential amino acids that go to make up complete protein. Milk and cottage cheese are far better protein sources since they contain excellent quality proteins as well as appreciable amounts of thiamine, riboflavin, calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins A and D.

Dairy sour cream dressings or one with a zesty, nutritious buttermilk base give a sophisticated touch to salads of all kinds.

Just Play It Cool During Hot Months

Summertime, and the living can be easy with judicious planning and intelligent use of refrigerator and freezer, homemakers are reminded by home economists of the Dairy Council of California at Sacramento.

With special emphasis on California's most important agricultural industry during the 29th anniversary of June Dairy Month, here are some suggestions to aid homemakers with vacation-time menus.

Lift ice cream out of the dessert category by serving it as a breakfast treat in egg-nogs as a cereal topping, for example. Cheddar cheese melted with just a bit of water and served on toast in a fine way to start the day right. Creamed chipped beef is an old standby that is often forgotten. With lazy summer days calling for informal luncheon and dining arrangements, cheeses will steal the show when a variety is simply presented on a platter "dressed" with tomatoes, celery and other salad vegetables. Flavored milk colors (easily prepared with milk from the refrigerator, ice cream from the freezer and any of the many fresh summer fruits) are a simple summer fillip for luncheon or dinner, or a nutritional as well as attractive snack.

Iced coffee topped with whipped cream is a taste tempter for appetites jaded by summer heat. Cottage cheese can

Grapefruit Sherbet Refresher

SHERBET REFRESHER
2 grapefruit
1/2 pint lemon sherbet

Halve grapefruit and remove fruit; drain. With kitchen scissors clip out membranes from grapefruit shells and zig-zag edges by making wide slanted cuts. Return fruit to shells; top with lemon sherbet; garnish with mint. Makes 4 servings. (Drink juice after draining fruit!)

Crunchy Parmesan Chicken

Nearly every homemaker has her own favorite chicken recipe. But, favorites have a way of wearing thin when they become too familiar. If you find yourself thinking, "same old chicken," you'll want to try Crunchy Parmesan Chicken.

Tender and juicy inside, crisp and golden outside, Crunchy Parmesan Chicken has great flavor extras. Before rolling in the zesty Parmesan cheese and cornflake crumb mixture, the chicken pieces are dipped in part of a can of cream of chicken soup and milk. While the chicken bakes, the remaining soup is combined with milk, honey, parsley, and soy sauce. The result? A creamy rich, chickeny good gravy with a flavor that's out of the ordinary.

Using condensed cream soups as gravies or sauces is a convenient shortcut. It not only saves you time, but also helps you create tempting, deliciously sauced dishes whose intricate preparations would otherwise prove prohibitive to the busy homemaker.

Put other shortcuts to work for you, too. For example, with your Crunchy Parmesan Chicken menu you may want to serve a strawberry shortcake. Simply spread whipped cream or dessert topping over round sponge cake layers, and top with fresh strawberries.

CRUNCHY PARMESAN CHICKEN
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
3/4 cup milk
1 cup cornflake crumbs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

2 pounds chicken parts
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon honey
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Mix one-third cup soup and 1/4 cup milk. Combine crumbs and cheese. Dip chicken in soup mixture; then roll in crumbs. Place in shallow baking dish (12x8x2"). Bake at 350 degree F. for 1 hour. Meanwhile, combine remaining soup, milk, soy, honey, and parsley. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

A HONEY OR A PINEAPPLE SAUCE combines 1 (1-pound 4 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple, undrained, with 1/2 pound miniature marshmallows, 1/4 cup honey and a dash salt. Heat, stirring, until marshmallows are melted. Cool and serve as a topping for a banana split.

Canned condensed cream of chicken soup gives extra flavor to Crunchy Parmesan Chicken. The remaining soup, plus milk, honey, and soy sauce make a creamy rich chicken gravy with out-of-the-ordinary flavor.

Surprise! Surprise! Nestled in the center of a new version of a devil's-food cake is delicate, pink strawberry ice cream. The cake's made in minutes from a mix, the center scooped out and the softened ice cream scooped in. The Borden Kitchen did give a hint of the surprise to come, though, by cloaking the cake in a pink frosting of heavy cream and sugar, then cresting it with plump fresh strawberries.

Heavenly Ice-Cream-Filled Cake

(Makes one 9-inch tube cake)

- 1 (1-lb. 2-1/2-oz.) package devil's-food cake mix
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream
- 1 quart Lady Borden strawberry ice cream
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons kirsch, optional
- 1-2 drops red food coloring

Prepare cake mix in a 9 x 3-1/2 inch square or round tube cake pan according to package directions. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 40-45 minutes. Cool. Remove from pan; cool thoroughly. Let ice cream soften about 15 minutes at room temperature. With a sharp knife, slice a 1-inch horizontal layer from top of cake. Carefully lift off and set aside. To make a tunnel for filling: cut around cake 1/2-inch in from center and 1/2-inch in from outer edge; leave a 1/2-inch base. With a fork, gently scoop cake out of tunnel. Carefully spoon softened ice cream evenly into cake shell. Replace layer cut from top; cover ice cream and press on gently. Place in freezer about 3 hours, or until ice cream is very firm. Remove from freezer 15 minutes before serving time. In a small-size mixing bowl, combine heavy cream, sugar, food coloring and kirsch. Beat just until stiff peaks form. Frost sides and top of cake. If desired, garnish with fresh strawberries. Serve immediately.

Molasses Chiffon Pie From Indies

West Indies Molasses Chiffon Pie combines the mellow, distinctive sweetness of unsulphured molasses with the refreshing tang of lemonade concentrate. The crust is made of crisp corn flake crumbs.

It's the aromatic touch of rich molasses that gives the chiffon filling its sophisticated flavor. Unsulphured gelatin and whipped evaporated milk provide the fluffy texture. For a dressy touch, garnish the top with a ring of whipped cream and chocolate curls or sprigs of fresh mint.

West Indies Molasses Chiffon Pie

Corn Flake Crust:

- 1 cup corn flake crumbs
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Measure corn flake crumbs, butter and sugar into a 9-inch pie pan. Place in 350°F. oven, 5 minutes. Remove from oven and mix thoroughly. Press against bottom and sides of pan. Chill.

Molasses Chiffon Filling:

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
- 1 cup water
- 3 ice cubes equivalent to 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (6 ounces) hard frozen lemonade concentrate
- 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
- 1 cup icy cold evaporated milk*

Sprinkle gelatine on 1 cup of water in a 2 1/2-quart saucepan to soften. Place over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in ice cubes, salt and molasses. Stir in concentrate. When the concentrate is melted, the mixture should be slightly thickened. Whip chilled evaporated milk in small bowl of electric mixer until soft peaks form, about 2 minutes. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into crumb crust; chill until firm.

YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

Thirst Quencher—A Grape Sparkler

When the thirsty family clusters around the kitchen door demanding something to drink, reach to your pantry shelf for a handy envelope of Twist Artificially Sweetened Imitation Grape-Mix. The grape flavor is new this year and sure to become a favorite of young and old alike. Make the "ade" just as directed on the envelope, or for something a bit different, combine grape-mix and lemonade mix with ginger ale in this recipe for Grape Sparkler.

Grape Sparkler

- 1 envelope artificially sweetened imitation grape-mix
- 1 envelope artificially sweetened imitation lemonade mix
- Water
- 3/4 tray (10 to 14) ice cubes
- 1 bottle (12 oz.) low calorie ginger ale, chilled

Empty mixes into a large pitcher or bowl. Add water to ice cubes to measure 1 1/2 quarts; add to mix. Stir until mix is dissolved. Add ginger ale and stir until blended. Add a few lemon slices, if desired. Serve in punch cups or tall glasses. Garnish with a twist of lemon peel, if desired. Makes 2 quarts or 16 servings in punch cups and 8 servings in tall glasses.

A Picnic Pudding For Two Couples

Nice for two couples at an outdoor supper.

- Fried Chicken Drumsticks
- Potato Salad
- Whole Tomatoes
- Picnic Pudding
- Beverage

PICNIC PUDDING

- 1 package (6 2-3 ounces) shaker-type butterscotch pudding
- Milk
- 4 teaspoons powdered coffee (soluble in cold liquid)

Add cold milk up to the line on each paper cup in the pudding package; add one teaspoon powdered coffee and a packet of powdered pudding mix to each cup. Cover cups tightly; shake each for at least 1/2 minute; check to make sure pudding is blended. Refrigerate to set. Carry to picnic in insulated bag to keep chilled. Makes four servings.

When the weather turns warm, many homemakers yearn for cool, easy-going foods. From the Borden Kitchen comes one such recipe—a cottage cheese salad. It's a refreshing ring of low-cost cottage cheese and peaches, piqued with lemon juice, then wreathed in crisp greens.

Peach-Lemon Cottage Cheese Salad

(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

- 1 (1-lb. 13-oz.) can sliced peaches
- 1 (8-oz.) package lemon-flavored gelatin
- 2-4 tablespoons ReaLemon reconstituted lemon juice
- 2 cups (1 pound) Borden's creamed cottage cheese
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Salad greens

Drain the sliced peaches; reserve a few slices for garnish. Pour 1 cup of the syrup into small saucepan; heat over low heat. Stir in gelatin until completely dissolved. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice. Cool. Add cottage cheese to cooled mixture. Beat with rotary beater to blend thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator until mixture becomes thick. Fold in whipped cream and drained peach slices. Spoon into well-oiled 8-inch ring mold. Refrigerate until firm. At serving time, unmold onto salad greens and garnish with reserved peach slices.

Roast Beef Always Is An Attraction

When served, this kingly roast beef will always be the big attraction. It matters little what goes with it, so keep the remainder of the menu simple but harmonious. Oven-browned potatoes garnish the roast along with sprigs of parsley. Green beans with toasted, slivered almonds are a happy choice as a vegetable.

Roast meat thermometers chart the exact degree of doneness desired while oven temperature is kept constant. There's a simple beauty in the preparation for neither basting nor watching is required.

For easier carving, have the meat retailer remove the chine (back) bone. Place the roast, bone side down, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert a roast meat thermometer so bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, making certain the bulb does not rest on bone or in fat.

Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees for rare, Cooks, play it cool with Yogurt-Cucumber Soup, a refreshing start to any meal. Here's the Borden Kitchen way: just prepare the cucumbers, season, then add custard-like plain yogurt. If minutes really count, make the soup early in the day, then refrigerate until it's time to say: "Soup's on!" Yogurt soup's a treat to tote—just chill first, then pack in a wide-mouth thermos and it's ready to go to picnic or barbecue.

Yogurt-Cucumber Soup

(Makes 2 1/2 cups or 2 servings)

- 2 large cucumbers
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1-1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 cup (1 1/2-pint container) Borden's Swiss style plain yogurt

Peel cucumbers; slice thinly. In medium-size mixing bowl mix cucumbers with salt, sugar, and olive oil; fold in yogurt. Refrigerate about 2 hours. Spoon about half of the mixture into blender; blend 15 to 20 seconds. Pour into individual soup dish. Blend remaining mixture. If desired, garnish with sliced cucumber and fresh dill.

160 degrees for medium and 170 for rare, 27 to 30 minutes for degrees for well-done. This medium and 32 to 35 minutes takes 23 to 25 minutes per pound for well-done.

The cool breeze of the open prairie, the soft whisper of air moving through tall trees, the bracing wind of sea and shore beckon folks to breakfast when they carry the aroma of food cooking over the coals.

The most tantalizing of invitations to greet an out-of-doors day is wafted with the aroma of toasting Swiss-Canadian Breakfast Sandwiches. This is the mainstay of a menu which can be brought from home and turned into a quick-click of a meal. One look at the menu reveals the short cuts.

Chilled Golden Wedges of Cantaloupe
Hard-cooked Eggs Swiss-Canadian Breakfast Sandwiches (ready for toasting)
Pecan Coffee Cake
Milk or other Beverage

Swiss-Canadian Breakfast Sandwiches
8 slices enriched bread 4 slices Canadian bacon
8 slices Swiss cheese 12-16 orange sections

Place a slice of cheese on each of four bread slices; top each with a slice of Canadian bacon and three or four orange sections, then another cheese slice. Complete sandwiches with remaining bread slices. Place sandwiches in a wire grill and toast on both sides over medium hot coals.

Yield: 4 Swiss-Canadian Breakfast Sandwiches.

Select Good Steak for A Good Man

If "he" likes an individual steak, all his very own, done to rare or medium, select a T-bone or porterhouse. Should he like a somewhat smaller steak, there's a club, rib or top loin. If he likes ultra-elegance, there's boneless filet mignon or rib eye, smallest ones in the steak family.

When the whole family likes their broiled the same way, there's the biggest steak of all, the sirloin.

Charcoal-broiled out-of-doors or cooked to perfection in the range broiler, the rules are much the same. First, cook at moderate temperature, turn with tongs and watch the timer for an exact degree of doneness as befits a choice cut of meat.

Keep the inch-thick steaks two to three inches from the heat, allowing a total cooking time of 25 minutes for medium done. If thicker, broil the steaks further away, three to five inches. A two-inch steak needs 30 to 35 minutes total cooking time.

If your family fancies fruit for dessert, serve them this medley—an ambrosia delightfully flavored by Swiss style mandarin orange yogurt. A low-fat milk product, akin to custard in consistency, yogurt is smooth and tangy. Pair with a variety of fruits, or be inventive, as the Borden Kitchen suggests, and put in or atop many foods. Good eating just as is, too.

Yogurt Ambrosia (Makes about 6 servings)
2 large ripe bananas, sliced 1-1/3 cups (3-1/2-oz. can) flaked coconut
1 red Delicious apple, unpeeled and diced 1 cup (1/2 pint container) Borden's Swiss style mandarin orange yogurt
1 pear, peeled and diced
2 navel oranges, sectioned

Dip sliced bananas, diced apple, and pear in lemon juice; drain. In a glass bowl combine mixed fruits and orange sections. Refrigerate about one hour, then mix in coconut and mandarin orange yogurt. Serve.

For rare; add 10 to 15 minutes, corn-on-the-cob, tomato-lettuce garnish or green salad, strawberry shortcake. Serve on warmed plates, with berry shortcake.

Cabbage Noodles For Frankfurters

Cabbage noodles are perfect with frankfurters.

Frankfurters Relish
Cabbage Noodles
Salad Bowl

Fresh Apricots Beverage
CABBAGE NOODLES

1 package (5 ounces) medium egg noodles
2 quarts boiling water and 1 tablespoon salt

1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 large onion, cut in thin strips

1 1/2 quarts (lightly packed) knife-shredded cabbage in thin strands

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Freshly ground pepper

In a large pot, partly covered, boil the noodles in the salted water until tender; drain. Meanwhile in a 12-inch skillet in the butter, cook the onion until golden. Add the cabbage; cover tightly and cook gently, stirring often, until tender-crisp —about 10 minutes. Mix in noodles and salt; reheat if necessary. Serve and pass the pepper. Makes eight servings.

For centuries the Florentine people have been creating interesting ways to serve Bistecca (Italian for steak). Now we have taken a cue from the Italians and created a masterpiece with Chef Boy-Ar-Dee Spaghetti Sauce with Mushrooms. It's a new, deliciously exciting idea and if you're one of the many accomplished outdoor chefs, you'll be delighted with the sauce. It gives real zest to a grilled steak. Start with a flank steak and marinate it for at least 4 hours or overnight. Then grill it, using half the marinade for basting. Heat the rest of the marinade and serve it with slices of the grilled steak. You'll find this sauce will also add new flavor interest to grilled hamburgers, spareribs, and frankfurters.

Grilled Bistecca
1 (15 1/2 oz.) can Chef Boy-Ar-Dee Spaghetti Sauce with Mushrooms
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons minced onion

1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Few drops worcestershire sauce
1 flank steak

Mix all the above ingredients together. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and cook gently, uncovered, for about 6 minutes. Cool. Put flank steak in shallow baking dish. Pour over cooled mixture; refrigerate for at least 4 hours. Prepare coals on outdoor grill. Drain steak, put on grill and cook for 4 to 6 minutes. Brush generously with marinade. Turn and grill on second side. Meanwhile heat rest of marinade and serve with sliced steak. Makes 4-6 servings.

Herbed Italian Bread and Marengo

Hot, herb flavored Italian bread and flavorful Beef Marengo are two savory, warming foods to serve for dinner.

The bread is baked in Reynolds Wrap so its fragrant herb flavor penetrates each crisp slice. Serve it in foil too, so it stays hot right through the whole delicious dinner.

Herbed Italian Bread
1 loaf Italian bread (12-14 inches long)
1/4 pound soft butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon oregano
Cut bread diagonally into 1/4 inch slices, almost but not quite through the bottom crust. Combine butter or margarine with the herbs and spread on both sides of each bread slice. Place the bread on a long piece of foil, shaping the foil around sides, boat fashion. Combine any remaining butter mixture with Parmesan and spread on top of loaf. Heat in a 400° F. oven 15 min.

Beef Marengo
2 pounds round or chuck beef cut in 1 1/2 inch cubes
2 tablespoons olive oil
10-12 small white onions
1 clove garlic, minced
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
3/4 tablespoons flour
1 cup canned tomato sauce
2 cups canned beef consomme
6-8 small white potatoes
Trim fat from meat. Heat olive oil in a large skillet with the garlic and brown the meat. Place in a 4 quart casserole. Add a little more oil to the skillet, if necessary, and brown the onions, then arrange them over the meat. Stir the flour and seasonings into remaining oil. Add the tomato sauce and broth. Cook stirring constantly until thickened and smooth. Tie a stalk of celery, 2 sprigs of parsley, a bayleaf and sprig of thyme with string and place in casserole. Pour in the sauce. Cover the casserole, (use Reynolds Wrap if cover is lacking) and bake at 300° F. for 2 1/2 hours. Cook the potatoes in boiling salted water. Remove herbs and add potatoes just before serving. Serves 8.

Serve Nectarines This New Way

"Nectarine Cocktail Supreme" is that rarity — an extremely simple, absolutely elegant recipe.

As first course or dessert, this combination of fresh California nectarines and green grapes in a tantalizing sauce will dazzle everyone with its beauty and refreshing flavor. Enjoy it several times during the California nectarine season which runs into September.

Nectarine Cocktail Supreme
2 or 3 fresh nectarines 1/4 cup orange juice
1 cup seedless green grapes 2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons grated orange 1 tablespoon finely chopped rind
1/2 cup vodka or lime juice 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger or 1/4 teaspoon powdered ginger
Cut nectarines into wedges to make about 2 cups; put in bowl with grapes. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over fruits and toss gently. Cover bowl; chill about 2 hours, tossing lightly a few times. At serving time evenly divide nectarine wedges up-right around sides in each of 4 chilled long-stemmed glasses or dessert dishes. Spoon grapes into glasses and pour sauce over. Makes 4 servings.

VACATION TRAVEL

AND

by Lloyd Johnson

"DEARIE, CAN YOU REMEMBER?"—This picture, taken back in the late '30's, depicts an enthusiastic Bay Meadows crowd enjoying "a day at the races." However, this is a far cry from the all-new Bay Meadows Race Track of today, where many changes have taken place since the track first opened in 1934 — with meetings being conducted each year since then. Bay Meadows was the only track in California to operate during World War II, with all profits going into the war effort. More than $4,000,000 was realized for war relief and for various service organizations. It is also the "busiest" race course in California, with harness racing and quarter horse racing being presented each year. Since the close of Tanforan, most of that track's dates are also conducted at the Bay Meadows course. Mr. Joseph Cohen, track president and general manager, is the oldest race track executive officer in point of service in California — having been associated with the late William P. Kyne and William Hornblower when the track opened. The next major thoroughbred meet to be held at Bay Meadows will get underway September 13 through October 21 (Tanforan at Bay Meadows). The California Jockey Club meet follows October 23 through December 12.

Vince Licata Transplants Fisherman's Wharf to the Peninsula

Establishing his Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in 1945, Vince Licata has built up a restaurant name that is known through out the Bay Area as the Fisherman's Wharf-North Beach of the Peninsula.

Vince started his culinary career at the early age of ten, when he served apprenticeship with his father on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf.

In 1940, Vince's father passed on—leaving the business to his two sons. Forseeing great possibilities in the fast-growing town of San Mateo, Vince sold his interest to his brother, and hung up the "Licata restaurant shingle" in San Mateo.

VINCE LICATA

The word was soon out that "Fisherman's Wharf had arrived on the Peninsula." Vince's foresight paid off in good dividends. In a very short time his seafood restaurant, which consisted of a small diner with an adjoining outdoor fish market styled in the Wharf fashion, became a prosperous reality.

Working both day and night to achieve his goal enlarging the operation, Vince was suddenly taken ill. The family physician prescribed a long rest.

In 1956, Vince returned to the culinary scene in perfect health. Because San Mateo and the surrounding country had grown so tremendously, he decided it was time to remodel to accommodate the growth in population. It was at this time that Italian food was added to the menu.

Business at Vince's Italian and seafood restaurant continued to jet. A complete remodeling and redecorating program was again completed, and the addition of a new delicatessen and fish depot was opened next door.

Now a family enterprise, Vince and his wife, Nina, sons Louis and Anthony, and daughter, Angela, take an active part in keeping the counter, beautiful dining room, relaxing cocktail lounge and banquet rooms running smoothly.

Franchi at Venetian Room In Fairmont Thursday 29

Sergio Franchi, the strikingly handsome Italian tenor, returns to the Fairmont Hotel's Venetian Room for three weeks.

Franchi has, in just a few years in America, emerged as one of the brightest stars on the nightclub horizon, combining a rich, brilliantly trained tenor voice with an instinctive feel for the pop sound. He sings Italian songs, of course, but also Broadway show tunes, ballads, novelty tunes . . . the entire gamut of the popular music idiom, in a powerful and extraordinarily beautiful voice.

Born in Cremona, Italy, Sergio migrated to South Africa with his parents, and first studied engineering, and works as a part-time draftsman, with all his free time devoted to vocal studies. Although his father took a very dim view of his inclination toward the stage, he made his professional debut in operettas in South Africa and won the encouragement of Beniamino Gigli to return to Italy for further training and experience.

What followed was his meteoric rise, touring the European continent, appearing in London on the "Sunday Night at the Palladium" TV show, signing a recording contract with RCA Victor, the Ed Sullivan Show, the Persian Room of the Plaza and other top supper clubs, a Broadway musical and now the Venetian Room for the second time.

He possesses the qualities of which stars are made. Abounding in talent, magnetism and personal charm, his performances have held critics and fellow artists spellbound and are sure to charm San Francisco audiences.

How to Get to Lake County: Via good roads all the way. Daily Greyhound bus service to all parts of the County. Or fly in to any of four County-owned airports.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO: Golden Gate Bridge and U.S. 101 to Ignacio where you have choice of 4 main routes: 1) Turn right at Ignacio onto highway leading to Napa, then follow 29 through Calistoga (right turn here) into Lake County. 2) Proceed on 101 to 2 miles beyond Santa Rosa, right turn onto Mark-West road to Calistoga, proceed on 29. 3) Stay on 101 to Hopland, turn right on 16 into Lake County. 4) Continue on 101 7 miles past Ukiah, turn right onto easier No. 20.

FROM EAST BAY: Cross Carquinez Bridge, follow No. 29 through Napa to Calistoga, then into Lake County.

FROM SACRAMENTO: Take 99W to Williams, then turn left onto 20 into Lake County.

Denny Lyons Nightly At the Pioneer Hotel

Around lunch time during the week there is usually a terrific traffic jam in the vicinity of Whiskey Hill Road in Woodside — and most of the drivers are headed for the Pioneer Hotel to taste Frank Harrick's buffet luncheons, which have gained great popularity in these past few months.

One of the oldest Western landmarks in the area, the Pioneer Hotel is the frequent dining scene for those with an appreciation for good food. The atmosphere of the past has been retained and the traditional spirit of hospitality is evident in the courtesy of owner Frank Harrick and his staff.

Nightly entertainment features Denny Lyons at the organ-bar in the lounge from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. If you have a memory for songs that go back to before World War I, then sing-along with Denny, who was an extensive repertoire of nostalgic oldies.

Villa Chartier, The Lanai, Lanai Liquor Store—Complete Package

"Meet me at the Villa Chartier" has been a traditional happening in San Mateo since 1925. Business appointments, luncheon dates, dinner parties, banquets, entertainment, cocktails before and after dinner are Villa Chartier specialties.

Owner Emerson Murfee, a prince of a fellow, has gone to great lengths to give his patrons the last word in luxurious comfort and decor in which to entertain their friends and families.

Nine banquet rooms are available, with the latest being the dazzling Winchester Room (seats over 200 persons), which has its own private bar and dance floor. As Murfee says, it's more than a banquet room, it's like an addition to the main dining room.

Another outstanding feature here is the Gift Certificate — ideal for any gift occasion and may be used any time. Attainable at the Villa Chartier office.

Also under the Murfee roof is the exotic next-door Lanai restaurant, which was inspired by one of his trips to the island of Lanai in the fabled Hawaiian group. Once through the hand-carved front door, you've "arrived in the South Sea Islands."

A colorful waterfall, exotic orchid plants, authentic luau pit where the suckling pig is prepared for festive occasions — all are a part of this picturesque setting. Tropical drinks blended with care; foods of the Orient, Indies and Hawaii.

In addition to all this, the new Lanai Liquor Store just a few steps from the restaurants, has a complete line of liquors and all the little extras that go to make a house party a success.

Summertime on Redwood Coast

Summer is here and the dog-hole ports of California's Redwood Coast are bringing rhododendron blooms, sight-seers and an 85-foot statue with four eyes.

Portwine Bob Ellefsen, Hoodlum Walvig and Midnight Olsen, colorful skippers who braved the tiny lumber ports of San Francisco "where only a dog could turn around," have gone to Valhalla. Their sturdy steam schooners are gone with them.

This summer the redwood ports will shelter a new breed of adventurer carrying a camera

of Northern California's Redwood Empire.

A century ago lumber pioneers "found gold under the bark" in this fabled sea kingdom where 300-foot redwoods grow. Today it is the sight-seer who rules. There are old lumber towns to explore at Mendocino, Gualala, Elk, Albion, Pt. Arena and Westport, where calk-booted loggers used to whoop it up on payday. (Mendocino has blossomed anew with a fascinating art colony.) There is camping at Little River, along the Navarro and at Fort Bragg.

Shanghai Low's Special Steak

A lot of Chop Suey and Chow Mein has been served at the Shanghai Low restaurant over the past 54 years, which is how long this well-known San Francisco dining mecca has been in business.

Internationally known dishes of China are served authentically by experts. Lunches and dinners served in three dining rooms. Enjoy a steak prepared Chinese style — and by all means try the Almond Blossom cocktail.

Ray Lowe is the genial host, a third generation owner.

Bernstein's Fish Grotto Founded in 1907

One of the most striking restaurant facades in San Francisco, a full scale ship's prow complete with old-time figurehead, juts out over the sidewalk at Bernstein's Fish Grotto on Powell Street, two short blocks from the Curran Theater.

On April 7, 1967, this famous seafood establishment celebrated its sixtieth anniversary. Founded by Maurice Bernstein in 1907, the year after the earthquake and fire, the restaurant is now run by his son, Dick, a genial commodore who captains his trim ship with hospitality and flair.

The interior continues the maritime theme, with mast and rigging, bells sounding the quarters of the watch, and a plethora of fascinating relics of sailing days.

One can dine under a simulated night sky, as though on deck, or be served in one of the cabin rooms, named after some historic schooner of the past.

Villa Hotel Appoints Steve Norton Director Of Sales

The Villa Hotel released an effective sales promotion campaign this week. It's a segment in the schedule already initiated by Director of Sales, Steve Norton.

In announcing Steve's recent appointment to the Villa Hotel, Joseph Greenbach, Jr., general manager, points out that results already have been achieved, indicate increased revenues in San Mateo County as well as in the Villa Hotel. Emphasis is being placed on sales effort in the area of convention, tour and business conference markets.

The contemporary format which Mr. Greenbach has applied to the Villa Hotel, assures an important future for the Villa Hotel, according to Steve. It is his opinion that the pristine or "snob" hotel property of only a decade ago, can successfully preserve a highly reputable public image only when a contemporary format is applied.

Visit Mary Knudsen At the Viking Inn

Mary Knudsen owner of the Burlingame Denmark House invites you to stop in and enjoy lunch or dinner at her Tahoe Vista, North Shore, Stateline, Viking Inn during your vacation trip in that area. The same delicious menu that you have enjoyed many times in Burlingame is also served at the Inn. Cocktails and a scenic view of Lake Tahoe will make your visit here a memorable one.

Exposition Fish Grotto Has Perfect "Cast"

Sil Oliva can rightly bill his Exposition Fish Grotto on Fisherman's Wharf as "world famous," as that is just what the restaurant and Mr. Oliva are. Mention Sil's name in any port of the world and someone in the party is sure to have dined here at one time.

An avid sports fan, Sil can converse on the fight game dating back to the days of bare fists.

The Exposition "cast" and Sil's right-hand operators are Augie Rosasco, Harold Varni, Angelo Pinetti, Max Horowitz, Armando Franceschini and Chef Art Davis. With a "cast" such as this, it's no wonder that the fine quality of food and hospitable atmosphere is something to tell the folks back home about.

The Surf House "Toots Shor's" Of Peninsula

Ron Giannotti's Surf House "by the Lagoon" can well be called the "Toots Shor's of the Peninsula." Personalities of all walks of life — from race horse jockeys to financiers — congregate in the quietly sumptuous dining room and bar lounge.

Good food promptly and pleasantly served is a primary function here. Banquet space for special parties; the luncheon and dinner menus list both a la carte and full course.

Dapper Ron Giannotti, the "spark" in this fireball organization, is particular about personally greeting his patrons. He enjoys nothing better than sitting in on a debate—Keno tickets and real estate have been his best subjects.

Gerry Glasier Nightly With Emil Miller's Orchestra

The Carrousel du Soleil, located next to the Circle Star Theatre in San Carlos, is one of the Peninsula's smartest restaurants and cabarets.

French-Italian selection of pastes and entrees for luncheon and dinner are served daily, except Monday. Late Suppers Fridays and Saturdays from 11 p.m.; Sunday Buffet Brunch 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Cabaret now features singer Gerry Glasier, who appears with Emil Miller's Orchestra. Dancing Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Artist Ruth Griffin draws sketches of patrons on Saturday nights and when new shows open at Circle Star.

Private rooms for banquets, wedding receptions, theater parties.

MUKLUK MAKER—In Alaska, U.S.A., the leather soles of Eskimo fur moccasins were softened by the artisan's teeth. But modern tools have taken some of the bite out of that task. Dressed in her colorful parka of seal skin, this Eskimo woman from Nome, Alaska, deftly turns the heel of a mukluk which will warm the feet of some lucky visitor.

Ron Giannotti's SURF HOUSE RESTAURANT and COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Enjoy dining in an atmosphere that defies comparison — Whether you come by boat, or the family car there is always plenty of parking space.

We are proud to announce that we have a complete new menu with entrees listed to please the most discriminating.

RON GIANNOTTI HOSTS THE STEINER FAMILY—Ted Steiner, one of San Mateo's popular Third Avenue jewelers, is a Surf House "regular." Owner Ron Giannotti is preparing the delicacy for Ted, his wife, Mildred, their daughter, Nancy, and her husband, Marshall Drose.

All-Girl Topless Band Topsy's North Beach Feature

At Topsy's, in the heart of North Beach at the corner of Columbus and Broadway, one finds the first and only all-girl topless band.

It may have started as a novelty act, one more version of topless as it were. But there is no doubt of the acceptance it has received with San Francisco's many thousands of visitors. They "premed" in June, 1966 and the lovely girls have been a hit with everyone who sees (and hears) their show, since that time.

They look good, sound good and work hard to entertain. They dress in mini-skirts or Capris, silver, green, gold or red with boots to match. And although their tops are removable, when they swing into "Everybody," "Hard Day's Night," "Old Man River," or others of their rock repertoire, audiences do a lot of listening as well as watching. Audiences even sing along to "Sloopy" or "Long Tail Texan."

The all-girl band plays every night from 8 p.m. Shows are continuous, with topless band and topless dancers every night at Topsy's.

Village Pub Maitre d' Prepares Food For Stars

The Village Pub in Woodside, which is operated by Ralph Oswald and E. K. Harrison, who also own the Carrousel du Soleil in San Carlos, has long been considered the haven for the smart set of Woodside and Atherton.

Chances are, you'll see Tennessee Ernie Ford and Shirley Temple Black, who are residents of the area, enjoying the Italian pastes, steaks, or flaming desserts.

Maitre d' Lolek Jasinski, who recently arrived from the swank Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, where he presided in its celebrated "Restaurant Lauretrec," prepares, tableside, flaming Steak Flambee a la Lolek (his magnificent specialty) for such stars as Debbie Reynolds, Connie Stevens and Danny Kaye.

Foreign Legion Social Club Redecorated

The Foreign Legion Social Club in San Mateo, which has recently undergone major redecorating, is now one of the most comfortable gaming arenas this side of Las Vegas.

Peninsula cardmen can now enjoy their favorite sport in an environment usually reserved for the "big money" players in Nevada.

Jimmy Romanello is the man behind the changes, and also the popular host of the adjacent cocktail lounge.

Pan and Lowball are big here; ladies are welcome. The pool table is always caroming various bank shots of future Willie Moscinis. Of course, Jimmy judges a jigger with patrons in mind when he mixes a drink.

We discovered him!

Gerry Glasier, we mean . . . a delightful young singer who came into the Carrousel Cabaret one night after singing in "The Sound of Music" at next door Circle Star Theatre and pleased the crowd so much with his impromptu singing that we've asked him to join us for a while.

Gerry will sing with Emil Miller's orchestra from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday at Carrousel. Come by tonight if you can . . . or if you already have an early date, drop by for late supper, served from 11 p.m. You'll still have time to enjoy Gerry's ballads and show . . . and dancing 'til 1:30 a.m. No cover charge, either.

Sea Wolf Skipper Has Many Years Food Experience

The Sea Wolf, located on Oakland historic Jack London Square at the end of Broadway, has the feel of a landlocked luxury linner. It's waterfront location enables small boats from surrounding areas to dock almost at the restaurant's entrance and enjoy luncheon or dinner.

From the dining room or the bar, one may watch the passage of ocean-going vessels and the colorful activity of sailing crews.

The luncheon and dinner menus are highlighted by a variety of dishes, from the broiler, as well as seafood specialties.

General Manager Ted Ince is a philanthropical millionaire when it comes to friends.

Chuck's Steak House Successful Future

Canning Stevens, the soft-spoken, articulate manager of Chuck's Steak House, is a restaurant owner with only one direction in his future — success.

This is the second Peninsula location (the other is in Los Altos) for Chuck's growing chain of steakhouses. Patrons have a choice of steak, in various cuts or sizes, lobster, or a combination of both. The meat served is all Black Angus, corn-fed and Eastern beef. With the steaks, customers find a unique self service salad bar, offering all the salad, dressing and French bread desired.

Partners Larry Hancock and Paul Raugust are also to be credited for the unquestionable success of Chuck's Steak House. Paul, who now devotes most of his time in assisting with the Los Altos location, is a ship builder by profession, and personally designed the restaurant's interior, which is an exact replica of a ship's cabin.

Canning's wife, Carol, the one responsible for all the framed molding on the walls, assists in the dining room and lounge.

Now Visit The New Augie's

Augie and Phyllis Aprile are making dining and entertainment "history" on Third Avenue in San Mateo — and it's easy to see why once you step inside their completely remodeled Augie's restaurant.

This week's specialty of the house is Filet Mignon served with soup, salad, baked potato, coffee, and dessert, plus a Creme de Menthe — all for just $4.

Dancing on Friday and Saturday nights is a new attraction here, and you can be sure the dance floor doesn't lack for light-footed couples.

No cover charge; plenty of parking space.

The Matterhorn New Addition To Bright Lights

The Matterhorn in Burlingame, which has been recently added to Bright Lights' roster of distinguished restaurants, is a charmingly decorated Swiss-German restaurant offering a gastronomical experience to diners who desire far more than the ordinary.

Owners Marion and Wilfried Blarer, a gracious European couple with many years restaurant experience, believe in the power of goodwill and matching food. It's also very obvious that they believe in the old saying "A place for everything and everything in its place" for the Matterhorn is impeccable at all times.

Chef Wilfried's menu listings range from wienerschnitzel to bratwurst, to numerous American dishes. A complete wine list of imported and domestic vintages, plus fine label beer is also available to complement your meal.

Major Changes Completed at The Fork 'n' Cork—Grand Reopening Date to be Announced Soon

The Fork 'n' Cork restaurant on El Camino Real is in the final stages of completing a major refurbishment. Although there are still many small touches to be added, owners Joerg Krumpholz and Vic Proul wish to tell everyone of what to expect.

The new dining area, aptly named the "Fork" room, which has been increased in table and seating capacity, is now completely separated from the cocktail lounge. Thick-piled carpeting, dark wood panelling, blending wallpaper and beautiful chandeliers now provide the setting for diners.

The cocktail lounge entrance is now being used by all patrons but soon there will be a new doorway to the right of where hostess Lillian Baca has her reservations desk.

In the far corner of the lavish "Cork" room, the recently purchased "one of a kind" organ-bar of black and white design, completely dominates the room. Presiding is Woody Woodington, who leads the sing-along sessions which are always cause for nightly jubilation.

The re-grand opening of the Fork 'n' Cork is to be announced soon. This should be one of the "smash" celebrations of the year for the Peninsula.

Condor's "Queen" Carol Doda Popular Pin-Up Girl

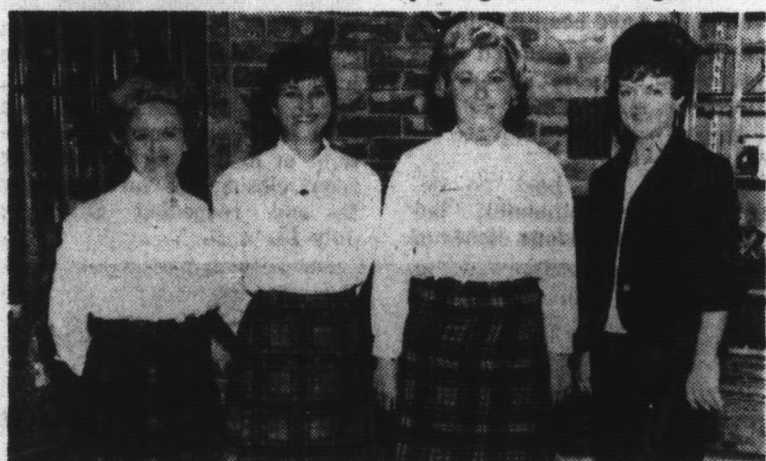

Located in the heart of San Francisco's colorful North Beach, the nationally-famous Condor is featuring two acts of startling contrast.

Carol Doda, the original "queen" of the Topless, headlines the current show, as she has since the topless entertainment originated.

Everyone's pin-up girl, Carol is a well-endowed, robust femme with definite "weaker sex" attributes, including a well-proportioned figure which probably presents problems for her dressmakers.

The Condor's newest act, "Topless Twiggy," resembles the original English "Twiggy" in size and stature. Tiny, delicate and remarkably pretty, she could pass for any of the "Twiggy"-type models currently appearing in fashion magazines.

"SEND THESE GIRLS TO CAMP" — Better still, visit Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City and meet them in person. These lovely ladies wearing kilts are (left to right) Wanda Taylor, Vi Natkemper, and Mary Lou Francis (sans kilt), co-owner of this far-famed restaurant, along with Theresa and Bud Urban, who are presently managing their summer resort.

PRESTON WONG
Four Seas

Award-Winning Entrance King's Bowl, Millbrae

As you stroll through glass doors and ascend the stairway, you are immediately impressed by huge, exotic-appearing plants on the ledge above, and the dense layer of bright pebbles inlaid through the floor covering.

No, it's not an entrance to a private island domain; it's the award-winning entrance way to the King's Bowl in Millbrae.

Although quite well known by athletic-minded people who frequently utilize the exceptional recreational facilities, there are still many Peninsulites who don't realize that the same building also houses the Blue Peacock restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Completely separated from the always-busy bowling alley, is a plush lounge and dining area. Executive Chef Bill Marsh is the one responsible for the food fare; Lou Dapello takes care of the lounge duties.

The soft dance tunes of the fabulous Romanos are featured for dinner-dancing.

General manager of the complete operation is Fred Masberg.

Castaway Offers South Pacific Atmosphere

For those incurable romantics who desire a matching setting, as well as the finest in exotic food, the beautiful Castaway, located amongst tall eucalyptus trees at Coyote Point, San Mateo, demands your dining attention.

Looking out over the water of the Bay and the shores of the Peninsula, the panoramic view from this outstanding South Sea restaurant is breathtaking.

Managed by genial George Tribelhorn, a man with a flair for the artistic, the Castaway is patronized by people from all over the world, who revel in its tropical serenity.

Both luncheon and dinner, served by lovely waitresses dressed in gay mau mau, and waiters in colorful Hawaiian-style shirts.

Balkan Village Food, Atmosphere Entertainment Reminds One Of A Visit to Old Greece

A night at the Balkan Village in Los Altos is like a visit to Old Greece.

This is a supperclub where everything — the food, entertainment, atmosphere, drinks and attitude — is strictly Greek.

Everything revolves around the personality and vitality of Louie Gundunas, who, with partner Vahan Caffeejian, operates the delightful restaurant.

Louie leads the dancing of Greek folk dances and climaxes the show with his spectacular Greek Table Dance, in which he lifts a fully-set table, dishes, glasses, food, bottles, et al, with his teeth alone and does a dance. Everyone has fun!

Liquors, like ouzo and Metaxa, flow generously as the Balkan Trio's throbbing Middle Eastern music swells.

On weekends, Sonia Caffeejian, lovely wife of Vahan, does her specialties — Armenian dances.

The Shadows Continuously Enjoys Nationwide Acceptance

Since it's opening in 1951, The Shadows of San Mateo has become one of the most popular restaurants to open on the Peninsula.

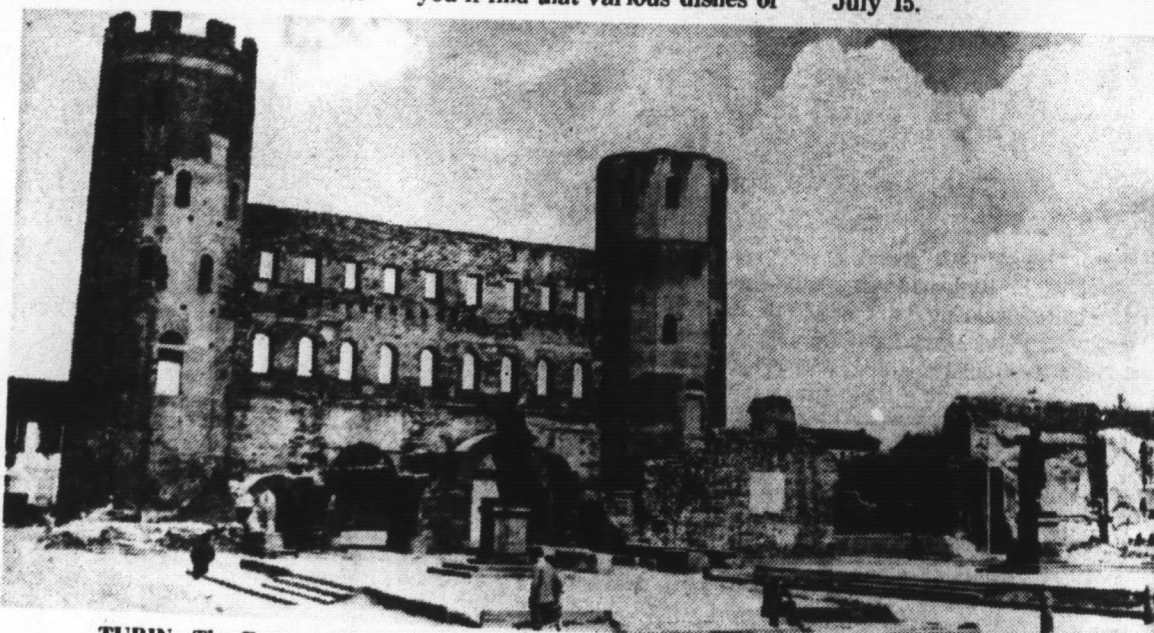

Owned by Dave Rasmussen, who has a flair for creating success in both restaurants and in other business interests, the Shadows enjoys a nationwide acceptance among travelers.

The quaint, darkened interior has a comfortable atmosphere which presents an appearance of what a distinguished restaurant would have been like in the late 18th Century. Paneled wood spotted with knotty pine walls, interesting chandeliers, and other bric a brac, make up the interior design.

The food can best be described as Continental, but you'll find that various dishes of German descent are accented. All dinners include Germany's famous thick soups, salad, choice of potatoes, dessert and coffee, as well as the main course. Meals are served in leather booths in the bar-lounge, where diners like to precede their lunch or dinner with cocktails, or in the long main dining room closing for vacation July 1st and reopening Saturday, July 15.

TURIN—The Roman Gate, the Porta Palatina, dates back to the first Century A.D. The statues are copies of ancient statues to Caesar and Augustus.

Off Broadway And Yvonne d'Angers Make Entertainment History

It was April, 1965 and in North Beach, at the Off Broadway club in San Francisco, an artist was making nude pastel drawings of Yvonne d'Angers, a give away to lunching businessmen. There were even amateur artists among them, and they were given their chance to draw the lovely Yvonne. Much has happened since then.

North Beach's famed Off Broadway club has been an entertainment leader on the West Coast since it opened. For several years it offered the biggest names in show business, such as Nancy Wilson, Count Basie, Stan Kenton, Lenny Bruce, Sam Cooke, Earl Grant, Mary Kaye Trio, Shecky Greene, June Christy, Mel Torme, Tommy Dorsey orchestra, Trini Lopez and many others played the beautiful club.

These were the evenings' entertainment. Daytimes, there was Yvonne in her transparent and topless costumes, Sunny the Topless dancer in the champagne shower stall on stage.

With the arrests and trials of April and May of 1965, the Off Broadway exploded on the national scene. It has been publicized in Life, Look, Playboy, Esquire, many other national and international magazines and certainly the world's and the nation's leading newspapers.

Wong's Restaurant Rapidly Rising In Popularity

Although newly established, Wong's restaurant in San Bruno has rapidly risen in popularity to become one of the top Chinese dining spots on the Peninsula.

This is the first restaurant venture for owners Matthias Mak and Edmund Shiu, even though they have both worked in and around restaurants all their lives.

Exotic Chinese dishes are a house specialty. A big favorite is Chicken Mandarin, as prepared by Chef Matthias. American dishes are also served.

Banquets and private gatherings are numerous.

Visit Angelo's In San Jose

San Jose being just a short drive from the Peninsula-San Francisco Bay Area and East Bay, it would be to your advantage to make the trek, via freeways and El Camino Real, to exploit new dine-out offerings.

One of the most frequented in San Jose is Angelo's, where you are assured of gracious dining at all times. One visit will bring you back time and again.

THE HANDICRAFTS OF CHILE attract buyers from all over the world. Specialties are handwoven fabrics, rattan wear, fine silver and various forms of primitive art and sculpture which had their origin among the Indians of the high Andes many hundreds of years ago.

Pleasing Environment At Charm Garden

Loo Zou Lien, known to his American friends as Z. L. Loo, and his son, Wade, invite your patronage to their Charm Garden Restaurant in Belmont.

The Charm is not just another Chinese-American restaurant, nor is the food what you might expect to have served to you just anywhere. The aroma of the foods served, their appearance and arrangement, manner of serving, and flavor are important factors at the Charm.

A pleasing environment is also conducive to the full appreciation of good food. Z. L. Loo and Wade have brought to you, in the Charm, a bit of summer home atmosphere, borrowed from a mandarin's palace in the famous Western Hills of Peking.

DONNA THEODORE

The theme of Charm is longevity: the hundred peaches on the west end wall are fruits of longevity; the royal crane on the ceiling is the bird of longevity; pewter tea containers on the entrance wall mean evergreen and tranquility which, in Chinese philosophy, denote longevity.

Davis and Reese, Donna Theodore Bimbo's 365 Feature Attractions

The comedy team of Davis and Reese headline the new program at Bimbo's 365 Theater-Restaurant in San Francisco.

An added attraction is singer Donna Theodore, who will sing with Dick Foy's orchestra. They continue through July 5.

Pepper Davis and Tony Reese have played top nightclubs like the Desert Inn of Las Vegas, where they starred for one and a half years in "Hello America," the lavish extravaganza. The originality of their material and masterful timing have won them appearances on the Ed Sullivan and Hollywood Palace shows as well as on European television.

Beauteous Donna Theodore is a Bay Area girl who hails from Pleasanton. She co-starred with John Raitt in the Melodyland production of "Pajama Game."

The Dennis IV play for dancing in the lounge and Janet Jordan performs at the piano in the show room between shows, which are presented twice, 8:30 p.m. and 11:45 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays and 8 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. and 12:45 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

THE RAFFLES HOTEL, named after Sir Stamford Raffles, founder of modern Singapore, is one of the "Lion City's" internationally known hotels. At the hotel's Elizabethan Grill, the traveler may refresh himself with the famous gin and cherry brandy concoction, the Singapore Gin Sling. Singapore offers 16 first-class, air-conditioned tourist hotels.

International Inn Has Envious Location

A long established center for restaurant goes on the Peninsula is South San Francisco's International Inn Restaurant.

The experience and personable service of General Manager Phil Rauscher and his capable staff make it so that each visit to the Inn is certain to be a superb dining experience.

Located in the heart of the city's industrial center, the International Inn has an enviable location convenient to almost every Bay Area activity.

Just minutes away from Candlestick, the Cow Palace or even downtown San Francisco, the Inn caters to and receives patronage from servicemen, airport travelers, top business executives and the social clique.

The International Inn has splendid facilities to serve banquets, wedding receptions, fraternal and business luncheons and dinners.

New Roabee Restaurant Serves Delicious Three-Inch-Thick Roast Beef Sandwiches

A "Roabee" is a three-inch-thick Roast Beef Sandwich made only of choice meat shipped directly from Chicago.

And Roabees, the Peninsula's newest restaurant specializing in roast beef sandwiches, has quickly come to the front as one of San Mateo's greatest.

Located across from the Hillsdale Shopping Center and managed by Joe Acosta, Roabees' award-designed Redwood Room is an architect's dream — combining redwood, glass paneling and realistic pictures of nature.

Seating 48 people, the service counter provides quick service for people on the go. Boasting of the finest in modern restaurant equipment, Roabees' machines enable the staff to serve over 400 Roabees an hour, and an average of 4,000 per weekend.

The convenient Drive-Up Window, located on the East side of the building, accounts for 23 per cent of total sales.

Fireside "Goddess of Love"

Topless has arrived in San Mateo! Ingenious Jack McRae and Phil Maita have pulled the night club coup of the year and introduced a '67 Topless Revue to the stage of their Fireside.

Headlining are Goddesses Athena and Achala in their unique "Goddess Dance of Love." Staged with all the lights turned low, the Goddess "ritual" almost takes you back to the days of the Roman Empire.

The Fireside's Topless Revue featuring Billie Saint, Linda and Jenette, is put through its paces nightly by Tony and The Tigers, a zany musical group who have had smash engagements in San Francisco.

Tony, in particular, keeps the girls "shaped up" by instructing them through the various dance routines now popular with nitery regulars. He often leaves the stage and goes out in the audience searching for dance partners for the girls — and usually doesn't have to ask twice for volunteers.

Amateur topless occurs on different nights. Shows start at 9 p.m. sharp seven nights a week.

El Rancho Restaurant Enjoys Loyal Patronage

The current rage around the Millbrae area is the sumptuous buffet luncheon served daily at the El Rancho Restaurant.

Chef Rudy Isch somehow manages to present every conceivable type of cold cut, salad and luncheon entree on the attractively arranged buffet spread for the hungry noontime crowds.

Also serving breakfast and dinner, the El Rancho enjoys a loyal patronage. Besides the "in and out" guests from the adjacent motel, many of Rudy's customers have been dining here for many years.

The enticing Mermaid Room features organ bar entertainment nightly, except Tuesday. Patrons sitting at the bar are able to watch underwater movements in the swimming pool through one of the world's largest underwater windows.

Banquet and meeting rooms are also available from 2 to 250.

Roabees Roast Beef Sandwiches

The convenient Drive-Up Window accounts for 23 percent of sales, and it is common for customers to take home 8, 10 or 12 Roabees for family-style dining. If preferred, there is a spacious parking lot, where customers may enjoy Roabees in the privacy of their cars.

At Roabees, modern restaurant equipment enables the staff to serve 400 Roabees an hour, an average of 4,000 every weekend. The award-designed Redwood Room (shown right) seats 48 and is open 7 days a week from 11 a.m. to midnight.

Benjamin Franklin Hotel Has Historic Peninsula Landmark Background

The Third Avenue Benjamin Franklin Hotel will always hold a warm spot in the heart of your Bright Lighter. It was here that I spent my first night in San Mateo eight years ago. Thanks to Mr. Erwin Best, general manager, who arranged the room accommodations on my mid-summer arrival without a reservation.

Though newcomers to San Mateo county might be interested in the background of this popular Peninsula landmark. Thanks to Mr. D. A. Raybould, Real Estate Broker, I quote:

"In checking my files, I find that the Benjamin Franklin Hotel property was originally part of the old De Guigne estate. This was purchased by B. Getz, Inc., a company founded by a pioneer San Francisco real estate operator, whose principals at the time were his son-in-law,

ERWIN BEST
General Manager

A. C. Franklin and Mel Franklin, his brother.

"Others were interested in the venture, so the whole De Guigne estate was conveyed to D. A. Raybould, as trustee for them, by a deed from Marie Christine De Dampierre and Josephine De Tristan, daughter of Christian De Guigne Sr., a son-in-law of John Parrott, on January 30, 1924. The property extended from Third avenue to the present Fourth avenue and from El Camino Real to a 180 foot westerly from Ellsworth. It contained 5.675 acres.

"Before deeding out any of the individual parcels, we conveyed a 10 foot strip of the Third avenue frontage to the City of San Mateo to increase the Third avenue width of 70 feet which now prevails from Ellsworth east, to 80 feet. This was granted and the curb was set back at the sole expense of the property owner, with the understanding that it should always provide diagonal parking.

"The B. Getz Syndicate organized the Vision Realty Company, the name the tract still bears, and built the Benjamin Franklin Hotel from the proceeds of a bond issue underwritten by Schwabacker and company of San Francisco.

The hotel was formally opened on June 23, 1927. At that time the hotel property consisted of the present hotel site on Third avenue and about three acres of garden extending along what is now the northerly side of Fourth avenue, as far west as El Camino Real. A feature was an auto entrance on El Camino Real between two giant Redwood trees that were set out by Count De Guigne in the early days of the garden estate."

Today, the Benjamin Franklin Hotel can take its place with the best when it comes to room accommodations, dining, cocktails, and banquet facilities. A beautiful swimming pool in a flower garden setting and a sun deck for house guests make the Benjamin Franklin Hotel an ideal place for summer vacationing. Raymond Cook is manager; Erwin Best is president and general manager.

"Four In The Morning" Cabana Hotel's Nero's Nook Through July 8

The fresh, young sound of the "Four in the Morning" is a nightly offering in the Cabana Hotel's Nero's Nook in Palo Alto.

Organized while in college in the Northwest, this dynamic quartet has taken the lounge circuit by storm and is appearing at the Cabana after a smash run at Harrah's, Tahoe.

Their vocal stylings — which could be described as a cross between the Brothers Four and the Four Freshmen, range from piano accompanied ballads to rollicking sing-a-longs.

In addition to recording on the Cross Road label, the "Four in the Morning" have just completed the pilot taping of their newly-contracted ABC television show.

The "Four in the Morning" appears nightly from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m., except Sunday, through July 8 in the Cabana's posh Las Vegas-style lounge.

Romano's Pizza Italian Food From Old Country

Located just 20 minutes from the heart of San Mateo off Highway 1 in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, you will see a sign which reads: "Romano's Italian Food and Pizza." It means "an exciting experience in Italian food."

Not so long ago, Enrico Romano and his mother set up business serving pizza exclusively. It didn't take long for the hungry ones to realize that Romano's pizza was prepared from old country recipes. It was also packaged to take out.

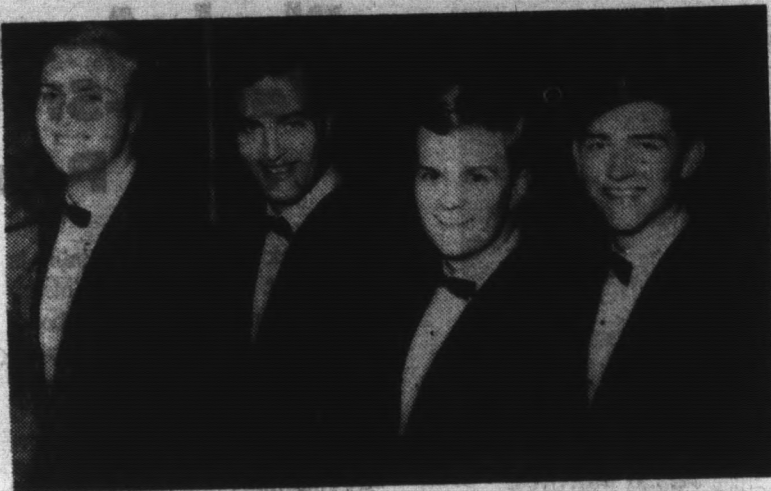

Mother and son soon decided to add Italian dishes to their successful fare. Many of the recipes were handed down by Mama Romano's mother. This new addition proved a dine out hit.

A bar was later to be added, at which time redecorating of the complete restaurant interior took place. It resembles a typical Italian garden for relaxed dining.

Ring Neck Pheasant Served at Bohannon's

Very few people who have visited the San Jose area have failed to dine at Bohannon's, the South First Street restaurant famed as a gourmet stop.

Here, you may enjoy king-size steaks, prime ribs of beef and, as a special treat for those from out of town, Ring Neck Pheasant.

Irifune Dinners A Japanese Feast Worth Remembering

Authentic Japanese cuisine and the genuine graciousness of the Orient awaits diners at Toshio Kiyohara's Irifune, in San Mateo.

From the gently-swaying lanterns in front of the restaurant to the private tatami rooms, Toshio has created a culinary temple. The interior design is indicative of the Oriental culinary philosophy.

To Toshio, the preparation and serving of a meal is a ceremony. Meals are served by charming, kimono-clad waitresses who have only one purpose in mind, to please patrons.

The tatami rooms are quite popular, and if so desired, your meal is prepared in sight.

Groups celebrating festive occasions are encouraged to use the Irifune's facilities.

Cafe Del Rio Historic Landmark

The Cafe del Rio in Almaden is more than an excellent place to dine and enjoy Saturday night dancing.

Here in 1848, was built the first two-story adobe hotel in California. Within its picturesque walls Desire Lethic served the best meals in the West, as are still being served here today by owners Karl and Helen Resch.

French and Continental dinners, full course and a la carte, are Cafe del Rio specialties.

The Gourmet House International Affair

The Gourmet House in Hayward is a fun time experience for the whole family.

Every day from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. this Farmers Market-type restaurant serves palatable, tempting foods from many different countries, including Hofbrau, Chinese, Barbecue, Italian, smorgasbord and Mexican. Also ideal for sweet-tooth fanciers is a bakery, candy stand, and a doughnut shop.

Doran's Features A Traditional Mother's Day Dinner Every Sunday

Every Sunday is still "Mother's Day" at Doran's in Belmont.

Owned by Ken "House of Pancakes" Pruitt and managed by personable Ronald Sutherland, Doran's offers "pampered" royal treatment to the "queen" of the house every Sunday.

Fresh flowers on the tables, gifts from the restaurant's management, and the always-delightful routine of a "night off," are what to expect when mom dines here on her day.

Specializing in prime rib, steak and lobster tail, Chef Peter Selaya can only be described as a genius in the culinary arts.

After dinner, the cozy cocktail lounge, which is rich in decor and deeply carpeted, is the center of attention.

Organist Larry Wickersham, a top-notch "music man," presides at the keyboard and keeps the newly installed dance floor filled with fun-lovin' couples.

Forest Tucker "Joins Finocchio's Cast"

Forest Tucker of TV and "Music Man" fame made a hit with a packed house at Finocchio's by going on stage at the conclusion of Elton Paris' act to congratulate the comedian on his performance.

The generous gesture was appreciated by the crowd, and Tucker took a bow, but declined to do his famous "76 Trombones" despite the demand for it from the audience.

After the show, Tucker and his beautiful wife went backstage to meet the rest of the cast, and to chat with the ex-vaudevillians in the troupe, such as Francis Blair and Lucian, the "Last of the Redhot Papas."

Rich Romanello Stars 60's Talent At Winchester Cathedral

Standing room only! Sorry, no reservations! You'll just have to find a spot on the dance floor at Winchester Cathedral, the Redwood City night club featuring the sounds of the '60's.

Rich Romanello, the proprietor who constantly features "Top 40" entertainment, has his "Cathedral" swinging every weekend (open four nights a week during the Summer).

Shows begin at 9 p.m. nightly; after-hours entertainment starts at 2 a.m. Two and three bands appear each night; top talent, as well as relatively unknown groups destined for stardom, share the stage.

Recently featured have been such acts as The Vandals, Lighthouse for The Blind, Baltimore Steam Package and The Care Package.

Goman's Gay 60's a Topless Production

A couple of months ago Bee, Ray and Ray K. Goman deserted the Gay 90's theme and went GOMAN'S GAY 60's—but with a "vengeance."

In the mood of the 60's on Broadway, the Gomans have an all-topless show with eight beautiful, well-figured young ladies disporting in a myriad of topless acts — Topless Girl on a Swing (she's TOPLESS all over!), topless "Girl in a Tiger's Cage," topless girl on the trapeze, a Mexican bullfighter who draws sketches of world-wide notables on a nude girl's body, topless girl on a trampoline; well, you get the idea. It's topless

Making the music and emceeing is Russell Lee with his fine group and songstar Birdie Lee and a great dancer, Sandy Roston.

There are superb dinners from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.; snacks from midnight to 2 a.m. by noted Chef Charles Soublet.

Black Angus Chuck Wagon-Style Dining Proves Popular

"Chuck wagon"-style dining is prevalent in the restaurant industry, and the smorgasbord-style manner of eating out is always extremely popular with families.

But there seem to be very few "All you can eat" dining places serving the same quality of food usually found in a restaurant providing menu selections. Right here in San Mateo is an exception to the rule — and the Black Angus Chuck Wagon on

El Camino offers a vast "food bonanza."

Co-owner Carlo Fasolo offers what must be one of the West's largest variety of food displayed under any one restaurant roof. All food is personally prepared under the adroit supervision of chef James Pearce.

The self-service buffet, handling of seating arrangements and waiter service leaves nothing lacking.

Old World Atmosphere Oreste's Decor

Enjoy luncheon or dinner in the friendly atmosphere of Oreste's famous restaurant serving fine cuisine at modest prices.

Oreste's has an old world atmosphere whose beginning was a one-room dining place and has now expanded to another building, another dining room, private clubrooms, and a wine cellar.

The menu is extensive and many of the dishes were created. Countless diners of fastidious taste prefer Oreste's and it truly adds to San Francisco's fame for good eating.

Free parking across the street validated by Oreste's cashier.

Businessmen "Meet" At The Manor

Prime Rib and Veal Scaloppini are two specialties of the Manor restaurant in Burlingame.

Manager "Lucky" Cosenza and his wife, Joyce, have created a dine-out haven for hungry patrons, with the family man and his "brood" always in mind.

Prices here are unusually reasonable, and weekends see mainly family trade.

More and more businessmen are finding that the food and quick service provided here during the week matches the best.

Although small in size, the adjacent Manor cocktail lounge, which was recently opened, makes up for its smallness in sheer comfort. "Smiling" Sam Morello is bar manager.

The Manor is located adjacent to the Hyatt Cinema on Old Bayshore. Acres of free parking for patrons.

Sinaloa Is A Bit Of Old Mexico

One of the most exciting shows in San Francisco is showcased at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa cantina and night club, famed throughout the world as a bit of old Mexico transplanted to 1416 Powell Street.

Castanets and olays greet you the moment you enter the door. Your heart skips a beat as the fast-moving all-Mexican floor-show, featuring acts that come from many Latin countries, gets under way.

Complete Mexican and American dinners served from 6 p.m. to 3 a.m. daily, except Sunday. No cover charge for dinners. Three floor shows nightly.

Gold Street Celebrates New Year's Eve Nitely

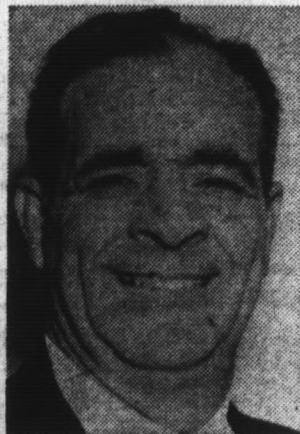

Spend a delightful evening at Gold Street in San Francisco. Enjoy the huge man-size cocktails for only 60 cents and then feast on a gourmet steak dinner including green salad, potato and beverage for only $3.50.

A chef's specialty every night, or New York or Pepper Steak or Steak Sandwiches, along with the specialty of the house, Chateau Briand. Choice eastern corn-fed beef. At this price you just can't miss.

After this de luxe dinner, entertainment is featured. Climax of the evening is the new Year's Eve party every night at midnight. Don't miss out on the fun — hurry on down to Gold street.

Trip Features Psychedelic Light, Sound

By using the latest slang of the younger generation, your Bright Lighter is able to tell the San Mateo Times and Post readers that Yvonne Modica's The Trip, in San Mateo, has the reputation of being "Where it's at."

Billed as a "journey" of Lights, Sounds, and Delicious Pizza, Trip manager Lloyd Mannon provides just that!

Working with owner Yvonne,

Lloyd has managed to feature some of the best entertainment in the area on the Trip's stage, including The Care Package, and the current hit sounds of a wild group, The Tombstones, who are scheduled to have a record released within the next few weeks.

Besides top notch entertainment, Lloyd also features a psychedelic light and sound display that is, as the new jargon describes, "Out of sight."

The Trip also deals in pizza, unique Trip sandwiches (featuring the Big Trip), and, of course, various kinds of beer — all served by a bevy of beautiful beertenders.

Every Tuesday night is scheduled to be a "Folk Happening." Folk guitarist Bernie Burns leads participants in song and fun.

Carriage Entrance For Phil Lehr's Wellington Room Guests

The new Wellington Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco has been acclaimed by people from all over the world as one of the most elegant and magnificent dining rooms in the entire country.

Lehr spent over a quarter of a million dollars on the Wellington Room alone — and it shows it. You enter it through the Carriage entrance after parking your car in the Taylor and Ellis lot. The attendant takes your car and you then enter as you are viewed on a closed circuit TV-screen by your host.

You descend the Grand Circular Staircase with its gorgeous jeweled curtains and enter a booth in the Wellington Room for an unbeatable steak dinner with a "pay-by-weight" for the entire dinner cost. Taylor and Ellis Streets. Phone 673-6800. Open 4 p.m. 'til 12:30 a.m. every night in the week.

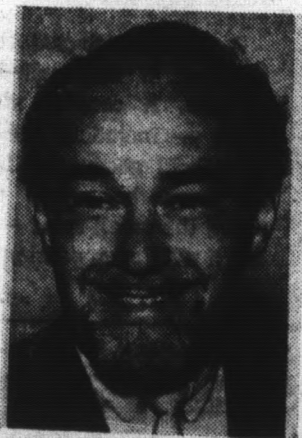

Johnson's Tamale Grotto Operating Since 1906

When you can operate a successful Tamale Grotto since 1906, then there's no question that the products served and the service are superior.

This is true with the Johnson family (no relation), who own and operate Johnson's Tamale Grotto, where a complete selection of Mexican food is served.

Expert catering to parties and private banquets; dependable delivery.

There are two locations — one in Parkside and the other in Westlake.

Iron Duke For Gourmet Sandwiches

If you haven't visited the Iron Duke on San Francisco's Bush Street, you're really missing a treat.

Special gourmet steak sandwiches are served at noon, along with many other dishes, but this one is a favorite with all. Made from prime Eastern beef.

Hot hors d'oeuvres are served during the cocktail hour, with the delectable treat being miniature brochettes and sirloin steak strips.

Entertainment on the piano every Friday night in the third floor Red Parlor Room. Join in the singing or just sit and relax. Banquet rooms also available.

Peruvian Dinners Frank Torres Special

Frank and Fannie Torres' Montara Beach Hotel, restaurant and cocktail lounge has been on Bright Light's restaurant beat for over 15 years.

Many a time I have treated out-of-town friends to the true old-country Peruvian dinners served here. Frank, a native of Peru, has the know-how for preparing dishes that few restaurants in the Bay Area have a recipe to compare.

The menu also lists steaks and seafood, plus a wide dessert selection — of which Baked Alaska is much favored.

Place Pigalle Big Favorite

For the few who have yet to enjoy French dining in a most unique Parisian atmosphere, suggest you visit the Place Pigalle, one of San Francisco's most outstanding restaurants.

A favorite with the "carriage trade" and socialites, alike, Place Pigalle has long been considered one of the "must" places to entertain dinner guests.

Burlingame Hyatt House Tailored For Comfort

The comforts of the Hyatt House in Burlingame are tailored to the discriminating tastes of travelers and Peninsulites who desire the extraordinary when dining out.

Congenial General Manager Al Kelly, Sr., is, as he rightfully should be, extremely proud of the Burlingame Hyatt, and especially the masterfully-designed and decorated Scherazade Room, where the Continental creations of Chef Hans Kalitzki, who has been executive and sous-chef in some of the world's great hotels, appease the appetites of the most particular.

Besides the luxurious surroundings of the Arabian nights splendor, the nightly dance music of Bob Wellman and his orchestra provides for delightful dinner-dancing.

In the Tourney Room, attractive Rosemarie Alter and vivacious Vickie Farrel alternate at the pianobar nightly from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m.

LORRAINE

When your travels take you in the vicinity of Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, you're sure to be attracted by the commanding view of the ocean that is drawing throngs to Nick's restaurant and lounge for special party functions.

What was once a small town store, the Gust family has enriched the complete area with the progress of Nick's dining center and overnight accommodations.

Over 40 years ago, Charles Gust, father of Nick, host-owner of this popular domaine, used to put in a shift for the Ocean Shore railroad. Being interested in real estate, he knew that in days to come this ocean front property would make an ideal year 'round dine and vacation spot.

When the trains stopped for water, or on his days off, Charles Gust would make a tour of the area — now known as Pacifica — then report his findings to his wife, Anastasia.

A site was selected at the end of what is now called Hewitt Avenue. A country store was built — including the sale of household goods and food. For 20 years this crafty duo parlayed the small store — improving it with each passing year.

U TO THEIR ANNIVERSARY PARTY

ANASTASIA and CHARLES GUST

Upon retirement, they turned the keys and property over to son Nick. With the help of his wife Lorraine, a "right hand" in the Gust family's progress, he contracted for a 17-unit Seabreeze Motel, completely re-modeled the restaurant and bar, purchased 14 more lots on the ocean front, and went "into production."

Today, this coastside show place is the target for banquets, private celebrations and political gatherings. Comfortable leather booths, plus tables for dining, a fireplace cocktail lounge with an unusual horseshoe bar, plus a large dance floor.

Sunday, July 2, and Monday, July 3, are the days set for Nick's 40th Anniversary Buffet given in honor of Anastasia and Nick Gust. Lorraine, Nick, and their daughter, Kathi, and son, Chuck, who play an important part in the smooth-running operation, will be the hosts.

Friday and Saturday night entertainment and dance music is provided by the Dick Snyder Combo, with Don Kelly at the organ Wednesday through Sunday. Mary Ann Hay on vocals.

Open seven days a week from 10 a.m. serving breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

Fabbro's Complete Menu "A Specialty of the House"

Fabbro's the fine Redwood City restaurant specializing in Italian food, serves the best in dining delights.

Owner Frank Fabbro's complete dinner menu is, as many say, a "specialty of the house." Featured are such items as Chicken Cacciatore and Veal Scallopini. And for those addicted to Neptune's delights, Abalone Steak and Lobster Tail. Steak lovers are also favored here, as a Filet Mignon or the New York Cut both run under $5.

The dining atmosphere is relaxed and informal. The tables are covered with brightly checkered table cloths, and works of art hang on the walls.

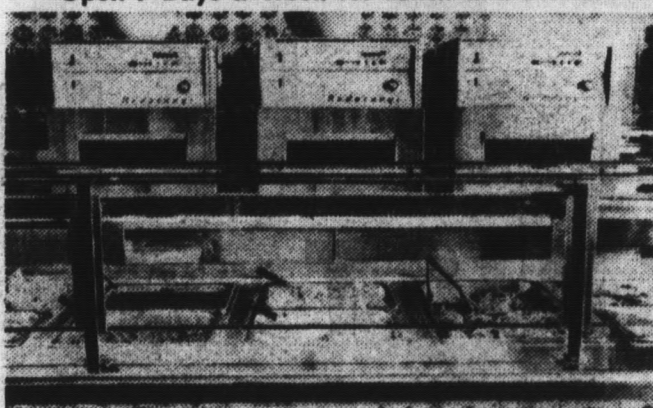

A well-trained kitchen staff and attractive waitresses provide good service and extend hospitality.

Master mixologist and "self-styled" sports commentator, Tommy Phipps, is on hand to discuss the current pennant race or a winning horse, while mixing your cocktails.

Four Seas Serves Foods From Every Province Of China

The elegant Four Seas in San Francisco's Chinatown is the only restaurant that serves gourmet foods from every province of China.

For a lunch or dinner that will be memorable, have Maitre d' Non Yee or Waiter Captain Preston Wong order for your party. Each is a gourmet and a real expert at selecting Chinese foods that your party will delight in.

The Four Seas also has a beautiful cocktail lounge where you may see "The Eight Immortals," statues hand-carved in China from eight of the world's largest matching pieces of ivory. There is also the China Room that accommodates private parties up to 500 people.

Pancho's In Redwood City A Show Place

Pancho's Mexican Cafe, located at Five Points in Redwood City, is a "show place restaurant," which has won awards for design.

Emphasizing the charm of Mexico, Pancho's presents foods that have delighted world travelers. As you slowly walk by the counter display of many Mexican selections, your appetite is quickened.

Mexican music is played during the luncheon and dinner hours — enhancing the Mexican scene.

Franciscan Boasts View of The Bay

The three-tier elevated dining room of the Franciscan on Fisherman's Wharf affords a view of the city, the bay, and ocean liners steaming through the Golden Gate.

Appetites are appeased by the efforts of a well-qualified staff under the direction of owners George Skaff, Chef Bill Harper and George Burger.

Fresh fish from the frigid ocean is required in huge quantities to satisfy the multitudes of diners who visit this restaurant daily. Also many other menu selections for your choosing, plus a wine list that includes illustrious European and California names.

Alioto's Famous Since First Crab Was Sold On Fisherman's Wharf

The name Alioto's is familiar to everyone who has ever visited Fisherman's Wharf, since the first crab was sold on the Wharf.

One of the many show places of San Francisco, Alioto's elegant Mediterranean Room is operated by Frank Alioto and his mother, Rose.

The beauty of the rich luxurious furnishings, not to mention one of the most outstanding views of Golden Gate Bridge and the fishing fleet, add to an afternoon or evening of dining here.

A selective menu includes seafood, steaks, chops and chicken — all prepared giving special attention to the individual taste. Bouillabasse and Crab Cioppino are two real favorites.

Luncheon and dinner served daily; a Sunday Champagne Breakfast. Elevator service to the Mediterranean Room.

ALFRED BACCHINI
Alfred's

The Secret Of Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken

The blend of spices, which imparts a subtle seasoning to complement the natural goodness of crisp, golden-brown fried chicken, is the secret of Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken.

The thick crust on Foster's Farm Fried Chicken is just right because it is placed in the Henny Penny cooker which controls time and temperature automatically.

Radar Ranges are used to assure that every order reaches the customer piping hot, whether its to go or to be eaten in the comfort of the dining room.

Also on the menu for early risers or luncheon and dinner patrons are all kinds of pancakes — French, German, Swedish, Palestine, Hawaiian and a variety of all-American, including blueberry, coconut, apple, potato and buttermilk. You'll find juices, fruits, cereals, eggs prepared the way you like them, plus complete dinner suggestions on the list of palate pleasers.

Schroeder's Cafe Is A Landmark

Well known as the oldest and one of the most authentic German restaurants in the West, Schroeder's Cafe is a financial district landmark in San Francisco.

Catering to men only for many years (Schroeder's was the haunt of bankers, brokers, steamship men), ladies are now

Days of '49 Poodle Dog Beginning

In the days of '49, a French couple opened the Poodle Dog Restaurant at Clay and Dupont Streets.

In '68, it was moved to Bush and Grant Avenue, where it became the "Old Poodle Dog."

In 1908, Lalanne and his associates opened the world famous Bergez Franks Old Poodle Dog at 415 Bush Street and it remained there until prohibition closed the door.

Today, at its 65 Post Street location, the Ritz Old Poodle Dog, still owned by the Lalanne family, is a San Francisco favorite. The 1967 look is a tasteful blend of the old and new.

While most guests prefer to order the a la carte specialties, both complete lunches and dinners are served. Wines from a full cellar, dramatic flourishes with flaming desserts, remind you that the Ritz Old Poodle Dog is California's oldest French restaurant.

Imported light and dark beer targets a taste treat with German food, prepared in an all-German kitchen. Both luncheon and dinner menus change every day.

Top Business At the Galaxie

The now international Swim dance was originated and introduced at the Galaxie, the swinging club on the corner of Broadway and Kearny Streets. From its great success have sprung many clubs in the Broadway sector.

Only now Galaxie has topless, as exemplified by the beautiful and terrifically figured Miss Jeani Monroe, literally the Toast of Broadway.

Dave Rapken has other gorgeous topless girls in his show, as well as colorful lighting and top musical combos. Small wonder the Galaxie continues to do top business along Broadway.

Open seven nights a week from 7 p.m. with continuous musical and topless shows. No cover charge or admission charge.

Dewey Wong Chef-Owner Of Pierre's

Hospitable Dewey Wong, chef-owner of Pierre's in downtown San Mateo, represents another generation of a long line of restaurateurs.

Dewey has been a part of the restaurant business since 1948. In the interim, managed such renowned restaurants as the Gold Coin and the Golden Pavilion, both in Los Angeles' Chinatown.

His first restaurant position was working for his father, who has operated the China Village in Salt Lake City since 1936. As Dewey recalls, he was so small that he had to stand on boxes to wash dishes.

Later, after coming to the Bay Area, his training included eight years at the Fairmont Hotel.

Since the day he opened his Pierre's restaurant, Dewey has done all the cooking himself. He delights in exotic dishes such as Chicken Hawaiian and Tahitian Honey Spareribs, but serves American favorites with just as much flavor.

Stu Adams And Lou Meyer Speak With Authority

Have had the pleasure of knowing Stu Adams and Louis Meyer, co-owners of Bardelli's, one of San Francisco's old-time restaurants located on O'Farrell Street, for many years.

When they tell you that "There is no finer food anywhere," they speak with authority. A la carte service in the evening is continuous; complete dinners are served until 10 p.m. Baked Lobster in Shell, Thermidor, and Chicken Raphael Weill are justly celebrated.

The lengthy old bar is the scene of many gatherings of newspapermen, entertainment greats and sports figures. Stu's cellar holds a fine collection of wines, including choice California vintners.

TOMMY HARRIS
Tommy's Joynt

Tommy's Joynt — The Former Site Of A Three-Story Victorian Mansion

The fire-engine red building which stands at the corner of Van Ness and Geary across from the Jack Tar Hotel was once a three-story Victorian mansion. Now, with its two top floors sliced off, it's a hofbrau restaurant and its name is Tommy's Joynt, owned and operated by Tommy Harris, entertainer and singer from the early days of radio.

Although the major emphasis is on food, the decor is overwhelming — old lamps, German castles, beer labels and signs, deerheads, flags inside (a rare 1811 campaign flag, "Harrison and Reform. The Hero of Tippecanoe"), and lined up on the roof, the bottom half of a female skier, autographed baseballs and hockey sticks. Tommy likes to call it "early Halloween."

Signs proclaim the Joynt, the "One, Only and Original." It is. Novel as it is, the decor merely shows off the food — the big showcase with several carvers slicing bigger-than-average portions of turkey, ham, beef, pastrami and corned beef for sandwiches or hot plates, at less than average prices. Unique dishes like the buffalo stew demonstrate the showmanship that has made the Joynt a San Francisco landmark for the last 16 years.

On the refreshment side, 85 varieties of beers from all over the world are to be found at the Joynt, and behind the long bar a dozen imported cheeses and traditional hard-boiled eggs.

All kinds of celebrities find their way to the hofbrau. It's also a favorite hangout for professional athletes, residents and tourists. Occasionally you have to wait in line, especially at lunch, but it's worth it.

Rapp Brothers' Holiday Inn Offers the Ultimate in Food, Entertainment and Lodging

Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, in South San Francisco, offers distinctive dining and top-notch entertainment geared for particular people.

Airport travelers are abundant here, as the "Inn" is only minutes away.

Dining in the Royal Hall is a delightful experience for all. Whether "royalty" or not, patrons feel like kings and queens from the very moment they enter the beautiful dining room.

The adjacent Lancer Lounge, one of the most attractive cocktail lounges on the Peninsula, provides a favorite relaxing rendezvous for many executives who utilize the Holiday Inn's facilities.

Banquet and meeting accommodations are most desirable and are booked months in advance.

With so much to offer, Food and Beverage Manager Claude Schroeder, a master of organization, is always on hand to

Gary Long, one of the top "88'ers" in the business, provides the entertainment every night, except Sunday.

Golf Set Favor Crystal Springs

One of the most popular "19th hole" stops for the sport-minded is Crystal Springs Golf Club.

Located on Skyline Boulevard in Burlingame, the popular club is open to the public and serves breakfast, lunch and cocktails.

Of course, golf is the number one attraction. It's no wonder the smart set favors Crystal Springs Golf Club.

Holiday Magazine Names Doros For Dining Distinction

Doros has been acclaimed by San Franciscans, as well as by visitors from all over the world as a truly great gourmet restaurant.

For five consecutive years Holiday Magazine has named Doros for Dining Distinction, an accolade given to very few restaurants.

Doros' owner-host, Don Diamante, keeps a sharp eye on every phase of the operation to be certain that his high standards are adhered to.

Al King at Your Entertainment Service

Club owners and those who are planning special parties in a club or at home with entertainment in mind, shouldn't overlook the fact that right in San Mateo is one of the best booking agents in the Bay Area. All you have to do is get with the Bell System and contact Al King, who has all kinds of talent at his fingertips.

New Tivoli's

Continental Charm

Not only San Franciscans, but visitors to the City have known Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli for its unequalled food, old country atmosphere and distinctive service.

For more than half a century, the Continental charm of this unique dining place has created new friendships and made old ones firmer.

Hotel Claremont Known Thruout The World

Murray Lehr probably has more going at his Resort Hotel Claremont, in the Berkeley-Oakland hills, than any hotel on the West Coast — if not in the entire country.

The Claremont is known throughout the world for its convention facilities — 37 different rooms for private meetings and such with a capacity of anywhere from 10 or so to a thousand.

It has a superb kitchen with its own bake shop that prepares foods for all meals and an Hawaiian Luau Dinner with 57 Polynesian gourmet treats, also a prime rib dinner in the same named room.

It has an Olympic-size swimming pool, deck games for the outdoor lovers, a poolside hairdresser, masseur and masseuse, Sauna baths, tennis and golfing privileges and dancing every Friday and Saturday nights to Wilbert Baranco and his combo. The Resort Hotel Claremont is known in Northern California as a fine place to spend a "Vacation Without Travel." With all of these facilities, do you wonder why?

Ercoli Brothers, Joe and Lou, Successful Restaurant Team

The Leaning Tower restaurant in South San Francisco offers superb Italian cuisine served in an elegant and sophisticated atmosphere.

Joe and Lou Ercoli, a dynamite brother team who inherited this thriving restaurant from their famous father, European chef Francois Ercoli, personally supervise preparation of each meal. They work together in handling the many banquets and special gatherings that are constantly being booked in the large facilities.

Menu choices range from standard Italian dishes to a special Giant New York Steak, which is featured during baseball season. Joe says their Cannelloni is the best in the world.

Scotty Campbell's Traditional Dining Name On Peninsula

Scotty Campbell's, a traditional restaurant name on the Peninsula for many successful years, is the dining mecca for countless numbers from far and wide.

Formerly the property by the famous Scotty Campbell, this popular Redwood City restaurant is owned and operated by Therese and Bud Urban, and Theresa's sister, Mary Lou Francis, who combines their restaurant know-how to bring the Peninsula flavorful food, choice wines and cocktails, all served in an atmosphere of warm hospitality.

Scotty Campbell's abounds with interesting antiques and curio items. Rich, red carpeting, soft lights, and wood panelling put the finishing touch to the "royal welcome" extended when entering this distinguished restaurant.

A spacious new parking lot, which was just completed, still overflows at luncheon and dinner times. You'll find many famous and near-famous people dining and relaxing here.

Original Paintings Displayed At Stickney's

Adrian Stickney's famous barbecued meats are delighting the palates of San Mateo gourmets at his fabulous Stagecoach restaurant, cocktail lounge and coffee shop, located on the ground floor of the new, nine-story Fifth Avenue Center.

The motif of Stickney's Stagecoach room is exceptional. A number of original paintings by leading western artists of the nineteenth and twentieth century plus an outstanding collection of old west artifacts, are on display.

The Stagecoach restaurant and cocktail room are entered through beautifully-carved wooden doors, off the lobby of the Fifth Avenue Center. Gary Lee entertains Tuesday through Saturday with his rhythmic piano stylings.

The coffee shop is entered directly from the front of the Fifth Avenue Center, on El Camino Real. The building has a free parking lot for several hundred cars.

The lower floor banquet room contains facilities to seat up to 300 people. The room contains an authentic, elaborately-decorated bar right out of the 1960's. There is also a large dance floor.

No meal at Stickney's of San Mateo is complete without one of the fabulous pastries.

Jon And Sondra Steel Holiday Hotel-Reno

The musical showmanship of Jon and Sondra Steele has now rolled into its final week in the Theater Lounge of the Holiday Hotel in Reno. The popular duo will headline the downtown hotel's dusk-till-dawn show through Wednesday, June 28, when the triple talents of the Salmas Brothes, Guy, George and Danny, will take over the top attraction spot.

The vocal - instrumental - comedy of the Aquamen and the violin instrumentals of Charles Gould and his Satin Strings will continue to round out the nightly entertainment.

Jon and Sondra are the couple who leaped into the national limelight with their recording of "My Happiest." The disc sold beyond the three - million mark and was chosen the record of the year. The two singers then gained their own television show on the NBC network and made numerous appearances on some of the country's leading video shows. They also launched a night club act which has gained accolades from the press across the nation.

La Touraine French Restaurant Is A Dining Must

A large selection of both imported and domestic wines to compliment your luncheon or dinner is an additional highlight at the La Touraine, Burlingame's famed French restaurant.

"We are delighted that we can now serve your favorite cocktail before luncheon or dinner, fine wines during meals, and your choice of liquors and after-dinner drinks," declared co-partner and host Ernest Luisetti.

Maurice Brossier, who is a chef with culinary imagination, personally prepares all food served at La Touraine. He is ably assisted by his sister, Marie, also a French cuisine expert.

Prices at La Touraine are most reasonable. Dine a la carte or enjoy a complete luncheon or dinner. Personal requests are always given special attention.

Meet George Magar Mardikian—World Renowned Ambassador Of Good Will and an Outstanding Restaurateur

The following article appeared in Ninety-second Annual Commencement Convocation at Brigham Young University and truly describes a great man and his many public services. Quote:

"George Magar Mardikian was born in Papert, Armenia, on November 7, 1903. After receiving his early education there, he attended Central College in Constantinople, Turkey. In 1922, he came to the United States, earning his passage on a Greek steamer. He worked in San Francisco, California, restaurants from 1922 to 1928, and then served as a steward on a round-the-world cruise. In 1929 he became a naturalized citizen of the United States.

"Mr. Mardikian opened his first restaurant, Omar Khayyam's in Fresno, in 1930. Eight years later he began his world-renowned restaurant in San Francisco, and in 1940 he opened a chain of sandwich shops called Chestnut Tree. However, Mr. Mardikian is more than a successful restaurateur. He is, above all, an American patriot, one who loves his country and who cherishes what he considers the most precious gift which he received as an immigrant — an understanding of the dignity of man and the opportunity to assert that dignity. Closely related is his antipathy toward giving people something for nothing. He believes in providing opportunities for people to help themselves so that they in turn may help others. This is the American way.

"He served with the Near East Relief and with the late President Herbert Hoover's Food Relief Program, 1920-1922, in the Caucasus Region. He also was a food consultant to the United States Armed Forces from 1942 through 1954, traveling throughout the world in be-everywhere and War Department commendations from the Secretary of War and others closely associated with the program. In addition, he received commendations from Presidents Hoover, Truman, and Eisenhower for Army food conservation and betterment of Army food.

"He is founder and president of the American National Committee to Aid Homeless Armenians, served as president of the United Broadcasting Company, was a member of the Hoover Task Force of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of Government, and received the Medal of Freedom in 1951, the Americanism medal in 1958, and the Boys Scouts of America "Silver Buffalo" award in 1959.

"Other public service includes membership on the National Council and Region XII of the Boy Scouts; membership on the Executive Board of the San Francisco Boy Scouts Council; service as director of the San Francisco Boys' Club; membership in the Armenian Apostolic Church, and membership in the World Affairs Council, the California Historical Society, the National Writers' Club, and numerous other organizations.

"He is also author of 'Song of America,' his bestseller autobiography, 1958, with a condensed adaptation in the September 1956 issue of the Reader's Digest; 'Dinner at Omar Khayyam's,' an informative book on cooking, 1944; and articles in a number of national magazines."

As host-owner of his world famed Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco, Mr. Mardikian delights in personally meeting and greeting his dining guests.

Bearded Pirates Buried Stolen Treasure In Historic Key West

Between the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico lies a historical dot of land that offers old world charm dating back to the days when long-bearded pirates buried stolen treasure on its quiet shores.

Known as the southernmost city of the United States, it's called Key West and is in reality a small island a mile and a half wide by four miles long.

Semi-tropical beneath a clear, blue sky, Key West is a paradise to fishermen, boatmen and people who enjoy turquoise water and warm sunny days.

National Airlines which serves Key West with daily flights advises women passengers to bring at least one evening dress. Dancing under a tropical moon is a must for all newcomers and certainly a romantic way for a vacation.

Chile Has Expanded During The Course Of Centuries

The village of Santiago, Chile, founded in 1541, has expanded greatly during the course of centuries and has become one of the principal cities of Latin America.

Life in Santiago moves at a leisurely pace and is geared to gracious living. There are a number of excellent hotels and the restaurants serve some of the finest food on the continent at prices which are definitely modest.

Santiago's weather is well known — the average annual temperature never going above 59 degrees fahrenheit. An attractive feature to North Americans is the reverse seasons, when it's winter at home it's summer in Santiago. The change of season is only hours away by Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-8 jetliners twice weekly flights from Vancouver, Calgary, Toronto, Windsor, and Montreal to Santiago via Mexico City and Lima, Peru.

Lou Romson Sets Kosher Food Style

Lou Romson and Sam Horan are credited with bringing the first "large scale" Kosher-style food to San Mateo at their Third onion roll, and smoked white fish with a Bermuda onion, sliced tomatoes and potato salad are satisfying many an appetite.

There is an unlimited menu in this wide variety of "different and delightful foods."

Black Horse "The Post" For Swing Set

The plush Black Horse lounge in Burlingame has the reputation of being a gathering center for members of the Peninsula's "swinging set."

Owned by two Bobs, Roselli and Batinovich, both of which are eligible young men, this is a packed-house spot any night of the week.

The fireplace area, which is separate from the main lounge, is one of the coziest around.

Once a month, the two Bobs usually host a special event—such as a spaghetti feed. Chartered buses to various Bay Area athletic events, among other regular "doings."

Color television, "hip" bartenders, and plenty of dance floor are other reasons why the Black Horse is a fun place to go in Burlingame.

A. Sabella's Will Always Be a Dine Out Tradition

Since the year of 1939, when A-tone Sabella, the father of Lucien Sabella, opened his restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf, the reputation for serving the finest in foods has been maintained through the years.

Almost everyone will remember the wonderful A. Sabella's Capri Room, which was completely destroyed by fire a few years ago. Here, every night was like New Year's Eve. Wall-to-wall crowds kept the dining room, as well as the dance floor, filled with laughter and merriment. Even the downstairs Fish Grotto was the delightful setting for large get-togethers and family fun.

Today, a new and ultra-swank A Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf invitingly beckons your patronage. There are three stories of spaciousness. A banquet room affords well-appointed accommodations for any occasion. Luncheon and dinner is served daily; dinner-dancing nightly, except Sunday, to the great orchestra of Joe Marcellino, a San Francisco favorite.

You'll find most of the original Capri Room staff at hand to serve you. Good Fortune is bringing the A. Sabella's name back to a Fisherman's Wharf dine-out tradition. Lucien Sabella and his mother, Angelina, welcome you to their new "home."

Alfred's Ships In Two Tons Of Meat A Week

Alfred Bacchini has had just one policy for the almost 40 years that he has been in business in the same location in San Francisco on famed Broadway—to serve only the very extra-choicest steaks.

For this purpose, Bacchini has a man in Chicago whose sole duty is to select only the finest Eastern, extra-choice steaks for shipment to Alfred's, almost two tons every week.

Alfred's also serves a wide selection of delicious Italian dinners as well as American, also fresh frog legs in season, obtained from two frog farms for Alfred's only.

Bacchini's co-hosts are Armando Modena and John La Torre.

For private banquets and parties, there are two rooms seating up to 85 people. Open every night for dinner from 4 p.m.

Mike Posey New Owner of The Millbrae Round Table Pizza

Mike Posey, new owner of the Millbrae Round Table Pizza, is headed for a big success in his first restaurant venture.

This English-style pub and pizza parlour has long been a favorite with pizza lovers on the Peninsula. After hearing of Mike's newly formulated plans, it's likely to be even more so in the future.

Fifteen different varieties of pizza are the main attraction. French roll sandwiches, salads and Bavarian-style beer on tap, served by the pitcher or mug, round out the menu offerings.

Now open at 8:30 a.m. on Monday through Saturday, Mike urges you to stop by for coffee and rolls. Serving from 11 a.m. on Sundays.

Sunday Jam Sessions

At Rocky's Lounge

Rocky's Redwood City lounge is one of the Peninsula "in" spots for those who like "swing" on the dance floor.

Appearing on weekends, the uninhibited Super Moreno and The Escorts, a group with a great medley of R & R sounds.

Super, a drummer in a class by himself, leads the group as they swing through the hit tunes of the day and the big songs of the past.

Dance floor action matches the music. You're likely to see an exhibition of the latest dance crazes on any night of the week.

Sunday jam sessions start in the afternoon and usually continue far into the night.

Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club Making Entertainment History

Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club, located at San Francisco International Airport's Hilton Inn, is the scene, these days of an act just as sensational as the soon-to-be-introduced 250-passenger airliners expected for the future.

It's Bill's personal creation, an Environmental Control Center that produces a light and sound display. The "brain," as Bill aptly terms it, produces a total emersion of visual and sound experiences.

Besides the visual color patterns and booming sound effects, Bill has plans to add another sense to the unit—that of smell. When finally completed, the "brain" is expected to receive the same type of national publicity that Bill received when opening the internationally famed Tiger.

Curtiss & Tracy Comedy Team Club Playboy

Variety calls them "the funniest team since Laurel and Hardy." Jerry Lewis describes them as "the funniest team since Jerry Lewis." and Shelly Kasten, director of entertainment for the Playboy Club chain, says, "I just call them—all the time."

Named after his father who was a singing idol in the 1930's, BILL TRACY plays the role of the straight man. His professional career began when, at 12 years of age, he sang tenor in the Mitchell Boys Choir. Later, Tracy sang in films—Going My Way, The Jolson Story and The Paleface—and when he was old enough for long khakis Bill did 200 Army shows in Korea. Switching from Seoul to soul, he became a ballad singer at Las Vegas, Desert Inn, where he ran into Curtiss.

They agree it was a long courtship, exactly seven years before deciding "two could fail as gloriously as one." But fail they didn't. They have appeared on television varieties shows: the Paar, Carson, Allen and Sullivan shows; and have played all the major niteries around the country. Curtiss and Tracy are currently featured at the San Francisco Club Playboy.

Hillsdale Inn Offers Facilities for All Occasions

The Hillsdale Inn is one of the busiest Motor Hotels in San Mateo. Not only is the Inn "home away from home" for many travelers from distant points, but it is also a social center and meeting place for numerous people on the Peninsula.

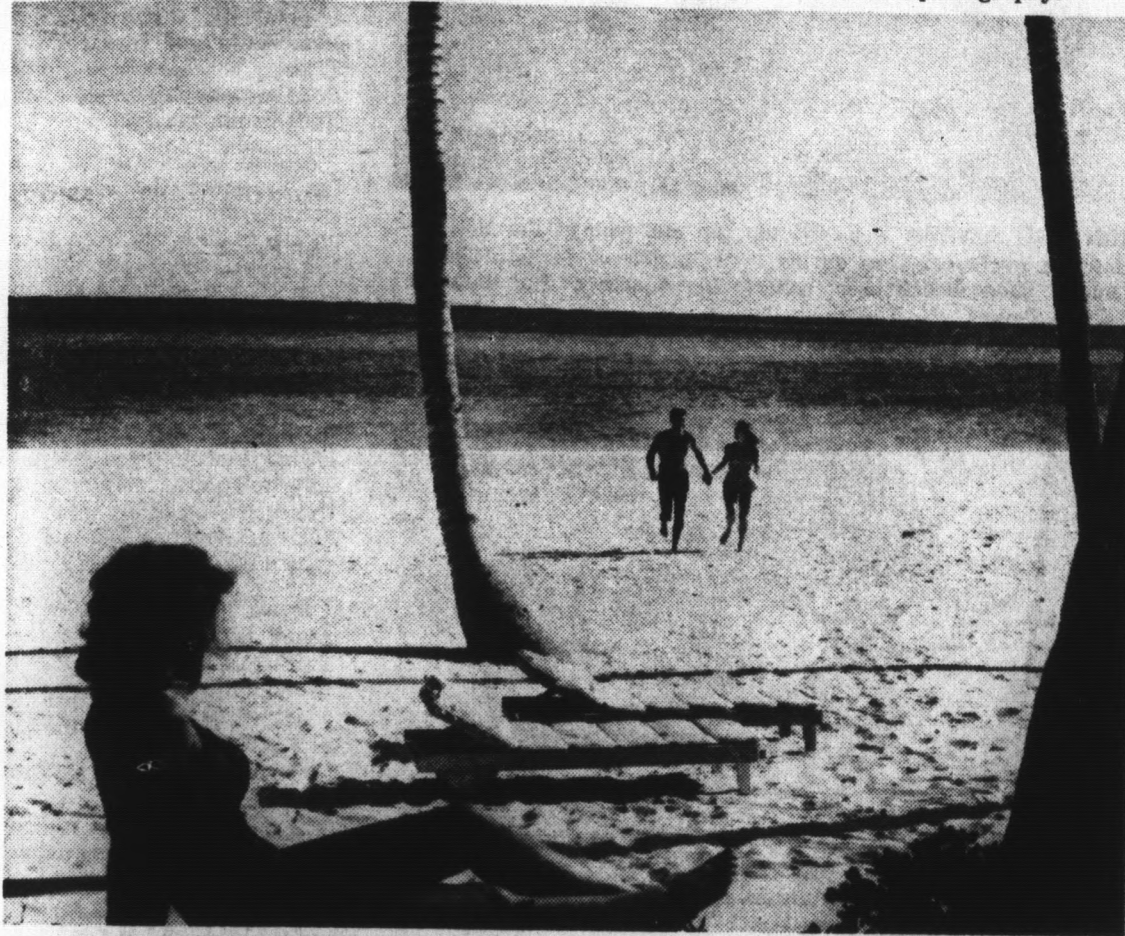

The Steak Pit, operated by restaurateur Frank Martinelli, can be considered one of the top steakeries on anyone's dine out list.

The Coffee Shop, which is open 24 hours a day, is a welcome haven for travelers arriving at late hours, and "nite owls" who crave early-morning snacks.

Besides the food and lodging, the Hillsdale Inn offers other fine services. The handling and planning of wedding receptions ranks high on the busy schedule of Co-manager Fred Williams. A complete service for future brides-to-be is a specialty here — including floral arrangements and photography.

LATE AFTERNOON ON GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND is the time for the day's final swim. The beaches, made of sugar-like white sand, are among the finest in the world. They stretch the full length of the southern shore of the island.

Lawrence Welk Opens June 28th Harrah's Tahoe

Lawrence Welk and his entire troupe, a whirling dervish of entertainment featuring more talented performers in an evening than usually invade a night club stage in a month, whirl in to the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe Wednesday night, June 28, for their annual three-week engagement.

Edie Adams and Edgar Bergen appear through Tuesday night, June 27.

The swift pacing, the splashes of colored costumes, the humorous and poignant sets, all the ingredients which have made the Welk TV show a staple for more than 14 years, have blended in to the sixth annual Welk visit to Harrah's.

At Harrah's Stateline Cabaret are Gaylord and Holiday, Joe King, and Dennis and Rogers.

Two great "K" attractions — Kirby (George, that is) and the Kim Sisters, combine to present a wonderful double attraction these evenings in the Headliner Room at Harrah's Reno. Also on the program are the Morolandis Dancers and the George Hernandez orchestra.

Appearing in the Reno Casino Cabaret are Don Cornell, Judy Lynn, and The Sneaker.

Charles Krug Winery Now Over 100 Years Old

In 1861, Charles Krug planted his first vineyard and built his first wine cellar at St. Helena in the Napa Valley.

Now over 100 years old, Charles Krug Winery is noted for the excellence of its wines and also for the friendliness of its public relations. The winery is open to visitors every day of the year, a few universal holidays excepted.

When people call at the winery they are treated as welcome guests. A staff of affable and competent guides conduct them on tours of the grounds and buildings and then to the scenic Tasting Room to sample the wines.

The Lawn Wine Tastings held on the greensward 'neath the historic Krug oaks have become California classics.

In the Barbecue Area (by confirmed reservation) al fresco meals, ranging from picnics by small groups up to catering luncheons for national and international organizations are cooked and served at tables with wooden benches.

Charles Krug Winery places great emphasis on wine education. Tastings and lectures are organized by members of the Sales Department in West Coast areas.

Have Fun And Fish, Hunt, Relax At Trinity Alps

Trinity Alps Resort has over 50 cabins, furnished with essential modern conveniences, which are tucked away in the shade among the large pine, fir, cedar and spruce trees lining the river.

Cascading down a canyon of giant pine and spruce trees is the Stuart's Fork of the Trinity River, famous for its beauty and large trout. There are beautiful trails leading to the back country, on which one is never out of sight or sound of the river.

A western atmosphere and friendly, home-like hospitality await you in abundance at the Trinity Alps Resort. This is an ideal spot for all — with the many diversified activities offered — from "packing in the back country" to just sitting and allowing the sound of the river and the gentle whisper of the pines to soothe you into a pleasant lassitude.

Le Trianon Resort For the Whole Family

Enjoy swimming, fishing, boating, hiking, hunting and just resting at Le Trianon Resort on beautiful Blue Lakes, only three hours from the Bay Area.

Here, at an elevation of 1,400 feet, you will delight to swim in the clear, spring-fed lake and to fish for Rainbow Trout, bass, and bluegill.

Fourteen hundred acres of wooded hills and fields provide plenty of space for outdoor activity. For your convenience, there is a store where you can buy groceries, fishing tackle, swimming gear, rifles, etc.

Enjoy Skunk Trip Through The California Redwood

Leave at 8 a.m. from San Francisco aboard a de luxe motor coach for a scenic ride through Marin County, past San Quentin, San Rafael Mission and Frank Lloyd Wright's beautiful Marin County Building.

Stop at Santa Rosa's Luther Burbank Gardens; see the strawberry and plumcot trees. Take a short visit to Ripley's Believe-It-or-Not, the Church Built From One Tree.

After a lunch stop, on to Willits to board the self-powered railcar, the "Skunk." A fascinating 40-mile trip over 32 trestles and bridges, through two tunnels and some of the most lovely redwood and meadowland in California leads to the Pacific and Fort Bragg.

From Willits your motor coach takes you to the Italian Swiss Colony Winery for a tour through the cellars.

Sal Carson Baton Waver At Hoberg's

It's that time of the year again for Sal Carson's great combo to set the Hoberg Resort dance beat.

Carson and his versatile group lift the curtain July 1 with overtones of the famous Anson Weeks' rhythms wafting out among the pines of George Hoberg's popular mountain spa in Lake County. From a minuet to hard rock, Sal and his boys run the gamut of nostalgia to current juke-box top sellers.

This, coupled with a world of action-packed amusements and facilities, plus 50 new and ultra-modern Hoberg Hotel units on the American or European Plan, again stamp Hoberg's Resort in scenic Lake County as a MUST during the '67 season.

Famed Seigler Springs Takes on New Look—Now a Summer Camp for Boys

Still looking for a camp to send your sons(s) to this summer? Look no further, for we have the name of a good one for you—with a staff and program second to none. It's the Seigler Springs Golden Bear Summer Camp with University of California's head basketball coach Rene Herrerias serving as Camp Director and Bill Heemovich, co-owner of Seigler Springs, as camp administrator. Rene's right-hand man at Cal, Jim Padgett, will serve as co-director while Ernie Olsen of Seigler Springs will serve as co-administrator. The staff will include such other Cal coaches as Bill Martell (Wrestling), Myrel Moore (football), and Pete Cutino (swimming). In addition, the staff will include a group of outstanding college students and athletes who will assist and counsel the youngsters at camp. Seigler Springs has for many years been one of the most popular summer resorts in Northern California. Located in the mountains of beautiful Lake County, the famed spa this summer will take on a "new look" as a summer camp for boys. The mountains may never be the same. "It's a delightful setting for such a camp, offering facilities and location that can't be beat," beamed Herrerias. Camp facilities includes a heated indoor pool as well as a large outdoor pool; hiking trails, tennis and basketball courts, athletic field for baseball, softball, and football, and there are two golf courses only minutes away for additional education in sports. There will be three well-balanced meals a day in a large and modern dining room. What's more, there will be "seconds" for all — if they want. Insurance will be carried on all boys and there will be a doctor always on hand in camp. "We hope to send the boys home after 12-day sessions with us a little better trained, athletically and physically, and with a deeper sense of responsibility," said Herrerias.

Something Different? Indonesian, Malayan

For those who are always on the scout for something different, it would be to your dining advantage to take in the Indonesia Satay House in San Francisco. Enjoy the authentic Indonesian and Malayan dishes served from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. except Fridays.

Lake County, A Family Vacation Wonderland

In a wonderland setting of sparkling lakes, towering hills and fertile valleys, you will find many historic towns, mountain and lake resorts. You'll also enjoy Blue Lakes, Lake Pillsbury's rugged beauty, and Clear Lake, California's largest, with more than 100 miles of scenic shoreline. There's fishing at Clear Lake all day, all night, all year

'round. Big black bass, little bluegills, huge crappies, fat "cats." As for hunting, 15,000 acres of public land in the Cow Mountain, Boggs Mountain and Mendocino National Forest areas. Your choice of accommodations is unlimited, the price range wide. You will encounter hospitality everywhere. Bring only your appetite and capacity for fun. This wonderful playground also offers countless resources—such as prize quality Bartletts, sold at premium prices; choice varieties of walnuts grow luxuriantly in the valleys and volcanic hills; beans thrive in rich land around Upper Lake; prize-winning cattle and horses are raised in many parts of the county.

Turin, Italy, Home of Fiats And Roman Chariot History

Despite the beauty of Turin and its many attractions, not many tourists visit the Piedmont capital except as a stopover on the way to other cities in Italy or to the winter resorts of the Maritime Alps. It is, of course, known far and wide as one of Italy's great industrial centers, with the giant factory of the Fiat Automobile Company as its main focus. This factory, however, is not without interest, and is well worth a visit. Along with its housing developments, hospitals, and schools, it forms a city in itself at the edge of Turin proper. It provides considerable security from the cradle to the grave for an army of 130,000 workers and their families, and is regarded as the most nearly perfect example of enlightened capitalistic enterprise in Italy.

Turin is a showplace for history as well as modern industry. It has an impressive Roman gate — all that remains of a wall that surrounded the city in ancient times. The gate is built of Roman bricks, each of which is exactly three times the size of one of the sort used of modern Italian bricklayers, and, beneath its arch, ruts made by Roman chariots in the stone-paved road can be seen. The Torinese point out an interesting fact: that these ruts show the distance between the wheels of an ancient chariot to be precisely the same as the distance between those of a modern Italian car.

Drag'on A-Go-Go Tops Tourist List

Drag'on A-Go-Go, Chinatown's hottest night club and only dancing spot, continues to draw capacity crowds.

Located in the Wentworth Alley, at the heart of San Francisco's Chinatown, the "Drag'on" roars every night of the week.

Currently headlining the show is Danny Monday and the Second Revolution, who describe their sounds as "Folk-Rock."

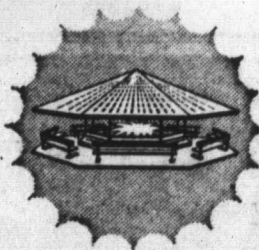

The dance floor space is tremendous! The frantic movements of the dancers are unbelievable. Minors (over 18) are welcome, and patrons range in age from 18 to 80.

The Novelites And The Hawaiian Hulabaloo Crystal Bay Club

Appearing now in the lounge at North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club is that exotic group of South Sea Island dancers, the Hawaiian Hulabaloo.

Also, appearing are three young vets who have developed into one of the best of instrumental trios, The Novelites. A wild comic trio whose comedy and musical magic has made them one of the top acts in show business, The Novelites are always a hit of the season.

Best known as side-splitting, funny comedians, they are also top song sellers and are backed by a quartet of accomplished musicians. The Novelites, featuring Joe Mayer, Frankie Carr and Chuck Leonard, are acknowledged to be leaders in their fun predictable field.

Top Talent For The Ember's

Don Zirilli's Embers in Redwood City is a big entertainment center for the "new sound" set.

Closing Sunday, June 25, after a smash appearance is the Nooney Rickett V, a group who made it big in Las Vegas.

Opening Tuesday, June 27, will be Kelly Garrett and Blues For Sale.

The week of July 3 will see Nino Tenpo and April Stevens sharing the Embers stage (Monday, instead of Tuesday, being the opening night).

Keep a sharp eye on the top-notch entertainment scheduled here for the coming months.

Harold's Club Bob Newhart A Latter-Day Will Rogers

Bob Newhart tells it like it is — when it was. The soft-spoken funnyman, now in the midst of a three-week engagement through July 3 in Reno's Harold's Club, gives the real scoop on such historic happenings as the introduction of tobacco to this country, King Kong on the Empire State Building when a new night watchman takes over and an advertising agency's attempt to create a proper image for Abraham Lincoln.

A phenomenon in the grind of show business, Newhart's style is to low-key stories of everyday occurrences. Something like a latter-day Will Rogers, Newhart shyly tells his audience of such simple things as boarding an airplane — and brings the house down.

Songstress Marilyn Apollo is the supporting act in Harold's current showbill and the music is provided by Don Conn and his Orchestra.

Shows are twice nightly at 9 p.m. and midnight; a third late show every Saturday at 2:30 a.m.

Music in Harold's Club also originates downstairs in the second story lounge, the Silver Dollar Room. Performers in the lounge who come on with a new show every hour on the hour are singer Johnny Prophet, banjoist Freddy Morgan, a jazz duo headed by pianist-singer Craig Evans and a wild and wacky musical trio called the Winners.

Atlanta Features The Land Of Yesteryear Indians, Tomahawks, Gunfire, Scenic Railroad

Just north of Atlanta, the century-old war-whoops of Indians sometimes seem to echo through the still Georgia night.

Nearby, trains are raided daily by Indians — resplendent in warpaint and fine, colorful feathers. Their war cries are matched only by the shrill whistle of the engine and the gunfire of the defenders.

You won't find a tomahawk in the middle of Peachtree Street, but you will find a host of Indian lore in the country around Atlanta. And youngsters delight in the telling and retelling of the days when Atlanta was Indian country.

A drive in almost any direction takes you to the land of yesteryear, where the redman set up his teepee and hunted for food.

Indian wars still rage at Stone Mountain (16 miles east of Atlanta on U.S. 78), where no

"iron horse" gets through unseen by the braves.

The Stone Mountain Scenic Railroad, largest amusement type railroad in the world, winds its way around the gigantic mountain of stone as the Indians watch quietly. At Big Shanty, they decide to attack. The battle rages as the train conductors, showgirls and youngsters fight for "survival."

Slowly, but surely, the experienced, sharp-shooting conductors win. The Indians retreat. But the youngsters know they'll be back the next time the shrill whistle signifies the running of the Stone Mountain railroad.

There is Indian lore north of Atlanta also at the Etowah Archaeological Area and Museum, occupied by the Indians for about 500 years between 1000 A.D. and 1500 A.D. This area, once a center of political and religious life, is near Cartersville, some 40 miles from Atlanta on U.S. 41.

Pierre's, a swinging San Francisco nitery, is one of the top fun spots in a city famed for its after-dark action.

Located in the very center of North Beach, at Broadway and Columbus, Pierre's offers a continual circus of top entertainment.

Miss Helen Marshall and the Topless College Coeds, a group of stunning college girls who have completely revolutionized our "educational" system, are packing remarkable crowds into their "classroom."

Appearing also, is Mame Spring, the sexy topless comedienne who is the newest rage in topless entertainment.

Seven-Eleven Fun Trips For All Occasions

Seven Eleven Fun Trips of San Francisco and San Jose are a modern phenomenon which came into existence five years ago to handle the growing traffic of Northern Californians, who regularly visit South Shore, Lake Tahoe.

Whether you drive to the Lake or prefer to take a Greyhound bus, this firm is a specialist who can make all your arrangements, and save you time and money while doing it.

The bus trips are of special interest to those who want to relax and agree to Greyhound's suggestion of "Leave the driving to us."

These overnight tours include for one price, deluxe motel accommodations, cash refund, and round-trip transportation. One-night tours leave Wednesdays and Saturdays, and two-nighters depart Friday.

Trained escorts are aboard every air-conditioned bus to make you comfortable and assist upon arrival.

The newest fun trip is a "Drive-Up" designed for the man who enjoys the freedom of an auto trip.

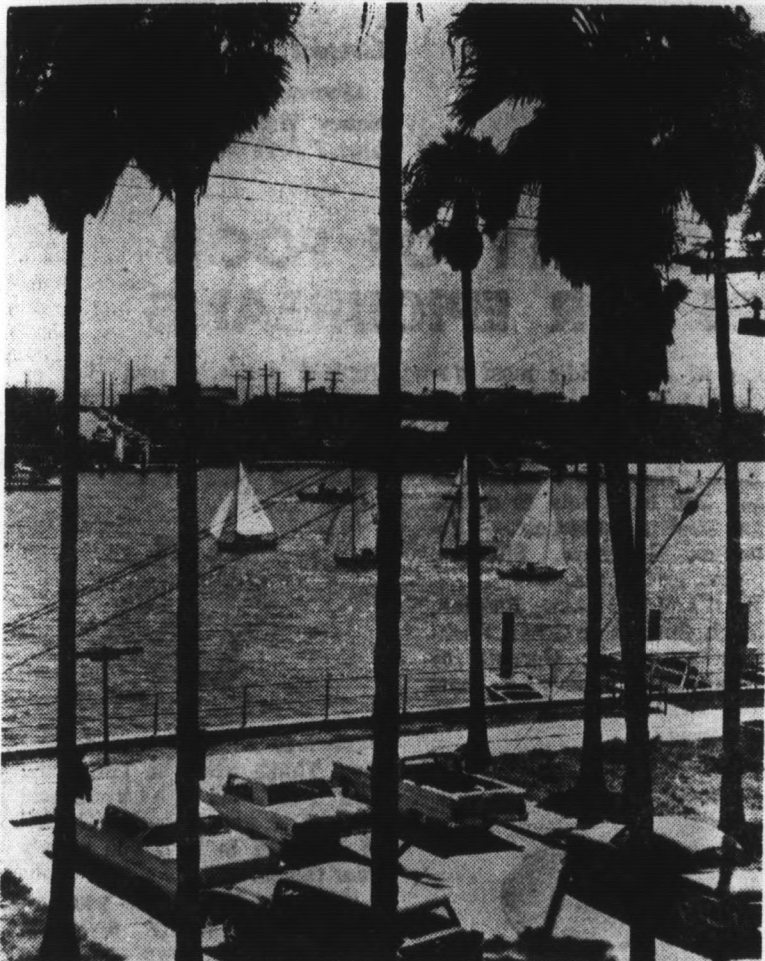

AL HIRT
Nugget-Sparks

Al Hirt Renowned Trumpet Showman Returns To Nugget

Massive Al Hirt, renowned as the "World's Greatest Trumpet Showman," has returned to the beautiful Circus Room of the Nugget in Sparks (East Reno), along with the youthful and effervescent singing sisters, The Clingers.

Hirt, whose snowballing career reached its peak in 1964 through his tremendous exposure on TV, in concerts, at clubs, and on records, continues as one of the most popular stars in the entertainment business. To attest to this fact, one only needs to review the trumpeter's tight schedule of nightclub and television dates around the country, and his popular recordings that are consistently among the best-sellers on the market.

Rounding out this fast-moving and highly entertaining program in the Nugget's 750-seat theater - restaurant is another all-new production number by the Dorothy Dorben Singers and Dancers, plus the talented performing antics by Bertha and Tina the elephants.

PLEASURE BOATING ON LOS ALAMITOS BAY—Palm trees, blue sky and sails are all Long Beach trademarks. So is sunshine. The average yearly temperature is 63 degrees. Thousands come from all around the country to enjoy the warm sand and balmy breezes of this Pacific paradise.

Enjoy A Trip To The Black Rock Desert On Nevada Drive

The drive from Reno north to the rim of the sprawling Black Rock Desert is full of scenery and surprises. To get there drive 30 miles east from Reno to Wadsworth, quite a small community, but once a major division point on the Central Pacific Railroad.

Then continue north to the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation and its trading center at Nixon. A quiet neighborhood today, but one of the bloodiest Indian wars in Nevada's history took place here in 1860.

About 25 miles north of Nixon, between the dazzling white basin called Winnemucca Dry Lake and the highway are found a group of perfectly shaped white rock mounds — calcareous tufa, formed by ancient lake waters hundreds of years ago.

Forty-five miles north of Nixon is a pleasant little town called Empire, which is operated by the U.S. Gypsum Company.

Six miles farther is Gerlach, a railroad town with a real Old West flavor. A dirt road leading out of Gerlach goes 18 miles to the Fly Ranch Geyser, a geological oddity on private land, but clearly visible from the road. The geyser provides a satisfying Sunday destination.

The Happening Haven for Shoppers

Hillsdale's newest restaurant is "The Happening" — and it's really that!

Located at 2 Hillsdale Blvd. in the heart of the shopping area, this restaurant-fountain meeting place for busy shoppers and hungry merchants is owned and operated by Rich Roland and Louis Miguel.

Every day a "Blue Plate" or Merchant's lunch is featured for only $1. Plus the fact that the fountain section also serves all the "goodies" that fountain sections usually do.

Open from 6 in the morning to 10 p.m., The Happening is destined to become a pop mealtime stop for good food happenings.

PUBLIC NOTICE LIQUIDATION LAND SALE BY OWNER

Barney's Casino "New Look" Now In Full Force

The "new look" is in full force at Barney's Casino in Stateline, Nevada. General Manager R. L. "Dick" Chartrand has made many changes in the club's interior which has given it the air of spaciousness and leaving more room for gaming.

A new Keno section is being well received by the patrons; a new restaurant is being installed in the upper level, and new rest rooms are being designed.

Barney's is one of two clubs offering Greyhound bus service from the Bay Area leaving from the San Francisco and Oakland Greyhound bus depots four times a day. General refunds await your arrival at the Casino. This is a seven-day-a-week schedule. So take Greyhound's advice and "leave the driving to them."

Desserts Complement Plumed Horse Menu

The Plumed Horse, the unique restaurant on Big Basin Way, Saratoga, which features a Victorian and Early California decor, serves homemade desserts which complement the luncheon and dinner specials.

Cocktails and fine domestic and imported wines are served during your meals, or may be enjoyed in the luxury of the elaborately decorated cocktail lounge.

Reservations are suggested, as the Plumed Horse is a much-visited restaurant by tourists from all over the country, as well as local people. Private party rooms are also available by calling hostess-owner Frances Anderson well in advance.

"Mr. Showmanship" Liberace Returns To Sahara-Tahoe Through July 17

The performer who, in 26 years as an entertainer, has graduated from "Mr. Smiles" to "Mr. Showmanship," takes to the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel's High Sierra Theater stage June 27 when Liberace returns for a three-week engagement.

The beguiling pianist just recently enjoyed a highly successful run at the Sahara-Tahoe's sister hostelry in Las Vegas while celebrating his birthday. During his Lake Tahoe stay he will also be presenting lovely and talented Vietnamese songstress Bach Yen and harmonica virtuoso Stan Fisher.

LIBERACE
Sahara-Tahoe
Stateline, Nev.

Noted more than any other male entertainer in the world for his glittering wardrobe, Liberace will be making no less than six changes of attire during the 90-minute presentation. The pianist's program ranges from pops to show tunes to Latin numbers, with an assist from Darias, "King of the Bongos," a classical medley, waltzes and even the "Beer Barrell Polka."

Dr. Gordon Robinson will conduct the Al Tronti Orchestra for Liberace.

Liberace will be followed by Nancy Wilson and the Doodletown Pipers on July 18.

ASSORTED VARIETY OF FOOD AND WINES FOR EPICUREANS

In order that readers of the San Mateo Times and The Post may enjoy the epicurean delights that have been your Bright Lighter's pleasure to experience we pass along this information:

You never have to repeat yourself or settle for less than class or top quality in the Peninsula-San Francisco Bay Area, and East Bay. The tidelands of the Pacific and the fields of the central valley provide tasty viands, from abalone to zucchini.

Prime fruit from the lowlands and prime meat from the uplands flow into the Bay Area.

Some of the world's most delectable wines are bottled in the hills no more than a cork's pop away.

Have a fancy for Oriental cuisine? You have only to decide what kind in particular — Polynesian, Japanese, Siamese, Filipino, or Chinese.

If it's Italian, Russian, French, Spanish or Greek, Kosher or Cantonese, German or Latvian, you're only a short drive away from any of these taste treats.

After the meal — what then?

Topless dancers, jazz (hot or cool), theater, opera, ballet, far-out combo sounds, or big name entertainment are to be found in the Peninsula-San Francisco Bay Area and East Bay. That's why The Times and The Post's Eighth Annual "Dine-Out and Vacation Guide" is designed to help you satisfy your tastes.

By using the Guide you can plan ahead many delightful evenings on the town and in the country.

New "Vive Les Girls" Show Blossoms in Nevada Lodge

After a spectacular opening on June 15, the all-new "Vive Les Girls" production heads into a summer-long run at North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge.

"Vive Les Girls," conceived and produced by Fredric Apar, is a lavish array of Parisian glamor, spotlighting Continental showgirls, brilliant costuming, dynamic set designs, exciting musical numbers and choreography. It is offered as an adults-only potpourri of sophisticated entertainment for visitors to the uncrowded shores of North Lake Tahoe and Nevada Lodge.

Productions are staged nightly in Nevada Lodge's Topaz Room. For this year's all-new show, producer Apar auditioned thousands of the world's most beautiful women, and has brought a matchless bevy of the world's reigning stars. The excitingly feminine production numbers are complemented by a series of acts that bring some of the brightest comedy and specialty performances ever seen at Lake Tahoe.

Also appearing nightly in Nevada Lodge's Topaz Room lounge are two acts that make the current bill one of the best ever. The Guys 'n Dolls are a youthful quartet whose music and on-stage antics have made them a Nevada Lodge favorite. Sharing the spotlight is the Bobby Rogers Trio, a colorful male group making its first California appearance, after a solid record of success in the East and Midwest.

Critics have acclaimed the new "Vive Les Girls" as brilliantly combining the adult appeal of the French Follies, the fun of a three-ring circus, the artistry of ballet, the superb showmanship of a TV special, and the great talent of exclusive nightclubs.

J and G Restaurant Has Family Entrance

The family entrance at the J and G restaurant has proved a welcome mat for families dining here. Chicken Cacciatore and Veal Scallopine are just two of the many dishes prepared by Chef-owner Joe Salmi who really knows his Italian food business.

Guido Bianchina, Joe's long-time partner in this San Mateo restaurant known for its neighborliness, tends the bar and keeps his customers up to date on all sports events.

SOARING GLIDERS are in action every weekend at Torrey Pines near San Diego. The cliff tops provide unusually good vantage points for spectators. Several sailplanes may be seen in flight at one time. The Annual Pacific Coast Mid-Winter Soaring Championships is a major attraction.

Hi-Fi Room South Has Many "Patron Pleasers"

Joe Borges and Ben Muniz, enterprising owners of the Hi-Fi Room South, must stay awake nights thinking of more "doings" for their busy downtown San Mateo club.

Everything in the way of "patron pleasers" can be expected when visiting here.

Monday is "Ladies Night." Drinks are only 35 cents, and free orchids are given to all the gals.

Tuesday and Thursday nights, Joe and Ben feature their "All you can eat" for 25 cents sessions, with pizzas and tacos being the food fare.

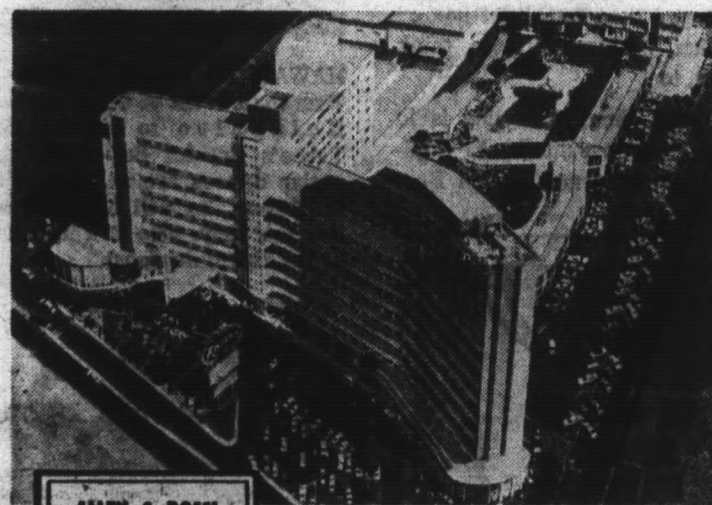

The spacious Hi-Fi-South Room dance floor is put into action when Ray Neveraz and The Dots bandstand on Friday, Saturday nights, and for Sunday

"Jam" sessions. Many amateurs (with and without talent) usually join in the jam session fun.

Don't forget "Champagne Sundays," when the bubbly refreshment is only 25 cents a glass between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

"Barney's Back!" At The Hawthorne, Nevada, El Capitan

In Hawthorne, Nevada, the word is out that "Barney's back!" The townsfolk are flocking to Barney's El Capitan to greet the popular Irishman, who, for many years, was at the helm of Barney's Casino in Stateline.

First thing Barney did was to raise the Keno limit to $25,000 — quite a prize for the amount of money invested. Barney has more ideas for his El Capitan club than an I.B.M. machine — and he wastes no time putting them into action.

Clip out the two free coupons appearing in Barney's El Capitan advertisement and take advantage of the offer.

The prime rib dinner and special Sunday Buffet priced in the "cheaper than eating at home" bracket is something to think about, too.

If your vacation setting is in Reno, plan to visit the El Capitan in Hawthorne and tell Barney I sent you.

Park Avenue Motel Invites Year 'Round Vacation Business

There are countless motels in the Lake Tahoe sector, in both California and Nevada, and one that rates high on any recommendation list is the well-appointed Park Avenue Motel, located in Stateline, California.

The Park Avenue Motel is just a pleasant walk from the Nevada gaming casinos and floor shows. Not only are the motel prices right, but it welcomes your visit the year 'round.

Of course, there's a big difference in room rates during the summer season — because the motel folks in this area have only a short few months to make up for the long siege of ice and snow during the winter.

Park Avenue Motel owners, Jerry and Bobbie Barber, have a way of remembering their guests. If you call for a summer reservation and the Park Avenue Motel is filled up, they make it their duty to contact various close-by motels to see that you have lodging.

If you have had difficulty getting reservations in the past, phone the Park Avenue Motel, ask for Jerry Barber and leave the "rest" to him.

The Motel is also headquarters for the Lake Tahoe Greyhound Bus-Barney's Casino Package Tour which gets under way in the late summer months. This package was so popular last winter that reservations have already been listed for the 1968 season.

Thirty de luxe units, some with kitchens; free coffee; television, and a large heated swimming pool await your visit to Park Avenue Motel. Reservations are made for club shows if you desire.

Mid-Winter Soaring Classic Major San Diego Spectator Sport

Since the beginning of time when man first watched a gull ride the wind, he has entertained the dream of soaring himself.

In San Diego every weekend some practical dreamers make this dream come true as sail planes fly over scenic Torrey Pines Park, hovering into the wind like a flock of gulls. To hundreds of earth-bound spectators, they rekindle the old urge to soar on the wind.

For over 30 years the gull-appearing craft have soared from the 300-foot cliffs of Torrey Pines out over the edge of the surf with the dignity of frigate birds.

Many world records were set here in the early '30s by Hawley Bowles Jack Barstow and Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Uncounted national records have fallen at the crest of this mesa.

Gliding is one of the more unusual and picturesque attractions, offered in San Diego and the Torrey Pines site is considered one of the finest of its type in the country. The towering cliffs on the edge of the Pacific Ocean at Torrey Pines catch breezes from the sea and deflect them upward to provide the powerful air currents needed to bear the motorless aircraft aloft.

The cliff tops also provide unusually good vantage points for spectators and several of the sailplanes may be seen in flight at one time.

Annually, Torrey Pines is the scene of the Pacific Coast Mid-Winter Soaring Championships, the only large-scale soaring match in the nation during the winter months.

Wild Boar French Delicacy Menu Feature at Le Trianon

Have you ever dined on roast wild boar? If you haven't, then you're in for a treat when ordering this authentic French delicacy at the Le Trianon restaurant in San Francisco, where it's a special feature on the menu.

The popularity of roast wild boar served here started in 1963, when owners James Coulot and Paul Dufour wanted to serve a dish commemorating the Festival of France. Le Marcassin Grand Veneur, as it's listed on the menu, is often sold out long before the dinner hour is over.

mosphere conducive to pleasant conversation at Le Trianon restaurant, which was originally the site of the old Paris Cafe.

Truffled goose liver, snails, mussels, glazed chestnuts and other gourmet items are all imported from France. Most of the menu at the Le Trianon is a la carte. However, for the convenience of theater-goers, a complete dinner is served until 8:30 p.m. Reservations are advised.

Tom Morgan And Walt Raiter Present

"The New Look Mesa"

In their latest move to please patrons of their Mesa, pop cocktail lounge in downtown San Bruno, owners Tom Morgan and Walt Raiter have enlarged the dance floor and added extra tables, which almost doubles the seating capacity.

Weekends find this cozy lounge positively jammed, so the extra space acquired was certainly needed.

Long-time Mesa favorites, 3 Bees and A Honey, entertain and play for dancing Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

No cover and no minimum charge; dancing seven nights a week.

Frank's Now Has Full Scale Dining Operation

Tony Accardo, host-owner of Frank's New York Italian restaurant, is well on the way of setting a record of sorts.

Only a few months ago, Tony's Millbrae restaurant was a "pizza-type" house specializing in various kinds of pizza. Although business was good, he decided to try his hand with a full-scale operation.

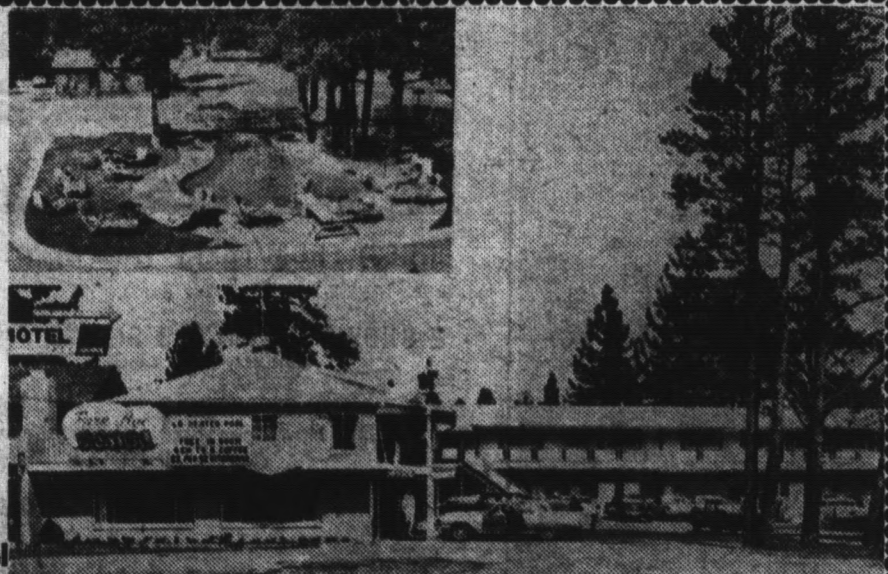

Adding a wide range of Italian and Continental dishes to the menu, Tony has discovered that discriminating diners, looking for outstanding food, totally outnumber "just pizza" customers. Such dishes as Lobster "Fra Diavolo," Saltimbocca a La Romana and Scaopinni a la Dore are now served.

Shecky Greene a "Blue Chip Act" During His Las Vegas Riviera Stay

An "ace-in-the-hole" is a comfortable feeling — especially in one of the plush Las Vegas casinos. Going on that assumption, no hotel can match the comfort veteran comedian Shecky Greene provides those who operate Riviera Hotel.

"Booking Shecky for 20 weeks a year is comparable to walking over to the bank and making a blue-chip deposit," said a Riviera executive. "Although he is one of the highest paid headliners on the Strip, we wish we had a few more like him." The Chicago-born comedian is comparatively unknown in most entertainment centers, but in Las Vegas he attracts SRO crowds every show.

Reservations must be made well in advance to insure a seat in even the remotest area of Riviera's Starlite Theater. Fellow entertainers regard Shecky as the most brilliant wit in the business.

Greene offstage is a melancholy Pagliacci who is tormented by personal problems. But once on-stage, he displays a brand of humor which keeps capacity audiences laughing for more than an hour.

New Theme In Decor For Reno Mapes Hotel

Charles Mapes, owner and operator of Reno's Mapes Hotel, reports the complete refurbishing and redecoration of the main floor of the hotel.

Included in the remodeling project will be the Casino, Show Room, Lobby, Coach Room and entrances to the hotel.

The theme of the new decoration will be comfort, luxury and elegance, reports Mr. Mapes. The decor will be red and black with gold and crystal accents to convey an 18th Century French mood.

Although the West Coast can count many "displaced" Southerners among its population, and considering the geographical fact that the Peninsula is not really North of the Mason-Dixon line, why is it that good Southern-style cooking is still almost as difficult to find as prisoners of war were when Grant took Richmond?

Bell Family Have the "Right Number"—Skylark

The Skylark is a hospitable neighborhood bar and restaurant under the well managed supervision of the Bell Family (not the phone company but the amazing San Mateo Clan). Famous on the Peninsula for serving delicious sizzling steaks, sea foods, salads and chicken. All selections are reasonably priced. The Cocktail lounge is a favorite meeting place for the local "wheels" in real estate and politics.

However, this is not so for the fortunate people around the South San Francisco area, where the New Southern restaurant has been a dining landmark since 1937.

Multiple owners Reno Donati, his brother, Julio, and Nick Sharra carry on the leisurely dining traditions of the "South" by maintaining a proven formula and established clientele through the years.

The interior takes you back to the land of Mint Juleps, Chicken 'n Dumplings and Riverboat Steamers. Although the dining area has a cosmopolitan air about it, there are still many traces of the true "Old Southern" atmosphere which tends to make a few homesick people even more so.

Behind the bar in the lounge, you'll find a nostalgic painting of a steamer cruising down a lazy river, which you're certain is a section of the Mississippi where you were born. The sensational Chamberlin organ is featured, and nightly sing-alongs are tempo catchers while sipping cool drinks.

Happy 25th Anniversary Dorothy and Bob Masuda

One reason to rejoice when celebrating a 25th anniversary — and that's what Dorothy and Bob Masuda of the Fuji Sukiyaki Japanese restaurant did last week.

What did they do to commemorate the occasion? They chose to dine in regal fashion on a full course Chinese dinner in Chinatown.

As Dorothy and Bob explained it; they serve Japanese food five days a week, so noodles prepared by someone else is a treat. Happy anniversary to two of San Mateo's leading restaurateurs.

The Show Room area of the Casino will be enlarged and separated from the Casino proper. A new sound system, larger staging facilities and increased seating are part of the Show Room treatment.

The refurbishing will be completed for the summer season and marks a continuation of the remodeling started last summer with the redecoration of the Sky Room and Nevada Room on the top floor of the hotel.

"Before long Mardikian's bulky figure and contagious enthusiasm had become a legend among occupation forces. He spent a Christmas, 1946, in Frankfurt, Germany, helping to bake mince pies and baste turkeys. Then one hot summer day troops in the Heartbreak Ridge section of Korea were astonished to see a ruddy-faced heavyweight puffing up trails in frontier posts."

"National Brotherhood Week, which begins today, means a lot to George Mardikian, San Francisco restaurateur. America opened her arms to Mardikian, and he never forgot. In 1947, he founded the National Committee to Aid Homeless Armenians. To date 2,000 have found a new home and a new hope in America — as Mardikian did. That is his way of repaying an act of brotherhood that once saved his life."

LIFE

"A believer in food and people, Mardikian was one of the first to realize both would be great factors in any gathering to determine future international security. He declared, 'A good dinner will put any man in a conciliatory frame of mind. A bad one will make him quarrelsome and disputatious.'"
